

Ainsworth School Marching Band Receives Orange Bowl Invitation

Nebraska, and more specifically, the sandhills region will have their own special place in the 1960 Orange Bowl festivities in Miami, Fla., represented by the Ainsworth high school band.

By an invitation to the 26th annual Orange Bowl festivities, last year, only eight high school bands outside of Florida appeared at the Orange Bowl.

Tentative plans call for a ten day trip for the 75 bandmen and their ten sponsors. They will leave Ainsworth on Saturday, Dec. 26, 1959, and return on Tuesday, Jan. 5, 1960. During their stay in Florida, they will have three days for specially arranged tours of the Miami area, including a trip through the Everglades; will appear in the King Orange jamboree parade, said to be the largest and most colorful in the world; be guests of the Orange Bowl committee at the annual New Years day game, and be featured in the Orange Bowl fire pageant on January 2.

The trip of 1944 miles to Miami will be made on two chartered buses. Band director Thomalla has estimated that it will be necessary for the band members to raise $10,000 during the next nine months through various money making projects and donations, for the trip expenses including transportation, lodging, meals, insurance and other incidental expenses. Ainsworth high school is a class B school with an enrollment of 231 in the county seat of Brown county.

Emerald Cut Diamonds

. . . Why is the "Moderne" Baguette or Emerald cut diamond not as "fiery" as the round or Brilliant?

. . . The Baguette or Emerald shaped diamond is properly proportioned when cut to bring out maximum BRILLIANCE, whereas, "DISPERSION" (fire) is not nearly as important. CONTRARY TO POPULAR BELIEF, quality for quality, the Emerald cut diamond usually runs about 10% less per Carat than the round or Brilliant diamonds.
