

A Poem From Mrs. Eby . . .

—Be careful what you say—
In speaking of another's faults,
Pray don't forget your own;
Remember those with homes of glass
should never throw a stone.
If we have nothing else to do but
talk of those who sin,
'Tis better we commence at home
and from that point begin.
We have no right to judge a man
until he's fairly tried;
Should we not like his company,
we know the world is wide,
Some may have faults—and who has not—the old as well as young.
Perhaps we may, for aught we know, have fifty to their one.
I'll tell you of a better plan,
you'll find it works quite well
I try my own defects to cure
before I, of others tell,
And I ne'er expect to be free
from mistakes below.
My own shortcomings bid me let
the faults of others go.
Then let us all when we begin
to slander friend or foe, Think of the harm one word may
do to those we little know.
Remember, curses sometimes like
our chickens "roast at home".
Don't speak of others faults until you have none of your own.
