Cards Gain City Cage Title, 38-26

Both Teams Ragged; Packed House Sees Intracity Show

The city basketball crown was wrestled from the O'Neill high Eagles Friday night as the St. Mary's academy Cardinals won the annual intracity classic, 38-26.

Both teams suffered jitters in the opening phases as a packed crowd looked on. It was St. Mary's second start of the season; the first for Coach Bill Edwards' Eagles, who could muster only one regular from last year's team.

Cardinal Don Templemeyer's Scarlet held the upper hand through the first half and relinquished the lead only once during the evening. That was a 17-16 interlude early in the third period.

But from that point on the paragon quintet slowly moved ahead.

St. Mary's was in front, 28-23, at the start of the fourth period. The clearing the boards work of Tom Schneider and Jim Froelich helped the winners in ball control, especially during the final period when the Eagles were restricted to only three points while the Cards were finding the range often enough to account for 10.

Bob Young and Jim Larson did immediate longrange firing for the Cards, each accounting for eight points.

Schneider and Froelich were potent offensively, too. Tom bucketed 14 points while Big Jim came through with 10.

The game was characteristic of intracity clashes of yesteryear, neither team able to settle down and both clubs exhibiting ragged edges aplenty.

It was a doubtful affair until the final stanza, when S.M.A. boomed ahead. The game never had earmarks of being a free-wheeling demonstration.

The academy reserves bopped the junior Eagles, 70-30. Gary Holly and Bill Craig led the Scarlet attack with 19 and 10 points respectively, before taking to the bench midway in the third.
