Tire Blowout Surprises Driver-

Shortly after 1 p.m., Tuesday Frank Summers, driver of a westbound truck, had the surprise of his life at the corner of Fourth and Douglas sts., the city's main intersection.

An inside dual tire "blew out" and sent the outside tire and wheel rolling up the steps at the First National Bank.

The errant wheel failed to gain admission at the bank, rolled to a lazy stop and sulked on the sidewalk.

Summers, an O'Neill trucker, was thankful on two counts: (1) the blowout didn't occur on the open road while traveling at a good clip; (2) the wayward wheel didn't strike a pedestrian. The driver had stopped at the traffic signal and was pulling through the intersection when the bang occurred.
