Report from Washington

By Congressman Dave Martin
Fourth District, Nebraska

Congress recently increased the Federal debt limit from $296 billion to $300 billion, with another request to raise it to $308 billion expected this summer. It is well to note that the Federal budget has been balanced only six times during the last 32 years. Furthermore, the current fiscal year will probably produce a deficit of $7 billion. I recognize that during a national emergency deficit financing is a necessity, but now we are observing some of the most prosperous years in the history of our country and most certainly we should have our national treasury in balance. It is predicted that this year may see economic activity in the United States reach the highest point in history; yet we may have deficit if the innumerable domestic programs — programs costing billions of dollars — are enacted into law. I hope that the Congress can hold the line and reject most of these programs.

Interest on the national debt continues to be the largest appropriation for a single item in the entire Federal budget. The interest for 1963 is estimated to be $9,300,000,000 an increase of $400 million over the current estimated interest for fiscal year 1962. This item alone is greater than the entire Federal budget in 1940, and costs the taxpayers $17,500 every sixty seconds. This headlong drive toward bankruptcy and the saddling of this debt on our children must stop. We must face up to it NOW and call a halt.

Headline in the Sunday Washington Post, Washington, D. C.:

"U.S. SEEKS NEW OFFICE SPACE HERE FOR 5500 MORE WORKERS"

"Bids will be opened April 25 on one million square feet of new Federal office space within a four mile radius of the White House." The article goes on to say that this will take the entire area of four to five new office buildings and will mean approximately 5500 more Federal workers. I think we need less Federal employees, rather than more.

I know that we, in Nebraska, would get along better if we had fewer Federal programs; and consequently, fewer Federal employees to tell us how to run our business.

President Kennedy last week announced that the U. S. would resume atmospheric nuclear tests. Members of Congress on both sides of the aisle agreed with this decision. I, too, back the President, for scientists tell us that the only way we can progress in this field is by actual tests. In view of the fact that Russia exploded some 50 nuclear bombs last fall and gained advanced knowledge from them, it is imperative that we resume testing. The dangers from Communism are too great to take chances.

Last Friday, I appeared before a House Agriculture Subcommittee in order to testify in behalf of the Gering Valley Watershed and Flood Control Project. Flood water coming down from the bluffs has caused millions of dollars of damage over the last 20 years and future heavy rains in this area will cause additional untold losses. In 1958 funds were approved for a start on this work, which have not been spent, awaiting final approval of the joint project. This, I hope, will come shortly.

Mrs. McGinnis Is Honored On Birthday

(By a staff writer)

Approximately 60 friends and relatives signed the guest book at an open house Thursday in Emmet held in honor of Mrs. Georgia McGinnis in observance of her 80th birthday.

Hostesses were Mmes. John Conrad, Bud Cole and Bob Cole, all of Emmet, Bernard Troshynski, Atkinson, and Larry Schaffer, O'Neill.

The affair was held in the basement of the Methodist church and centering the refreshment table was a floral arrangement of pink carnations, white pompons and French heather. A large decorated cake and corsage of red roses were presented to the guest of honor.

Georgia McGinnis is well described as "young at heart". Her life is filled with youthful activities and many, many friendships formed through her participation in sports and hobbies.

In the summer time if she isn't on an antique jaunt, she can be found at her privately-stocked fishing pond. Not particularly fond of fish, her dog has an abundance of fish in his diet as she is very adept in the sport.

Georgia delighted her birthday visitors Thursday with an accounting of an incident which occurred that morning when she opened the door to let in her dog. "Come on in, cutie," she told the dog, and then was astonished to hear a deep voice from the basement: "Lady, I'm down here fixing the furnace."

Even her fingertips were "dressed up" for the party. They were covered with adhesive tape as they had gotten "a little raw" from braiding another of her rugs.

Among the guests at the open house were several youths from District 20, who have grown to love her through her faithful following of the baseball team.

Georgia is never at a loss for something to do because if the baseball or fishing season ends, or she tires of refinishing antique furniture or braiding rugs, she can always jump in her car and drive someplace else for a new adventure, regardless of the distance.

IN NEBRASKA the people cheered when they learned Congress had passed the Homestead Act, making it possible for them to get free land in the territory. Throughout the west the event was toasted with foaming steins of beer.

For then, as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation — light, sparkling refreshment that adds a touch of Western Hospitality to any occasion. Nebraskans have always enjoyed the good fellowship that goes with every glass.
