Lynch Triumphs at Expense of Hawks

Soph Brady Racks Up 3 Touchdowns

LYNCH—The visiting Verdigris Hawks couldn't hold a candle to the hot Lynch eight-manners here Friday night in a Niobrara Valley conference game. Lynch built a 27-0 halftime lead and went on to win, 47-13.

Al Brady, sophomore gem who weighs only 145 pounds, reeled off a 42-yard touchdown run, intercepted a Hawk pass and raced 30 yards to score on another occasion, and carried to pay dirt from the enemy four for his evening's third TD.

Mr. Brady, whose dad died in Europe during World War II, racked up 140 yards against Verdigris, pitched two touchdown strikes to Jim Soulek and otherwise played bangup ball. The aerial strikes covered 32 and 45 yards, respectively.

Chet Cassidy scored twice for the Lynch Eagles—both from the

Pigskin Preview

Friday, Oct. 17

Tilden at Ewing—Hurts to have to pick an out-of-county winner, but that's the way the ball bounces.

Lynch at Niobrara—The Lynch club is gaining momentum as the season moves along. We're picking Lynch on basis of Niobrara-Verdigris tie and Lynch last week spanked Verdigris.

Greeley at St. Mary's—The great Gen. John C. O'Neill founded both Greeley and O'Neill. It'll take something of the hero's generalship to defeat the hot Cardinals.

Chambers at Meadow Grove—The Trojans are tough again this year and have been rugged opposition for the Coyotes in late years. Chambers will need a wooden horse (or a haystack) to stop the Men of Troy. Meadow Grove in a waltz.

Ainsworth at Stuart—The Bulldogs will be rebounding from Friday's humiliation at O'Neill. Ainsworth gets the nod but not until the smoke subsides.

Butte at Fairfax—Close one but Butte is due to win one.

Saturday, Oct. 18

Nebraska at Syracuse—It is with deep regret . . . Syracuse.

Tuesday, Oct. 21

Ewing at Stuart—Might be a good game if both clubs are at full strength, but we'll take Stuart.

Wednesday, Oct. 22

O'Neill at Neligh—For the glory of protecting The Frontier-Neligh News traveling trophy and for all-round good business on the part of the Eagles, we'll chip in with O'Neill.

St. Mary's at Naper—No contest. SMA all the way.

Swanson Tallies in First Scrimmage

Coyotes Taste First Triumph

CHAMBERS—Romp for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage, the Chambers high Coyotes Friday afternoon blasted Brunswick, 33-12, at Brunswick in a Sandhills Gateway conference game.

The Coyotes took emphatic command early and Coach Wayne Gieserich dispatched five of his first string to the showers at halftime.

Dale Adams, a freshman who normally substitutes at halfback, turned in a whale of a game at quarterback—getting in lots of good experience.

Bob Klabenes, outstanding Chambers center who rated on at least one all-state six-man honor team last year, didn't get into Friday's encounter because of a knee injury. Bob is a power on defense and is solid offensively, but his services weren't needed against Brunswick.

Left Halfback Larry Swanson was the fellow who drew first blood for the Coyotes on that first scrimmage. He cutback around end and scooted 30 yards to the promised land.

Chambers substituted freely and the second and third stringers logged a lot of action. The Coyotes led 19-6 at halftime.

Chambers had lost to Bartlett, Oakdale and Elgin in six-man games and to Lynch in an eight-man game. The victory Friday tasted sweet. The sweetness may be shortlived, however, because the Coyotes bump into Meadow Grove Trojans Friday at Meadow Grove. The Trojans were ranked fourth in the Omaha World-Herald's six-man standings last week.

Cardinals to Host Greeley Here Friday

It'll be St. Mary's vs. Sacred Heart of Greeley here Friday night and it'll be homecoming for the Cards.

The Greeley parochial club comes to town with a 3-2 record, having lost to undefeated Elba in the opener. The other reversal was a 26-25 setback at the hands of Leigh. Sculpis bagged by the Irish include those of Bartlett, Humphrey and runs from the T formation and from the single wing. Outstanding performers are Bill Warner, 160-pound senior; Joe Swinarski, 140-pound senior, and Jim McQuillan, whose a watchcharm (11-pound) passer and quarterback.

Bernard Sample is Sacred Heart's big boy—196-pound sophomore.

In 1954 in a six-man game the Greeley Irish pasted the Cardinals, 40-6.

Opposite the Sacred Heart forwards will be Charley Mahoney and Keith McKim (pictured), defensive ends. They'll be hard put to ward off the Irish aerial attack. Meanwhile, the SMA secondary has allowed only four completions out of 28 attempts.

One of the SMA co-captains will be crowned king at intermission. The senior co-captains, playing their third season as regulars, are Larry Tomlinson, Larry Donohoe and Gene Schneider.

