Nebraska Residents Use 15% More Electricity, Pay 10% Less Than Average Resident in Neighboring States*

Public power agencies in Nebraska are building for the future. This year—and during the next few years—these agencies will invest nearly 80 million dollars in new facilities, bringing new and improved electrical service to you.

At the same time Nebraska electric rates remain among the lowest in the nation... more power—at low rates. This means growth and expansion for the entire state.

The Nebraska Public Power System, the State's major generation and transmission agency which supplies power to your retail electric system, is proud of its part in this program. During 1958 and 1959, NPPS will invest $7,147,548 on expansion and service improvements—part of a scheduled 12-million-dollar construction program. Another 23 million dollars will go into new plant capacity and transmission lines which will be turned over to NPPS for operation and integration into the statewide system. Last year, kilowatt hour sales of your System totaled 1,429,962,362—a 71.1 per cent increase since 1950. This energy cost an average of 8.8907 mills per kwh—an 11 per cent increase since 1950.

Nebraska public power agencies are bringing you better living—electrically!
