Charles Stark Dies In Idaho Hospital

Charles August H. Stark, 81, Buhl, Idaho, died Tuesday, Aug. 15, at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Twin Falls, Idaho, after an extended illness. Funeral services were held Saturday, Aug. 18, from St. John's Lutheran church with the Rev. M. D. Hilgendorf officiating. Last rites were at the Buhl cemetery. Pallbearers were six grandsons, Dean, Gene and Howard Hopkins, Lawrence Sobotka, Chad Thompson and Richard Dye, all of Buhl.

Mr. Stark was born April 7, 1881 at West Point, Neb., and married Maud Thorpe, October 12, 1904 at Stanton. He farmed in Nebraska for many years and moved to Buhl, Idaho, in 1940, from Imman. He was employed at the Twin Falls Canal Co. until his retirement in 1947. Mr. Stark was a member of St. John's Lutheran church.

He is survived by his widow, Maud, four daughters, Mrs. Ethel Hopkins, Ventura, Calif., Mrs. Lillie Allen, Gooding, Idaho, Mrs. Anthony Sobotka, Buhl, Idaho, and Mrs. Neva Sobotka, Imman, 11 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

Overseeding Of Wheat Crop Not Advised

Overseeding of a farm wheat allotment in 1963 will result in a loss of wheat production history for the farm, county and State, according to Albert A. Francke, Chairman of the Nebraska Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. If the excess wheat is delivered to the Secretary or stored, the history on the farm can be protected.

The outcome of the August 30 referendum on wheat marketing quotas will not affect this provision of the law, Mr. Francke said. Acreage allotments will continue in effect regardless of whether wheat marketing quotas are approved or not. He expressed concern that some growers may have recently been misinformed on this provision of the law by opponents of the program.

"We cannot ignore the basic law," Mr. Francke said. "Since 1962 it has been provided that: 'Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no acreage in excess of their acreage allotment shall be seeded to wheat for harvest as grain in 1963 or thereafter in excess of acreage allotments shall be considered in establishing future State, county, and farm acreage allotments.'

"The law prohibits growers from building wheat production history for future allotments by the planting of wheat in excess of their acreage allotments," Mr. Francke explained.

The grower who harvests grain from more acreage than his allotment receives historical credit only for his allotted acreage unless he delivers the excess wheat to the Secretary or stores the excess wheat. He incurs a loss of history in this regard as the man who stays within his acreage allotment receives credit for both his allotted acreage and his diverted acreage.

Diverted acreage, in this program, is the difference between the individual's historical base acreage and his actual allotment, provided he meets the program's crop acreage requirement, Mr. Francke said.

Wheat Growers Vote Today on Market Quotas

Wheat growers in Nebraska will vote on Thursday, Aug. 30, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. on marketing quotas for the 1963 crop of wheat.

It is important that farmers go to the polls in the 1963-crop wheat quota referendum with a complete understanding of the situation. Under governing legislation, they have a choice in the vote between two programs:

Number one—Quotas, with marketing penalties on the "excess" wheat of growers with more than 15 acres of wheat (but not those taking part in but not wheat provision) who do not comply with their wheat acreage allotment, and price support available at a national average of at least $1.82 per bushel; or

Two—No quotas or penalties, and support to growers who stay within their allotments at a national average of about $1.21 per bushel.

An eligible voter is a wheat grower in commercial wheat states who will have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in 1963, but not those who took part in the 1962 feed wheat provision.
