

Letters to the Editor

November 7, 1960

Dear Sir: I own five quarter sections of ground some six miles north-northeast of Atkinson, Nebraska, am a partner on two quarters of ground and am a stockholder of a corporation that owns two additional quarters of ground. Thus, I speak for nine quarter sections of ground in that area.

I am completely opposed to Federal development of irrigation in the O'Neill unit.

Any patriotic American can see the Federal Government's proposal is totally uneconomic, is certainly not needed in view of our grain surpluses and is simply a socialistic maneuver on the part of a big bureau of our Federal Government to spend the taxpayer's money foolishly.

I hope you will find opportunity to let my views be known. Very truly yours, W. A. Curry

Dear Sirs:

Please print this so others won't have happen to them what happened to me.

Last Friday, I, Robert Geary, and my brother-in-law ate an early dinner. We were going to a sandhill pasture to feed cows and then on to start tearing down a barn we had recently acquired. I had been hurt recently tearing down another barn so just before leaving I said to my wife, "Do you want to come over after awhile and watch me get hurt again?" She said, "You hadn't better get hurt again that way."

I loaded a stack and went on over while my brother-in-law brought a pickup. When I got to where I was going to start feeding I did as I had done so many times before. I put the tractor in low gear, well throttled down. Then taking two forks I went to the back of the rack where I started to climb up on top of the stack.

That was mistake number one as I was directly between the back wheels. I got about three-fourth of the way up the stack when mistake number two came up. One fork didn't hold too secure but I thought it was good enough as I had a fair knee hold. But when I went to pull on up both forks came loose and I started to fall. The first thing I thought was I would be run over so when I landed I threw myself sideways, not thinking about a stabbing sensation in my right side. When I landed on the ground clear of the wheel I noticed one of the pitch forks sticking out of my side.

I grabbed it and with all my strength pulled the tines loose from me. My brother-in-law still hadn't arrived yet so I got on the tractor and drove it about an eighth of a mile to a yard where we leave the tractor and rack when we don't entirely unload it.

Just before getting there I saw my brother-in-law coming with the truck so I motioned for him to hurry and open the gate. He did and as I drove in I told him I had just run a fork into myself. He hurried and got me into the truck and rushed me to O'Neill to the hospital. They operated and found I was luckier than I deserved to be as the tines didn't do any internal injuries.

One time hit the hip bone and bent, glancing off and swinging the tines upward so they followed the stomach muscles.

Now I hope others will take heed of my accident and maybe not come out unluckier than I did.

Still a reader, Robert E. Geary
