A Handsome Dessert That's Sure To Please

Golden pineapple makes any dessert party-pretty. Here it is used as a filling for a torte made in a ring mold. The foundation is a delicate meringue—a variation of that old-fashioned recipe called "Forgotten Cake." The final trick is slivered almonds arranged porcupine-fashion in the meringue.

Feature this dessert at a buffet, luncheon or dessert party. One of the brightest ways to serve it is to bring it to the table for all

Pineapple Almond Torte 4 egg whites 4 drops almond extract 1 cup granulated sugar

1/2 cup slivered blanched teaspoon cream of tartar teaspoon salt almonds 1 can (No. 21/2) pineapple 1 teaspoon vanilla 1 cup whipping cream

Heat oven to 450°F. Place egg whites in electric mixer. Beat until stiff peaks form. Combine sugar, cream of tartar and salt. Gradually add to egg whites, beating slowly. Fold in flavorings. Pour into lightly greased 8-inch ring mold. Stick top thickly with almond slivers, porcupine-fashion. Place in oven and turn off heat, Leave until oven cools or overnight. Chill pineapple in can. Remove cooled torte carefully from ring mold with the aid of a small spatula, keeping almond side up. Drain pineapple. Frost outside of ring as shown with whipping cream. Fill with pineapple, Garmish with frosted grapes. Serves 6 to 8.
