

Meet Your Correspondent

(Another feature in our series of "Meet Your Correspondents.")

Newspaper writing is no recent adventure to Mrs. R. J. Hering, Royal correspondent. She first started writing in the late 1890's and has been annually contributing interesting articles to newspapers since her graduation from high school in 1901. She was born in a sod house June 19, 1883 near Hering's Mill, north of Royal. At the age of eight years she moved to Woonsocket, S. D., and four years later was in the newspaper business, working in the Woonsocket News office for her uncle. She set type, solicited subscriptions and job work, collected bills, fed the press, "kicked" the jobber, etc., wrote copy and edited country correspondents.

Continuing with her newspaper work, she managed to serve as secretary to a state's attorney, operate telephone switchboards and teach school. Last but not least she found time to marry R. J. Hering in 1910, her childhood sweetheart. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary November 24, 1960.

Her husband operated Hering's Flour Mill for 40 years. At the present time he is operating a shoe and furniture repair shop, upholstering and in general, is an all-round "fixit" man. Their children, all talented in music are: Genevieve (Jeri Southern) well known recording star; Joe, contractor and builder in Beatrice; Mrs. Art Meuwissen, Mt. Clemens, Mich., and Mary, employed in Norfolk. Two of their children are deceased.

Marriage didn't stifle Mrs. Hering's talents. On the contrary, she combined her home duties successfully with teaching and the continuance of her reporting. Besides her writing for papers, she contributed articles to The Grail, a school reader, the Young Catholic Messenger and composed verses for bridal showers and wedding anniversaries. She organized the first P-T-A in Antelope county and served as Red Cross and Polio chairman during both World Wars.

During the second World War, Mrs. Hering organized the community into a group which sent monthly letters, treats and newspapers to more than 100 boys in service; edited a one-page paper using letters from the boys in service, and also built the first memorial to the boys in the county.

Her name is listed in Who's Who Among North American writers, Who's Who Among Catholic Writers, Who's Who in Nebraska and anthology of Verse.

There is no doubt that Mrs. Hering is a very talented woman who gives the most out of life and contributes a great deal to others.

Oh yes, at 70 years she took up oil painting in her "Spare" time and has painted more than 600 pictures. Wonder when she'll try something else like maybe piloting her own plane!