Crofton Warriors in 19-6 Triumph

EWING—The Crofton high Warriors polished off the Ewing Tigers, 19-6, Friday night at Crofton.

Ewing drew first blood, scoring in the first quarter when Jerry Hahlback went over from 45 yards out. The play began with a dive buck.

Crofton went ahead 7-6 just before the half. In the second half, Crofton employed a two-platoon system and wore down Coach Tom Hutton's Tigers.

Crofton got two TD's in the fourth period.

Plainview Romps

PLAINVIEW—The Plainview Pirates punished an ancient foe—the Creighton Bulldogs—under the lights here Friday night, 33-13.

It was homecoming at Plainview. Jeanine Stewart was crowned queen of the event.

Dick Steuckrath was crowned king of the Pirates. He also scored a touchdown in the first period of the game.

Coach staffs in postmortem: Ainsworth's Gene Phillips and Ed Staab and O'Neill's Bill Edwards and Marv Miller.

Smith Racks Up 3 TD's in Win Over Ainsworth

The scoreboard said: O'Neill 19; Ainsworth 0.

A stunned, disbelieving crowd departed from Carney park Friday night with that score thresholding through their minds. Partisans here had just seen the kind of O'Neill football team in action that makes any city proud. Any city with the exception of Ainsworth.

Coach Max Miller's Eagles had just risen above the role of an underdog and knocked off the Ainsworth Bulldogs, who had been two touchdown favorites.

The Blues left little doubt from the second quarter on as to who was the boss on the gridiron this night. The Eagles not only outplayed the visitors from Ainsworth in the scoring department, but statistics were more impressive than the final score!

Ronnie Smith bulled his way across the double stripes in the early minutes of the second stanza to break the scoreless duel. Dive buck plays with Bill Eby handing off to either of his halfbacks—Smith or Jim Larson—racked up consistent yardage.

Smith would drive the line, then Larson would skirt end; Larson into lines. Smith circling end. If that didn't upset the Bulldogs, the crafty ball handling of Eby and the tremendous faking of Dennis Tomlinson had the Bulldogs crying "unkle" long before the final gun.

The score was 6-0 at intermission. The homefolks were well satisfied, but kept wondering when this heralded Ainsworth crew, which had swamped Bassett 33-0, would get rolling. The Bulldogs never did.

The Eagles came out for the third quarter and took over immediately. Smith crossed the goal line in minutes after the intermission and the extra point default was of little importance. After the ball exchanged hands, the third canto came to a close with the hometown leading 12-0.

Substitutes played the major role the rest of the contest. Any wonder there was disbelief and head-scratching?

A well coached, smooth operating machine and a team to be proud of, that's what the customers saw Friday night.

Butch Wheeler once again was a power in the O'Neill line. Ray Schreiner, of Wayne State college, one of the officials, tabbed Wheeler as the best lineman he'd seen in prep action this season.

Broncos Romp in Homecoming Tilt

STUART—Homecoming here Friday night was climaxed with a nifty 32-0 win for the Stuart high Broncos over the visiting Atkinson Balers. Stuart led at the half, 19-0.

The Balers are winless thus far this season.

Rich Schmaderer chalked up touchdowns with runs of 56, two, 29 and 34 yards, showing his heels all over the place.

Jerry Taylor ran the opening kickoff back 81 yards for the first touchdown after taking a handoff from Tom Brewster.

Schmaderer added one of the extra points and Taylor added one.

Schmaderer's evening production totaled 25 points.

Halfback Taylor's gains averaged 19 yards in 14 carries. Fullback Schmaderer averaged 10 yards in 25 carries. J. Heyne and J. Wallinger were on the receiving ends of passes. Wallinger grabbed five for 75 yards and Haynes tucked in three for 44 yards.

Coach Ray Shearer was using flyweight Brewster, a 110-pounder, at quarter instead of Tom Bigelow, who has an injury.

An alumni banquet was held Friday evening.

Homecoming royalty chosen were Rich Schmaderer, king, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aloys Schmaderer, and Miss Helen Sieben, queen, daughter of Mrs. Malinda Sieben. The honors were bestowed on them by Dana Bigelow and Miss Glenrose Timmermans, last year's royalty, during intermission ceremonies.

The junior class entry in the parade was first honors. The winning entry was inscribed "Travel to Victory". Second place went to the seniors and the sophomores and freshmen were tied for third.

The parade, beginning at 4 p.m., included the Stuart band and 10 floats.

Burwell Dropped

BURWELL—The previously undefeated Burwell Longhorns, who owned a narrow victory over O'Neill in their string, Friday night took a bumping, 20-19, at the hands of Ravenna.

The game was played at Ravenna. Tuesday afternoon the Burwell Junior Longhorns defeated Ravenna junior high, 12-0.
