William Juttes Celebrate Golden Wedding Day

CHAMBERS — Lifelong residents of Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. William Jutte, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with open house Sunday at the Lutheran church in Chambers. The honored couple, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Jutte, Omaha, attended morning services at the church and following this an anniversary dinner was served in the church basement. Mrs. Jutte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Brown, and William Jutte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jutte, were married April 18, 1912 at the home of the bride's parents in Chambers. Attending the couple were Louise Brown and Kasper Walter. They resided on their farm eight miles northeast of Chambers for 39 years and moved in to Chambers 11 years ago. Retiring from farm work didn't lessen their enjoyment of outdoor work and they both work in their garden each summer — that is when it doesn't interfere with Mr. Jutte's fishing. The results of their garden are put to good use, as Mrs. Jutte is known for her canning and cooking ability and many of the products appear among her fair entries. Last year she won 31 "firsts" out of 33 entries at the fair. When not busy with her cooking and housework, Mrs. Jutte is active in civic affairs and especially in church activities.

An Easter Message

By Rev. Father Duffy
The central fact of the Christian religion is the passion and death of Jesus Christ. The primary reason for this is that it was through His Passion and death that Jesus Christ merited redemption, elevation by grace, the opportunity to attain the vision and enjoyment of God forever in heaven, for all human beings who would ever be born. But the events of the first Good Friday were not isolated happenings in the course of human history; rather, they were the summation of all that had transpired since the creation of Adam and Eve. Calvary has no meaning except in relation to the first days of humanity. After the creation of the first man and woman, and their consequent sin of disobedience, a great gulf existed between God and the human race. The human race had the task of "paying back" for the sin of Adam and Eve. Through the countless centuries that transpired until Christ, all attempts by mankind to satisfy God failed. The attempts were sincere. But a finite creation was trying to satisfy an infinite God. All the sacrifices of the Old Law had their own particular merit and satisfaction. But they fell infinitely short of the needed goal. Only a God-Man could redeem the human race and God, as He promised in the Garden of Paradise, sent His Only-Begotten Son, Jesus Christ, to satisfy the obligations of humanity. His death was the Perfect Sacrifice. His death was the infinite sacrifice that satisfied an infinite God. Good Friday is a day of mixed emotions. We are sad because we are once again reminded of the terrible sufferings that Christ endured. We sometimes forget that these sufferings were endured freely — for all of us. But Good Friday does have a hidden beauty, because it is only through Christ's passion and death that we are capable of attaining the eternal happiness of heaven. Without the satisfaction of Christ, the human race would not be able to attain the goals for which it is destined. Without the sadness of the death of Christ, we could never experience the joy and happiness of Easter.

Atkinson Couple Feted On 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stolte received relatives and friends at their farm home southwest of Atkinson in celebration of their sixtieth wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 15. They were married in 1902 at Alliance. Mrs. Stolte, whose maiden name was Ella Olday, was born near Junction City, Kans. When she was ten years old the family moved to a place near Hemingford, Nebr. Mr. Stolte is a pioneer settler of the Atkinson community. The family came from Madison, Wis., to a homestead near Schuyler in 1868 when that portion of the state was open to homesteaders just after the Civil War. Mr. Stolte was born on the family homestead there in 1872. When he was about ten years old they traveled as far west as Valentine by ox cart seeking a new location. At that time soldiers were still stationed at the old fort near Valentine and it was still very much Indian territory. The family chose to return to the Atkinson community and there purchased a tree claim from George Donnelly a short distance southwest of the village. Mr. Stolte has many vivid memories of the early days of Holt County in which he is resided for nearly eighty years. After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Stolte lived on this place for three years. They then bought and moved to the farm three and one half miles southwest of Atkinson which has continued to be their home for the past 57 years. Their family includes five daughters and one son, all of whom were at one time teachers in Holt County, and three of whom still continue this profession. They are Mrs. Ottmar (Minnie) Poesnecker, Atkinson, Mrs. Logan (Mary) Simpkins, South Sioux City, Dr. Elmer Stolte, Oakland, Calif., assistant superintendent of schools of Oakland, Mrs. William (Dr. Helen) Grayum, Seattle, Wash., principal of an elementary school there, Mrs. Everett (Ethel) Hale, Atkinson, and Mrs. Norman (Hazel) Tegeler, Lincoln, who teaches kindergarten in one of the Lincoln schools. There are ten grandchildren — Karen, Susan, Richard and Mary Jane Stolte, Oakland, Calif., Paul, Philip and Ross Tegeler, Lincoln, and Bruce, James and Lorraine Hale, Atkinson.
