

what's the word?
For the Osterizer
it's

particularly on our new model #442, latest, finest expression of the original liquefier-blender. For a workaday job like grinding coffee for a party job assignment of blending an exotic dip, the OSTERIZER'S "at home" in any blending situation. Want to serve soup in seconds? Let the OSTERIZER blend flavors - quickly - that would take hours of simmering. Like a refreshing cooler? Simply toss the ingredients (including the ice) into the five-cup container, pour several glasses of cool pleasure within a minute. The container handle makes it really convenient! We'd like to send you more information on this fine appliance. Just clip the coupon below.

EXCLUSIVE OSTERIZER FEATURES: Container opens at both ends • Tapered, easy-to-clean motor base • Full-ounce measuring cap in Seal-Tite Cover • Removable cutting blades for easy cleaning • Tapered cutting well for continuous feeding

Below — It's the wild and woolly west of the great American western plains nearly a century ago when Villavicencio, Colombia, South America stages its annual cattle fair and rodeo. The big day is highlighted by a free-for-all bloodless bullfight in which nothing is injured except dignity of the amateur matadors. Three "hombres" ride into town for the festivities.

Major Aubrey Weinman, Director of Dehiwala Zoo in Colombo, Ceylon, has a good laugh with his 5-year old pet chimpanzee named "Stephen" during filming of a documentary travel film. Steve turned out to be a better actor than his boss, one of the world's best known authorities on animal training and behavior.

To the rare visitors from the West, the little Mid-Eastern kingdom of Yemen seems almost untouched by time. Its people live as they have for centuries. Its high mountains and sun-scorched deserts show few signs of the lush biblical days when the Queen of Sheba ruled part of the area. Here two fishermen, one very young and one old, bring in their catch along the harbor at Hodeidah, Yemen.
