Warn of Possible Damage

Bob Hill, unit conservationist. warns farmers and ranchers of possible flood damage to conservation practices due to the combination of present frozen ground conditions and melting snow. To avoid the large amount of flood damage resulting in Holt county from the rapid snow melting two years ago, Hill urges that precautions be taken prior to unseasonably warm weather. Terraces that are filled with snow tend to clog the channel and over top quite readily. A tractor track or wheel track of any kind made down the channel when the snow is first thawing can do much to start the flow of water down the channel rather than having it pile up and over top the terrace ridge.

The spillways on erosion control and stock water ponds quite frequently become clogged with drifted and packed snow. This tends to form a temporary dam in the spillway and cause the water to rise above the spillway flow level. When the snow dam breaks, great pressures are exerted on the spillway with the deeper than normal flow.

Two years ago this situation was responsible for the destruction of the spillway. This damage can be eliminated if the spillways are cleaned out prior to a big Careful watch should be maintained on the mechanical spillway to see that it is functioning properly and that it does not clog with large chunks of ice. In dams equipped with a drain pipe, a safety precaution suggestion is to lower the water surface well ahead of any anticipated large runoff.

Chambers Booster To Add Equipment

CHAMBERS — The Chambers TV committee, after investigating the regulations of the Federal Communications commission, find that they must add more equipment to the baster tower which brings channel 5 to the area. Approximately $800 was collected by donations some time ago, and another $150 is still needed. Of the latter amount, only about $50 has been contributed to date. The committee states that unless these requirements are met the booster will have to be discontinued in accordance with FCC ruling. All collections would then be returned to the donors.

Second Report Released by Citizens Group

Following is the second in a series of reports made by the Citizens committee of the O'Neill Public schools on the conditions of the school. This report deals with the physical plant and was prepared by Ray Eby, Mrs. Harry Gildersleeve, Mrs. Max Golden and Bob Carroll.

The O'Neill Public school has no unused space in the present facilities. Many rooms are overcrowded and many others lack adequate storage space. Enrollment this year is at an all-time high with 641 students, 469 in elementary and 172 in high school. Twenty-nine teachers are on the faculty.

Children who eat at school are forced to sit on the floor of the old gymnasium, spread their lunches on the floor and eat amid the clutter and dirt of foot-traffic of other students. No hot lunch program exists.

Much, also, could be done to improve science and shop needs both in space and equipment. The playground lacks both space and equipment; restrooms are clean but in poor condition.

No school nurse is employed and the school has no driver training Enrollment in 1929 totaled 466 with 279 in elementary and 187 in high school. In 1961 that number had jumped to 641 with 469 in elementary and 172 in high Indebtedness on the lower elementary building will be retired

Services Held Tuesday for Mrs. F. Whitaker

CHAMBERS - A well known Chambers resident, Mrs. Floyd Whitaker, 70, died Saturday, Mar. 3, at St. Anthony's hospital in O'Neill where she had been patient for most of the past four

Her husband preceded her in death November 1, 1961. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Chambers Methodist church. Burial was in the Chambers cemetery. Susie Carpenter was born July 10, 1891 at Poole to Stephen and Adelle Barker Carpenter. She received her early schooling at Rose Hill school, and attended the first class when the Kearney State college was started. She taught one year near Kearney.

Susie Carpenter was married to Floyd Whitaker April 26, 1910 at the home of the bride's par ents at Poole. The couple lived on a farm near Poole and Pleasanton until March, 1927 when they moved to a farm they purchased northwest of Chambers.

This remained their home until four years ago when they moved into town. The couple celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1960.

Survivors are her two sons, Vernon, Chambers, and Ranald, Indianapolis, Ind.; two daughters, Mrs. LeRoy Holcomb, Chambers and Mrs. Everette Miner, O'-Neill; 11 grandchildren; two great grandchildren; two brothers, Felix, Omaha, and Erwin, Chambers, and one sister, Mrs. Sarah Bourne, Colorado Springs, Colo. Pallbearers were Gene Halsey Gaius Wintermote, Melvin Bell, Don Cameron, Zane Rowse and Gerald Grimes.

A nine-member city planning commission was approved for O'-Neill Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the city council.

The approval created a commission empowered to "make and adopt plans for the physical development of the municipality. including any areas outside of its boundaries but within its statute authority which, in the Commissions' judgement, bear relation to the planning of the municipality"

The ordinance creating this body provides that the members shall as nearly as possible, represent different occupations, interests or professions.

Members will be mayor-appointed with approval of the council and will serve without pay. Terms will be three years. Officers of the commission will be elected by its members. Mayor D. C. Schaffer said he would name board members later

Funds for the operation of the planning commission may be provided by the city council, but expenditures of the commission. except for gifts and bequests, may not exceed amounts provided by the council.

The commission, from time to time, should make recommendations to public officials for programs for public structures and improvement methods of financing such programs. The commission further shall "consult and advise with public officials and agencies, civic organizations, public utility companies, educational, professional and other groups" with relation to carrying out plans.

REMEMBER WHEN? This deposit slip from the Bank of Dorsey was found by Harden Anspach in a book in his basement. The Bank of Dorsey closed about 1909 or 1910, according to friends of Mr. Anspach and was operated by John O'Donnell at that time. Charley Cole still has a check book for the bank and also remembers seeing the bank safe in O'Neill at one time. Although the deposit slip is about 52 years old, it is still in good shape.
