By Mrs. Harold Harris

National Library Week was observed at the Ewing public library April 3rd to April 9. The library was visited by 147 people during the opening hours on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. The greatest number of visitors was on Friday when 47 persons came.

New readers obtaining library cards were: Anita Parks, Linda Yell, Linda Mae Thrasher, Vicki Miller, Joe Rotherham, Monica Munn, Bonnie Arehart, Richard Shain, all third and fourth graders of the Ewing public school accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Neva Bergstrom. Several others renewed their library card for the year.

Lora Lee Funk accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ray Funk, and Beth Rotherham accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Charles Rotherham received their first library card.

The display of new books for adults and juveniles attracted attention of all. Much interest was also shown in the selection of books on shelves in the adult section as well as for the teenage boys and girls and children by visiting mothers with their children. During the week 147 books were loaned, 52 of these on Friday.

Some of the best books for adults are popular selections through the Literary Guild of America and Our Family Reading club. Teachers of rural schools in the community make good use of the library books in their work as well as for pleasure among their students.

Forty-two new books have been added this year. Available also are 85 books which are loaned to the library for a three month period by the Nebraska Public Library Commission at Lincoln. Many pamphlets and other materials are received throughout the year for reference work.

Since the organization of the library, the exact date not known, the librarians have been as follows: Mrs. Aitha Pouson Petersen, Miss Florence Ponton, Mrs. Belle Barnhardt, and the late Miss Lydia Selah. Mrs. H. R. Harris, present librarian, began her duties in the year of 1948.
