'Best of All Days' Aimed For Men's Pleasure, Too

Don't get the mistaken idea that the Best of All Days cooking school scheduled for O'Neill, October 25 is just for women. There are men who cook, too, you know.

Actually, however, Best of All Days is primarily aimed at the homemaker who wants to make her days a little brighter, her menus a little better and have a real fun day at a cooking school. The Frontier Best of All Days celebration is FREE to the public and everyone is invited, men and women!

The cooking and baking demonstrations at the Best of All Days school will feature such nationally known products as Alcoa Wrap, Van Camp's Pork and Beans, Pillsbury Flour, Red Star Yeast, Nestle's Morsels and Brer Rabbit Molasses.

Social Security Man To Be Here Wednesday

Gail Roberts, field representative of the Norfolk social security office, will be in the basement of the Court House Annex in O'Neill, from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 10.

Any severely disabled person under 65 not already receiving benefits is invited to inquire about eligibility for disability benefits. It should be noted that the meeting place has been changed from the courthouse to the courthouse annex to permit private interviewing.

Highway Near Ewing Nearing Completion

EWING — The spur that links Highway 275 in Ewing with Highway 20 is nearing completion. Construction on the five mile stretch was started about a week ago. An oil mat has been laid and travel has been resumed. This is a great improvement for north-south traffic.

Juracek Elected President of Association

A large crowd attended the 22nd Annual Conference of the Nebraska Association of Soil and Water Conservation District Supervisors at Valentine the first part of this week.

Attending from the Holt District were state president and Mrs. Elmer Juracek, Milton G. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. French sr., Page, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Krugman and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ernst, O'Neill. Also attending were Paul Krugman, extension board member, Rynold Cimfel, FFA advisor, Floyd Butcher, chairman of the ASCS county committee, Bill Miller, office manager of ASCS, Charles Dvorak, Atkinson, and Bob Hill, Dean Hallock and Eugene Schneider of the local soil conservation service staff.

The afternoon program Sunday was somewhat hampered by intermittent showers and part of the tour had to be delayed until Tuesday.

Don Williams, administrator of the soil conservation service from Washington, D. C. gave a few remarks following the chuck wagon meal at the Everett Brown ranch south of Valentine. He recalled some of the ranch conservation work that he had viewed on a previous visit to the sandhills a couple of years ago.

John A. Baker, newly appointed assistant secretary of agriculture, reviewed some of the provisions in the new farm bill and praised the work of the Soil and Water Conservation Districts. He said that they are an outstanding example of local people with initiative, imagination, drive and cooperation, that it was through the districts' efforts that the conservation movement has been able to accomplish so much in the past 22 years. He said that the Rural Area Development Program should follow the example of the Soil and Water Conservation Districts program and that in fact that Districts would play a big part in this new program.

Ten years ago two out of ten new businesses were located in rural areas and at the present time, eight of ten are rural in nature. He pledged the support of the United States Department of Agriculture in these programs and stated that Rural Area Development is entirely up to the rural people.

Monday, state president, Elmer Juracek, opened the program with his annual president's report. He said, "Promotion, education, technical assistance, public relations, credit, cost sharing and research are all a vital part of our program. Take out any one of these and our progress will be greatly hampered." Mr. Juracek also stated, "I credit the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission, a division of the state government, with making possible the rapid growth of the Watershed program in Nebraska."

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ernst were among the honored farm families and received the large, tinted aerial photo of their ranch.

Mr. Juracek was re-elected president of the State Association for another one year term.

Senior Sneak Day Trips Pose Problem for Board

Dr. Fowler To Be Achievement Day Speaker

Dr. Beverly Fowler from the University of Nebraska will be the featured speaker today (Thursday) at the annual Home Extension Club Achievement Day here in O'Neill. Dr. Fowler will speak on the management of young children.

Dr. Fowler is new on the staff at the University this year. She is a member of the Family Relations Department, and is well qualified to cover this topic. She invites questions from parents, teachers or anyone working with youngsters.

The afternoon's activities will begin with a covered dish lunch at noon. The program will begin about 1:30 p.m. This includes musical numbers by the Willing Workers 4-H club trio from O'Neill. The boys in the group are Ken, Carol and Curtis Peacock. This was the purple ribbon boys small group at the State Fair this year.

The entire program is open to the public at the Legion Hall in O'Neill.

Chamber Sets Promotion Dates

Fall and winter promotions for O'Neill Chamber of Commerce members were set by the Chamber's retail committee Friday.

Pre-holiday clearances will be Nov. 15-16-17 followed by window unveiling and an unrelated items contest set for Nov. 23.

Turkey day will be Dec. 1 with Santa Claus day Dec. 15. Joe McCarville was appointed to look into the possibility of an Appreciation day program for Dec. 8.

The committee recommended firms observe open evenings all Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays during December.

Chamber of Commerce officials reported Monday evening that 140 members had joined the O'Neill chamber this year.

Sneak day trips pose problems for the O'Neill Public school board of education. At Tuesday's meeting the board hashed over time, cost and complications for annual sneak day trips that seem to get longer and more expensive each year.

Seniors this year are contemplating a trip to the Ozarks that will cost an estimated $2,200 for the class.

A questionnaire sent to the parents of seniors gave no conclusive indication of feeling. Of 18 set-out, Supt. H. L. McCoy said, eight were not returned, nine indicated they were opposed to the long sneak day trips and 31 gave what seemed to be reluctant or qualified approval.

Action on the matter was deferred until the November meeting of the board.

In other action the board discussed grading of the school yard west of the old gym where sewage water is damaging walls below ground level. McCoy said the sidewalk next to the building had separated from the wall leaving a crack that allowed water to seep in. He suggested tarring the crack full and grading the yard sloping to the west to carry run-off waters away.

The board also made plans to repair a portion of the sidewalk near Mrs. Birmingham's property.

Another problem nagging at the school board now is the status of persons who move to O'Neill from farms and ranches outside the school district, send their children to school here, but maintain residence or operate farms in other districts. Action was deferred until the board could consult with its attorney.

McCoy also announced that he would be participating in a panel discussion Wednesday at Springfield during a meeting of District XIV of the Nebraska conference of parents and teachers.

The board turned down a request to change board policy and permit four football games per season for the seventh and eighth grades instead of the usual two games.

Named Ak-Sar-Ben Countess

Nyla Jaskowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan P. Jaskowski, O'Neill, has been selected as a countess to the court of the 1962 Ak-Sar-Ben coronation and ball which will take place Friday and Saturday evenings, October 19 and 20 at the Ak-Sar-Ben coliseum in Omaha.

Nyla is a 1958 graduate of St. Mary's Academy. She attended St. Mary's College in Xavier, Kan., for two years where she played in the college orchestra, was active in the Dramarian Club, and was vice president and president of the W.A.A. She transferred to the University of Nebraska in 1960, where she is affiliated with Delta Gamma Sorority and a member of the Newman Club. She will graduate at mid term in February from teachers college where she is majoring in physical education with a minor in biology.

While at the university she has participated in Coed Polles and was chairman in charge of homecoming activity for her sorority in 1961.

Nyla has spent every summer since she was in the eighth grade until this past summer as life guard and swimming instructor at O'Neill's swimming pool. During this time she has helped to teach hundreds of children to swim. This past summer she worked as counsellor at Camp Robindel, at Winnepesaukee, N. H.

Nyla is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeWolfe, Gordon, and the late Mr. and Mrs. John S. Jaskowski, Rushville and Chadron.
