Sufficiency System May Be Abandoned'

Engineer Ress Speaks at Springview

> SPRINGVIEW - L. N. Ress, state engineer, hinted Tuesday, highway sufficiency rating system, used to determine priorities for road construction throughout the state, may be abandoned.

Mr. Ress defended the system ing by noting that "because the eletions by trained observers, the ef- of gravel. fects of political influence or personal opinion are eliminated.' These ratings are "a most useful tool to the highway adminisproblems. Sufficiency ratings, Mr. Ress said, will not increase the mileage of a certain type of highway which can be obtained with a fixed sum of money, but will assure that the amount of money available will be spent where it is most needed. Mr. Ress did not spell out tails of a substitute. Ress subsequently said he was 'widely misunderstood' for some of the Springview remarks. Under the 1956 rating system, the section of highway 12 east of iting and doing fancywork. Mrs. Niobrara rated between 60 and 69 on the scale and thus was scheduled for improvement, Mr. Ress

> From Valentine east, the rating 59, and portions of the road were slated for improvement. East and west of Burton, the road rated 60 to 69 and improvements were scheduled. In the Bristow vicinity, highway were Thursday guests of Mrs. 12 rated 50 to 59, and 8.2 miles of grading, structures and bituminous surfacing were included in the improvement program.

In all, Mr. Ress said, 22.5 miles of improvements were set according to sufficiency rating needs for highway 12, and those projects, totaling 750 thousand dollars in state and federal funds, were all let to contract and are nearing completion ahead of schedule. The only project left out of contract was the Valentine-east
