CAPITOL NEWS State Board In Limelight During July

By Melvin Paul Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN-Every July a state government board comes into the limelight from relative obscurity the remainder of the year. It is the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, composed by law of the governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and the tax commissioner.

During July, the board meets to equalize the assessment of property in the counties preparatory to fixing the state property tax levy. The board has great powers. It fixes the assessed valuation of railroads for the purposes of taxation and the franchise value of public service corporations. A franchise is the right to do busi-

This is done before August 2 of each year. The current state levy The Midway Ranchers and Ranchettes 4-H club met Friday is $8.45 for every $1,000 assessed value of property owned in Nebraska. That means if a Nebraskan had a house whose assessed value is $2,000, he would pay $16.90 to the state on it, in addition to local Actual work on how much money is needed and the probable levy required to raise it is done in the tax commissioner's office, then presented to the board for discussion and action.

Education. Now, the board appoints the commissioner and fixes his

A petition drive by the Nebraska School Improvement Association got the necessary 42,107 valid names of voters on petitions asking that all voters be given the opportunity to ballot on the proposal at the November election. Before 1953, the head of the education department was elected on a non-political ticket. A constitutional amendment approved by voters authorized establishing the elected board. A similar campaign by the association failed in 1958 and a bili introduced in the Legislature in 1957 was defeated. The Association has said it feels the board has too much power and authority which should be kept by the legislature.

The group and the board and Commissioner F. B. Decker have been at odds many times over policies but Association spokesmen say there were no personalities involved in its campaign to oust the board in favor of an elected superintendent.

The Association feels that the people would have a more direct say on school matters if they could vote on the commissioner, rather than the individual commissioners.

Safety Patrol

Members of Nebraska's Safety Patrol for the past five years have bigger paychecks. Col. C. J. Sanders, patrol chief, said raises averaging $20 per month will given every four years after the first five years with the patrol. The pay scale for the first time remains the same. Patrolmen put in 60-hour weeks, have no Sat urdays, Sundays or holidays off and receive no extra pay for overtime. Each trooper averaged 141 hours of unpaid overtime last year, Sanders said. Without the new raises, which will be based on years of service troopers get $450 per month, sergeants $510, lieutenants $550 and captains $610.

School Costs The per-pupil costs of educating children in one-teacher rural schools in Nebraska ranges from $240.83 in Sarpy county to $577.15 in Garden county. That's the report from the State Education Department's statistical division chief, W. A. Schindler. Sarpy has only two such schools while Gar-

School costs include total expenses of districts plus depreciawhole, Schindler said, the average cost in the one-teacher rural schools is $314.87 per pupil. The average number of pupils taught per teacher is the major factor in determining the prestudent costs.

THE FRONTIER, O'Neill, Nebraska, Thursday, July 21, 1960

Liquor and gasoline tax revenue collected by the state ran ahead during the first six months of this year as compared with the same period in 1959. Gasoline tax collections for the first six months were up a half million dollars over a similar time in 1959. Liquor taxes climbed some $4,000 higher than the first half of 1959.
