"Look! Electric Rates Are 37% Lower Than in Pre-War Days"

Most costs of living have gone up . . . but the cost of ELECTRICITY has gone down in Nebraska. In 1942, the average residential customer paid more than 4 cents a kilowatt hour; in 1958, only 2½ cents! This decrease of 37% has made ELECTRICITY the biggest bargain in your household budget!

Because of increased capacity and demand plus efficient and economical operation, electric rates in Nebraska enjoy rates among the FIVE LOWEST IN THE NATION!

For the unusual in music there's Will Mahoney. This performer makes music with his feet, by actually dancing on the xylophone. Another professional is George Johnstone, magician. John Deere day guests will have some surprises when this entertainer unfolds his tricks. A straitjacket escape, featuring "Max the Magnificent" promises to be one of the most talked-about acts.

One of the most famous vaudeville troupes of all time, Willy West and McGinty, will wind up the show. Not a word is spoken but these masters of pantomime would never be heard anyway over the laughs of the audience.

SISTER DIES

AMELIA — Mrs. Effie Wilbers received word of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Larry Jensen, of Sheffield, Ill., Thursday, January 15. Mrs. Jensen is the former Carrie Chapman, and resided here many years ago.

Fast - Paced Film Program Planned

Plans for John Deere day, to be held Monday, January 26, at the Royal theater in O'Neill, are nearly complete, according to Harry R. Smith, owner-manager of the Harry R. Smith Implements, John Deere dealer here.

There will be two complete showings—9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., Smith said. Free tickets are available at the Smith store.

To those who have enjoyed other John Deere day programs, there will be plenty of familiar features in this year's production, plus a big share of surprises the whole family will appreciate.

Cantankerous Tom Gordon, farm character long popular with John Deere day audiences, stars in "Too Young to Retire." As usual, he gets himself into a situation that involves the whole Gordon family, and then takes only his own advice in finding the solution. There is plenty of fun and suspense before everything ends well.

Harvesting takes the spotlight in "Oddities in Farming." This film subject, always popular with John Deere day audiences, will show a custom built pea harvester in Wisconsin; a field-going packing plant for sweet corn in Florida; and a big salt recovery operation in the San Francisco area.

Another new edition of a popular feature, "What's New for 1959" will introduce the portable, batch-type John Deere grain dryer. Detail of controls and operation of the dryer will be clearly shown, and principal steps in an operating cycle will be demonstrated. Besides the dryer, three new multi-purpose sprayers will be introduced, together with an exciting line-up of other new equipment.

"Building the Big Ones" is the title of another fascinating section of the program. This film will take the audience "behind the scenes" to see how the giant 95 combines are built at the John Deere harvester plant.

There are plenty of music and variety acts, too, in the John Deere day show. Everyone will enjoy the numbers put on by the John Deere singers and dancers. The Mid-States Four, nationally known quartet, will present some close "barbershop" harmony as well.

Nourishing Soup Cold Weather Pleaser!

Few main dishes are more pleasing to a family during cold weather than thick, hearty soups. And surely no meal is easier for the homemaker to assemble than a nourishing soup that simmers slowly on the range.

For those of you who become nostalgic over the soups your grandmother used to make, here is an old fashioned bean soup given to us by Bill Perry, supervisor for the local Meadow Gold Dairy, that should fill the bill. A big platter of hot cornbread is the only accompaniment it needs.

Developed by Beatrice Cooke, director of the Meadow Gold test kitchens in Chicago, it's enriched with milk and butter and flavored with a ham hock.

Old Fashioned Bean Soup

- (Makes 3 quarts)
 - 2 cups dry lima beans
 - 3 tablespoons butter
 - 1 medium onion, chopped
 - 1 large ham hock
 - 1 cup chopped celery
 - 1 carrot, chopped
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 2 quarts water
 - 1 quart milk
 - 1 tablespoon soy sauce
 - Dash pepper
 - ½ teaspoon paprika
- Rinse and drain beans. In large sauce pot cook onion in butter until tender. Add beans, ham hock, vegetables, salt and water. Bring to a boil, cover and reduce heat to simmering. Cook until meat and beans are tender, about 2 hours. Remove meat from ham hock and cut into small pieces. Put vegetables through sieve or food mill. Add to soup. Stir in milk, soy sauce and seasonings. Heat through.

The district CCA manager, Bill Caplin, showed slides and gave a talk on what the association is doing in its various fields of service. Stanley Lambert was re-elected president, and Guy Blake elected director for 1959.

Bill Crawford was in charge of the door prizes. Paul Hubel won first prize—a grease gun; Tracy Barnett, second—a pair of gloves; and Wilbur Mitchell, third—a rubber door mat.

Music was furnished for entertainment of the guests by Virgil and Bill David of Chambers and Gordon Barto and Wilbur Mitchell of Redbird.
