Capitol News- Two-Thirds of State Highway System Roads Are Hard Surface

By Mrs. Floyd Johnson

LINCOLN—The newly released biennial report of the State Highway Department shows that about 2/3 of the mileage on the state highway system is hard surfaced.

The report lists 9,253 miles on the state system of which 8,659 miles are rural and 399 miles are urban extensions.

The state reports it has 4,318 miles while concrete makes up 1,942 miles.

Only 69 miles on the state system are dirt surfaced. Gravel covers 2,891 miles in the rural areas and 32 miles in urban areas on the state system.

The picture alters abruptly on the other roads—those off the state highway system. There are 93,328 miles in this category and only 3,284 miles have dustless surfacing. And 294 of these miles are in the urban areas. Dirt roads on the non-state roads total 42,663 miles—almost as many as are graveled. Gravel surfacing is on 44,160 miles.

The report said the average cost of maintenance on gravel roads was $851 per mile. This ranged from $300 per mile on a few stretches to as much as more than $2,000 per mile on a few areas.

A few other interesting incidentals contained in the report: 5,022 miles of roadway were painted during the first 9 months last year; road painting used 30,855 gallons of white paint and 28,795 gallons of yellow; the department used 332,350 pounds of reflecting beads during the same period for signs; the cost of painting averaged $37.54 per mile in 1958 and dropped to $33.54 per mile in 1959.

Planning for the observance of Homestead Centennial year in Nebraska in 1962 is now underway. The year was so designated by the legislature when it approved a resolution introduced by Sen. Willard Waldo of Dewitt.

The Homestead National Monument is located near Beatrice and the marking in 1962 of the passage of the Homestead Act will include the dedication of a visitor's center at the National Monument.

Gov. Frank Morrison has met with a group from the Beatrice area to begin planning for the event. He says he will name a statewide committee to help in the event.

EB 208, under assault by a determined group, so far has survived everything that has been thrown at it.

This is the bill to increase the state property tax levy from .13 a mill to .30 a mill to expand the state park and recreation area program. The bill so far has survived three attempts to kill it and several attempts to stall it by requesting it be brought back in its progress across the board for specific amendments. It will face its final test Thursday (March 30) when it comes up for final reading.

There is no danger of a gubernatorial veto since Gov. Frank Morrison has thrown his full support behind it.

The Nebraska Legislature will take its first break in three months beginning Friday (March 31) when a 5-day Easter vacation begins.

State senators will return to their legislative deliberations on April 5.

The governor can now mobilize a State Guard in case of emergency.

Such authorization was given by the Legislature in LB 170 which has been enacted by the lawmakers. It authorizes him to organize and mobilize a State Guard whenever he declares an emergency.

Prior to the new law, a State Guard could be formed only if the Nebraska National Guard were called into federal service or if the President were to declare an emergency.

The Nebraska Legislature has given its blessing to the Mid-State Reclamation project. By a 24-5 vote, the solons passed a resolution to be forwarded to Congress to encourage federal appropriation of funds for the $81 million project in Central Nebraska.

Nebraska drivers who have been arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol and who have refused a chemical test of their body fluids have been sorry to the tune of 201.

That is the number who have had their driver's licenses revoked under the state's Implied Consent law. Motor Vehicles Director Alvin Scissors says he took 62 licenses in 1959, 108 last year and 31 for the first 2 months this year.

The last of the broadened tax base bills will be heard before the Revenue Committee on April 6 at 2 p.m. The same condition already has heard two other proposals. One called for a tax on lodging and meals and the other is the sales-income tax bill.

The final one to be considered by the 9 senators is LB 380 which would impose a 2 per cent sales and use tax. Some 500 persons attended the hearing on the sales-income tax and an equally large crowd is expected to be on hand for the sales tax debate.
