Although this is not a new invention it is one of the first ones we've seen at work in Holt county hay fields. It's a mower, hay conditioner combination. The machine cuts a 16 ft. swath, runs the hay through crimping rollers and automatically windrows it. University of Nebraska agricultural experts say nearly twice as much feed value is realized from this type of operation. Two of these machines are being used now on the L. D. Putnam ranch northeast of O'Neill.

O'Neill Guard Receives $90,000 from State

National Guard officials in O'Neill have announced the approval of $90,000 designated for use in constructing a new National Guard armory. The bill, allotting the money from state funds, was signed by Gov. Ralph Brooks last week.

Since O'Neill is a split type unit, with part of the unit being located in Wayne, O'Neill does not qualify for federal funds. The unit is now using the basement in the Shelhamer building.

Col. Don Penterman, the assistant Adjutant General of the State of Nebraska, indicated that he and possibly other representatives will be in O'Neill the first part of July to meet with Guard officials, members of the Chamber of Commerce and the City Council members for detail planning. Civic leaders have expressed the hope that O'Neill could add more money to the state money and erect a building which could be used for purposes other than National Guard training also.

Public Service Ad Results Announced

In the public service advertisement run by Neil Ryan last week in the Frontier, results so far indicate that most of the people who filled out blanks and returned them are in favor of letting trailers stay inside the city limits.

The majority of the answers indicate that facilities should be set up for mobile homes and that laws regulating them should be adopted.

Out of the first 46 opinions received, only two were of the opinion that trailers should be excluded from the city limits.

Wire Accident Injures Youth

Roger Dinslage, 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dinslage of Elgin is hospitalized at Antelope Memorial hospital with both arms broken as a result of a fall from a horse about 5:30 Monday afternoon.

Roger had taken the horse out to round up some cattle at the farm. He had completed his chore and was riding around when he rode into the guy wire on an REA pole throwing him to the ground. The wire struck his left shoulder and across his body. The left arm was broken just below the shoulder and the right arm below the elbow.

His mother, who had gone to the garden, heard his cries and hurried to meet him as she saw him coming home. They took the pickup and hurried to the field where the father was working, and he rushed him to the hospital.

Unable to use his arms, Roger finds himself in a rather helpless condition, so Sister Alma has granted permission for his playmates to visit him so they can turn the pages of books for him to read and do the little chores for him, during his stay in the hospital.

Roger is one of five boys in the Dinslage home. Roger is the grandson of Mrs. Clara Baum of Stuart.

An original stop order had been issued for the boosters, but had never been put into effect. The new clearance lifts the ban and will mean at least one more year of operation for the VHF boosters.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Timothy O'Sullivan, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church in O'Neill, announced Monday night that a Kansas City firm has been appointed to conduct a fund raising campaign for the parish's proposed building program.

The building program specifically calls for the construction of a new school, convent and gymnasium-parish hall. The convent and school are the primary objectives.

Richard W. Briscoe, campaign director, is making his residence in O'Neill until the completion of the campaign.

Msgr. O'Sullivan stated that "for the first time in more than forty years, St. Patrick's parish is compelled by necessity to raise funds for a new building program—the erection of a new high school, convent and parish hall-gymnasium. For the first time in this generation the people are asked to make a sacrifice to fulfill this obligation."

According to Msgr. O'Sullivan's announcement of the campaign various methods of financing the school project were considered. Among the points taken into consideration was the fact that a debt for the entire cost of the school building program would place too great a burden on the parish. It was decided therefore, that the "fair share" type of campaign would alleviate a major portion of the debt.

The organization of the campaign was announced Monday night at a school meeting. Msgr. O'Sullivan is the honorary chairman and treasurer of the campaign.

William J. Froelich, O'Neill, was named general chairman, J. D. Cronin was appointed associate general chairman.

Mike Higgins was named special gifts chairman; Ray Bohn and Robert Shoemaker are the publicity chairman; meeting chairman are Henry Lohaus and Ben Grady; Father Robert Duffy, assistant pastor at St. Patrick's, Bill Matern and Bob Berigan are the auditing chairman and solicitation chairman are Jim Rooney and Dr. Edward Gleeson.

Members of the endorsement committee are: T. Joseph Bighin, W. F. Finley, M. D. H. E. Coyne, Joseph F. Gallagher, Edward M. Gallagher, Frank Peter, L. D. Putnam, F. N. Cronin, James Conway, P. C. Donohoe, John Hickey, P. V. Hickey, William P. Dailey, Andy Clark and Casper Pribil.

The seven divisions of the organization will be headed by: Lyle Benda, Joseph Stutz, John McCarville, George Janousek, Rymold A. Cmfel, George McCarthy and A. P. Jaskowskiak.

The campaign organization will consist of 140 men. The solicitation chairman will enlist seven division chairmen. Each division chairman will then select five team chairmen and the team chairmen will each select three team members.

An evaluation committee will also function during the campaign. Msgr. O'Sullivan stressed that no pressure is to be exerted on any individual and that each person will have only his conscience to determine what his "fair share" might be.

On Tuesday, July 5, a meeting to select team chairmen will be held. On July 11 the team members will be selected. A "Kick-Off" dinner for all members of the campaign is scheduled for July 21.

The campaign will then begin on July 24 at 1:30 p.m. Report of the campaign's progress will then be made on July 25, 27 and 29. The campaign will last one week and will close July 29.

A wind that approached torando velocity Monday night at the Ben Asher farm leveled the windmill, broke over trees and tore others out by the roots, moved the large barn four feet from its foundation, and broke windows from the house, leaving the usual debris of branches and disorder behind. The farm is located nine miles east of O'Neill on the sale barn road and is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schollmeyer and son, Henry La Vern.
