Griffin, republican, for county at-torney in the only countywide contest. Reelected Edward N. Flood democrat, and Clarence Ernst, republican, as county supervisors. Elected Harlan Dierking, nominated by both republicans and democrats, to the county board (Dierking having originally been appointed to the board).

Elected Eli McConnell, republi can, to a board position. Okayed bingo.

Holt, traditionally a republican fort, gave the nod to national and state GOP candidates right down the line, but by considerably less margins than at any time in recent years.

Early returns gave John R. Gallagher, democrat, a lead over Griffin for county attorney. But, Totals after outlying returns began to come in, Griffin moved ahead and stayed ahead although at times the margin was whittled to as few Belle

McCook Educator 1: Apparent Winner in Governor Race

Nebraska' republican party, having enjoyed a complete grip on state government affairs since 1941, was battered in Tuesday's off-year general election by a re-surgent democratic party. U. S. Sen. Roman Hruska survived the demo assault and turned back Frank B. Morrison, a Lincoln attorney who has met defeat in previous bids.

Two traditionally republican congressional districts went to democrats.

Donald F. McGinley, 38, Ogallala attorney, rancher and state leg-islator, upended A. L. Miller of Kimball in the Fourth district. Miller, a republican, has been in congress over 20 years and on one occasion swamped his adversary with a 74 percent popular vote.

Lawrence Brock, Wakefield far-Flood mer-democrat, handed a resound-185 ing defeat to Robert D. Harrison, 182 GOP incumbent, in the Third dis-trict. Two years ago Harrison won over Brock in the mail count.

197 Probably the biggest surprise was the apparent victory of Ralph Ernst Hanley G. Brooks, McCook educator, over 22 Gov. Victor Anderson. Brooks, a 30 nocrat, won big majorities in the populous Omaha-Lincoln area but 22 More Election News 156 150 on page 6. 274 379 FIFTH DISTRICT Gibson Dierking trailed the GOP incumbent outstate, 133 including Holt, Rock, Garfield, Knox and Antelope counties. Golden Resigns

M. J. ("Max") Golden, veteran part-owner and manager of the Golden hotel, First ward city councilman and perennial winner of golf tournament laurels, Saturday filed his resignation from the city council. The resignation was in writing.

Golden plans to make an extended stay in Miami, Fla., where his wife's mother died last week. Management of the Golden has been turned over to Mrs. Carter Craig of Norfolk, who with her husband-an insurance man-will reside at the hotel.

Golden has not disclosed plans for operation of the O'Neill Credit Bureau which he, has been heading in addition to his hotel work. The city council in monthly session Wednesday night accepted Golden's resignation. Mayor D. C.

Schaffer told the council he would need a few days before appointing a successor.

Eisenhaur, Stanley Lambert and Ray Hoffman, accompanied by eclispe Mrs. Elwyn Robertson, sang "Sometime We'll Understand" and Governor Anderson's was the shocker. Many observers predicted he was a shoo-in. Actually, he had a record of running a sound and conservative government from the fiscal standpoint. Terry Carpenter's verbal showmanship blasts at Vic over the past two years had telling effect. Anderson's state highway chief-William Ermer, Mrs. Audry Mc-tian, L. N.
