Average Wage of $3,990 Paid to Public School Teachers in State

LINCOLN—Gov. Dwight Burney quickly got over a case of the jitters upon abruptly becoming governor in September, and says he likes the job.

Burney, who also is lieutenant governor, was elevated to the chief executive's post by the death in September of Ralph G. Brooks. The experience of assuming such big duties minutes after Brooks' death was unnerving to Burney, even though he has had years of governmental experience. A Republican, Burney says he was mainly concerned about a good job.

The pressure of a backlog of problems and work, resulting from illness of Brooks, a Democrat, took a toll on the 68-year-old Burney for many days. But, he got a grip on the office and began to relax somewhat.

His daily recreation of playing a game of solitaire was interrupted during the first hectic days of his administration. But, he says, he is back on schedule pretty regularly.

One of the high points of his term, which ends January 8, was escorting of him to the special session of the Legislature which ended this week, by a group of state senators. The senators marched in a body to the governor's office to report the special session—to boost pay of solons—was open and ready for business. Every Nebraskan, Burney said, should see his governor escorted to the legislative chambers. He says it would renew confidence in those who run state government and make its laws.

On January 3, Burney will open the Legislature as lieutenant governor and presiding officer, then return to his executive's suite and await another committee—to tell him, as governor, that the regular session is ready for business. After January 8 Burney will walk to the legislative chamber and assume the job he was elected to in November—lieutenant governor.

Airport Spending

In the next four years, $3 million should be spent on Nebraska airports. That's the report of the State Aeronautics Department, based on a survey taken by the National Association of Aviation Officials. The report will be sent to Congress next year for planning purposes.

More than $4 million worth of improvements were listed as needed in 1961. The needs are those for 53 Nebraska cities. Of the cost, $2.5 million would be in federal funds, $750,000 from the state government, and $5 million from local sources. Biggest improvements wanted are at Lincoln, followed by Omaha.

Resources

During the last year a potential for 5,500 new jobs in Nebraska was created by new plants in the state or expansions of current ones. The State Resources Division made that point in its annual report to the governor. In cooperation with the University of Nebraska, the division noted it carried out a program designed to help individual cities assist themselves through community improvement programs. The programs ranged from zoning of land to the actual layout and planning of streets and recreational areas. The division also cooperated in compiling listings on cities showing industrial assets to industries planning to re-locate.

School Districts

Nebraska has made progress but still has more than eight percent of all the school districts in the United States.

The National Education Association says as of July 1 there were 3,569 districts in Nebraska out of the 37,153 in existence nationally.

An average salary of $3,990 is paid public school teachers in the state, as against $3,800 last year. But, said the association, the state is 12th from the bottom in the amount of money it spends per pupil in average daily attendance in classrooms. This figure is $320 per pupil, compared with the high of $585 in New York and Alaska and the low of $223 in South Carolina.

Scissors Renamed

Alvin Scissors has been tabbed by Democratic Governor-elect Frank Morrison to again head the Motor Vehicle Department.

Scissors was named to the job two years ago. A former news-paperman, he is a veteran of World War II and Korea and former Platte County Democratic Party chairman.

In a statement, Morrison said Scissors had been a key person in the drive to cut highway deaths the past two years. The $3,000 per year job entails supervision of licensing drivers in Nebraska.

Chambers News

By Mrs. E. R. Carpenter

Santa Claus made his appearance at the Golden Gate theatre Saturday with treats which he presented to all the "small fry" of the community. A free picture show preceded his appearance.

The Dumas Doers Extension club met Saturday at the home of Mrs. Les Miles with 35 present. Husbands and children were invited guests. Card games were played during the afternoon. Santa Claus appeared later bringing treats for the children. There was an exchange of "mystery sister" gifts. Lunch was served.

Chris Christiansen of Pilger and Mrs. Elsie Sorenson of Chambers were Saturday and Sunday dinner guests in the Loy Fluckey home.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Ralph Blair and mother, Mrs. Whidden, were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whidden of Bonesteel, S. D., and Mrs. James Klassia of Spencer. The former is a brother and the latter a sister of Mrs. Blair. Afternoon and evening callers were Mrs. Mable Rothchild of Neligh and Mr. and Mrs. John Blair of O'Neill.

Charles Cox of Broken Bow and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cox of O'Neill were Sunday dinner guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Cox.

Church Parties Held

St. Paul's Ladies Aid held a Christmas party Thursday afternoon. The meeting opened with singing. Scripture was read and prayer offered by Pastor Roten. Eighteen members answered roll call. Two new members were added to the roll, Mrs. Lloyd Hilligas and Mrs. Charles Schmidt. Family night will be held January 8 and there will be a pot luck supper at 6 p.m. A film on mission work in Africa will be shown and a free will offering taken. The project of the aid during December was an offering for a children's home. Following the business session games were played and gifts exchanged.

Lunch was served by Misses Dean Stevens, Edwin Hoerle and Richard Jarman.

A large group was present Sunday evening at the Methodist church for "Family Night." Eula Wintermote, who is on vacation from her work with the Near East Foundation, gave a talk and showed slides of her home in Teheran and various projects and places of interest in Iran as well as pictures of her trip to Lebanon and the Holy Land, India, Hong Kong and Japan. She had on display some Persian rugs, baskets, scarves and other articles made in Iran. Miss Wintermote has spent two years in this work and will return for another two year period early in January of 1961. Following the program lunch was served in the church basement.

Connie Werner of Omaha spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Werner, returning to Omaha Tuesday.

About 20 members were present Thursday at the Methodist church for the regular meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. E. H. Medcalf and Mrs. E. R. Carpenter were the program leaders. Mrs. Darrell Gillette conducted the business session. Mrs. Raymond Shoemaker read a letter from Epworth Village at York regarding their needs for the next few months. Mrs. Shoemaker also reported on the used clothing which had been shipped to St. Louis for distribution. Mrs. James Grimes gave a missionary report. Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Steve Shavlik and Mrs. Edwin Hubbard. There was a 10-minute prayer service preceding the meeting which was conducted by Mrs. James Grimes.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Neilson went to Grand Island Wednesday, where Mr. Neilson had a check-up on his eyes. Mrs. Joe Olenick accompanied them as driver.

Traci Leigh Bernhardt, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bernhardt, received baptism at the Methodist church Sunday at the morning worship service. The Rev. Charles Cox officiated.

The Home Circle club met December 14 at the home of Mrs. Walter Haake. There was a noon dinner and exchange of gifts. "mystery sister" names revealed and names drawn for the coming year. Refreshments were served before the guests departed. The next meeting will be January 18 at the home of Mrs. E. M. Jarman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scott were Saturday evening callers in the Lyle Hanna home.

Rodney Elkins came from Wayne Friday to spend Christmas vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Elkins and Darrell. On Sunday a birthday dinner in his honor was served by his parents. Present were Mrs. Lela Grubb, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Grubb and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Baker and boys and Jeanette Klambes, all of Chambers, and Carolyn Prokop of Spencer.

THE FRONTIER, O'Neill, Nebraska, Thursday, December 22, 1960
