Curtis Blames Democrats for Trouble

Senator Carl T. Curtis headed a list of dignitaries here Thursday night at a Republican fund raising dinner at the Presbyterian church. About 137 tickets were sold for the $10-a-plate dinner.

Other prominent Nebraska Republicans present were Lt. Governor Dwight Burney of Hartington, a candidate for the same office this November; Dave Martin, of Kearney, candidate for the House of Representatives; State senator Frank Nelson; Ora Yarges, Stuart, a candidate for the Nebraska legislature, and Charles Thone, chairman of the Nebraska Republican state committee.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Joe Brewster, of Stuart, Holt County Republican chairman.

Mr. Curtis and Mr. Martin were the featured speakers. Senator Curtis discussed the labor, agriculture and foreign policy issues in the coming campaign and election.

He told the group that Jimmy Hoffa, Teamster leader, has promised to spend any sum of money to put Governor Ralph Brooks in Curtis' senate seat. The Senator, a 22 year veteran of congress, accused the Democratic party and presidential nominee, John F. Kennedy, of being backed by labor.

Senator Curtis condemned the Democratic party for their recognition of Communist Russia under President Roosevelt and said the Democrats would not be able to deal with the Communists to ease the cold war.

In reference to the farm problem, Mr. Curtis said he thought vice-president Nixon has the most workable solution to the problem and that while the Democrats may raise farm prices, net income will not rise because of increased labor costs under the Democrats.

Dave Martin, former GOP state chairman, denounced the Democratic platform for its excessive spending program. He noted that the main differences between the two major parties is that the Democratic party wants to take care of the people from the "cradle to the grave," while the Republican type of government is designed for the people to help themselves through state and local government.

Three major spending programs which Mr. Martin criticized were federal school aid, old age hospitalization and federal housing programs. He also expressed his disapproval of a large foreign aid program and noted that the United States must "quit buying friends."

Senator Curtis and Mr. Martin both met with members of the O'Neill irrigation committee as committee members outlined the irrigation program.

Hearing Slated Aug. 5 After Stabbing at Stuart

James Quick Sentenced To Six Months Jail

James R. Quick of Butte was sentenced Monday to 6 months in the Boyd county jail after the charge against him was reduced and he changed his plea from innocent to guilty.

Defense Attorney J. R. Gallagher of O'Neill petitioned the state to reduce the charge from assault with intent to do great bodily harm, which is a felony, to assault and battery, which is a misdemeanor. Boyd County Attorney W. P. Willis agreed and Quick entered a plea of guilty.

The charge resulted from a scuffle with Boyd Sheriff Claude Collins. The state alleged that Collins was attempting to arrest Quick May 15 on a disturbance complaint when the scuffle occurred. Quick was accused of twisting Collins' arm and breaking it in the scuffle. Sheriff Collins' arm is still in a cast.

Sentence was pronounced by District Judges Lyle E. Jackson of Neligh and D. R. Mounts of O'Neill.

The girl is quoted as saying that Dial made a pass at her and that she stabbed him with a fish knife.

The hearing on the case has been set for 10 a.m. August 5.

Boys Ride 1,900 Miles "Just for Fun"

Two months ago Dwayne Jacobsen, 17 year old farm youth from Logan, Ia., sold his horse, bought a car and drove to Seattle, Wash.

A week ago the transaction was reversed. Dwayne sold his car and bought a horse. He and his friend, Vince Emswiler, 19, also of Logan, headed west on a 1,900 mile trip to Seattle.

By Wednesday morning they had gotten as far as Royal. They spent Tuesday night at Grove Lake north of Royal. The youths have been camping out along the way and plan to rough it the rest of the way.

Their major concern is for their horses. Whether or not the same mounts will carry them the whole way is doubtful. Dwayne says that there may have to be some horse swapping done along the way. They plan to cover some 40 miles per day.

The remainder of their trip through Nebraska will be along highway 20. Their leisurely jog should bring them into O'Neill for breakfast this morning. They're not interested in setting any speed records and their main object in taking the trip is to see the country and do something a little different.

Although they won't draw the crowds that the cross-country Chadron to Chicago riders will Friday, they say they still get to meet a lot of nice people and will probably see a great deal more of the scenery.

Dwayne says he plans to remain in Washington to work on a dude ranch but Vince says he will return to Logan in time for compicking on his father's farm. How is he going to make the return trip? On the train. One trip on horseback is going to be enough.

These are the neighbors who gathered at the Charles Coolidge place north of Chambers Monday and Tuesday to help with haying. The men put up 35 stacks of hay from some 130 acres. About 160 acres still remain to be put up.
