

Regents Winner

Winner of the University of Nebraska regent's scholarship of $1000 was announced Monday. Matthew Beha, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Beha of O'Neill, won the honor on basis of his rank in the class and his score on a competitive examination. The value of the scholarship is $1000 dollars to be applied on tuition during the 1938-'39 school year. Matthew attended country school during the grades and was the highest ranking eighth grader in Holt county in the final examinations. He has attended St. Mary's for all four years of high school.—O'Neill Photo Co.

Letters to the Editor

Atkinson, Nebr.
I think schools are the foremost on every mind these days. Especially after the maps and the write up in The Frontier. As most of you will remember, school district 231 of Holt county built a new school house last fall and I, as secretary of that school board, got a lot of conversation—some good, some bad.

Then came the dedication of the new school. I really got comments. "Why did you invite Freeman Decker up here?" Many of my Atkinson and O'Neill friends sort of read the riot act to me. Most of the newspapers were out looking for comments on Mr. Decker's speech. They picked it apart and even made comments on the road he traveled to get to our school house. So it went.

Next came the petitions to elect our state education commissioner rather than appoint him. But who did the appointing in the first place? Good question I think, don't you?

Then the maps and big black letters "Committee Proposes Two K-12 Districts."
Saturday the Holt Rural School Boards association met in O'Neill. In spite of the rather cold windy day, what a turn out! I think I would be safe in saying there was not a school board in the county that wasn't represented.

Miss Alice French opened the meeting with a few words. Then Mr. Closson took over and I'm sure everyone that was there heard what Lyle Dierks had to say.

Tuesday I stopped at the county superintendent's office to pick up one of the copies of the booklets that was left by the university as it stated in The Frontier we could have one I didn't get my booklet though, so I got to asking a few questions such as why didn't the university committee present this about the K-12 schools to the school boards such as the meeting in O'Neill Saturday? Where or who gave them permission to survey the county?

I learned they were HIRED by our Holt county redistricting committee and are to be paid by our board of Holt county supervisors.

They got paid to come into Holt county to survey and print these booklets, etc.!

Now who wants these K-12 schools the most—our own Holt county redistricting committee, or board of supervisors or the state?

Yes, I got criticized for inviting Mr. Decker up here to show him we could build a nice modern school house. But will the Holt county redistricting committee and the board of supervisors get criticized for paying out the taxpayer's money to hire the university to come in and survey and redistrict our county?
Are our old county newspapers as eager to print things that take place in our own county as they are telling what takes place in the state?
Can't we the people of Holt county redistrict and improve our school situation without calling in the university?
As a parent and a school board member, I know we have a lot to think about and do in order to keep our country schools.
MRS. JOHN E. MOHR, JR.

ever notice this about our SMILE?

It's something like the old-time, sleeve-gartered store-keeper used to flash when he said "thank you." No doubt about it—you knew you'd been thanked. Why? Because as he smiled he gave the kids a sack of candy . . . grinned happily as he put an extra free doughnut in the bag. He felt good . . . glad you were a customer . . . and he smiled, inside and out.

That's the kind of smile you get here when we say "thank you."

Because we, too, now give you something extra with everything you buy: Top Value Stamps . . . one for each dime you spend. We give you a free stamp-saver book to put the stamps in. A free gift catalog, too. And you get your choice of more than 1,000 gifts . . . free for Top Value Stamps. Gifts with brand names you can trust, and every one the finest of its kind.

We feel good about giving this bonus to good customers. We just can't help but smile—that special smile.

Why not come in and see it with your own eyes.
