Summer Study Finds Family At Ames Campus

Summer at Ames, Ia., means swimming and picnics for the seven lively youngsters shown above, but there is no recess for dad-B. F. Wanser, 35, of Hornick, Ia., and formerly of Page who is participating in a research program on the Iowa State University campus this summer.

Mr. Wanser, who hopes to introduce a six-week course in bacteriology when re returns to teaching at Hornick this fall, is studying the microbiology of frozen foods under a National Science foundation grant. There are 4,000 families on the campus during the summer courses. The children are well provided for with swimming lessons and a supervised playground. Mr. Wanser is boys basketball coach and principal as well as biology and general science teacher at the Hornick-Holly Springs Consolidated school. This is the second year at this school. He taught at Hartington for four years. His mother is Mrs. Buv Wanser of Page.

Mrs. Wanser is the former Dorothy Froelich of O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Froelich. They are the parents of seven children: Janie, 3; Cherie, 13; Mary Colleen, 10 Bob, 2; Tim, 7; Jim, 9 and Mike

RE-WINNING THE WEST!

Movement of the reactor vessel and containment tank for the Hallam Nuclear Power Facility was in many ways reminiscent of, and at the same time, in sharp contrast to the westward movement of freight a century

Arrival of the huge components (upper left) was via the Missouri river, one of the nation's historic "ways west"

The freight wagons of a century ago would have been dwarfed, however, by the 40-wheel trailers on which the tanks were loaded (upper right) ...

While the pace of the trailers (center right) in their overland movement was about the same as a freighter wagon-three miles an hour ...

the terminus of the trip (lower right) was a far ary from the pioneer villages of yesteryear.

The mode of life . . . the means of transportation . . . the machines and equipment of 1960 are vastly different from what they were a century ago when the west was first won.

Nevertheless, Nebraskans are still pioneers . . . pioneers of progress.

In its construction of the Hallam Nuclear Power Facility, Consumers Public Power District is pioneering peaceful applications of the atom . applications which can win for the entire western world new frontiers of untold social and economic significance.
