Capitol News -Agriculture in Key Point On State, National Level

By Melvin Paul Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association LINCOLN-The Census Bureau has reported what many Nebraskans already know-there are less farms and they are bigger. The bureau said in 1959 Nebraska had 90,475 farms, compared with the 1954 total of 100,846. Additionally, the bureau reported the average size of the farms in 1959 was 527 acres as against 470 acres five years earlier. And, as expected, the farms were

The average value per farm in 1959 was $47,804 as against $34,494 in 1954. Farms, the plight of them and what can be done to help the tillers of the soil who man the state's biggest business-agriculture—have been the subject of much talk this year.

Agriculture is one of the key talking points for public office seekers at the national and even at the statehouse levels. The over-balance of agriculture in Nebraska has been the subject of state and legislative concern for more than a decade. It caused creation of the State Resources

This is an agency of state gov-ernment whose sole function is to try to lure industry, and thus payrolls, into the state to balance the economy.

There is a Constitutional amendment on the Nov. 8 ballot to per-mit cities and counties to take steps to try to make their localities attractive to industry.

Both candidates for governor,

Republican John Cooper of Humboldt and Democrat Frank Morrison of Lincoln, are plugging industry in Nebraska.

It is expected this economy balancing idea will be continued in the next decade.

The State Highway Department plans a lot of road building in the next two years. It reckons that there will be $110 million worth of new construction, of which $71 million would come from the federal government and the remainder from cash receipts such as Newport News

How the money will be spent and where will be decided later this fall by the Advisory State Highway Commission. The commission now is holding area meetings getting sentiment of citizens on road needs.

But the final determination will be made on the basis of the department's system for rating roads to determine which get pri-

Overall, the highway department expects to spend nearly $143 million the next two years, including administrative costs, road maintenance and operation of truck weighing stations. This would compare with about $137 million for the past two

Budget Requests

Gov. Dwight Burney has issued directive to state department heads regarding state spending. Burney says if they want to lower budget requests for the next two years they should note why such cuts cannot be made now.

major department heads are Democrats. Burney is a Republican. He is classified as a conservative and an advocate of the same type of policy in spending. One of his favorite subjects is the state sales tax. He says he isn't going to change his regard for that type of taxation just because he is governor. Nebraska's property tax system is a "definite deterrent to attracting new in-dustry to the state," he said. Swimming Pools

The State Board of Health is going to the 1961 Legislature with the problem of swimming pools that don't meet health standards. The board directed T. A. Filipi. state sanitation engineer, to draw up proposed legislation. Filipi said in some cases four years or more of urging have failed to bring desired improvements to some pools. To be sought will be authority to close pools that do not comply with health department regula-

Inspections show, Filipi said, only 48 per cent of the pools car-ry the proper amount of chlorine. Meanwhile, the board asked for 47 per cent boost in state tax funds for the next two years, covering just about all phases of work by the health department.

The Board, whose members are appointed, sets policy and this is carried out by the State Department of Health.

Lands And Funds The new chairman of the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds is Harry Garber of Imper-

Garber, besides presiding over monthly board meetings, will lead its annual tour of state-owned school land which is leased. The board will meet with lease holders and other interested groups Oct. 11 at Broken Bow and Oct.

The board is expected to em-phasize stepped up soil and water conservation development on the state land.
