Last Evening's Pleasant Hour Party.

Temple hall was brilliantly illuminated last night and the Philharmonic orchestra was discoursing sweet strains of enchanting music, the occasion being the ninth party of series of Pleasant Hour club parties. It was a delightful affair and everyone present seemed to enjoy the time equally as well as though it were the opening ball of the sea-

Promptly at 9 o'clock the grand march was formed and after moving through the var-ious figures the assembly proceeded to form into place for lanciers. This being finished the program containing twelve numbers were distributed and the evening's exercises was considered only opened. The floor was some-what crowded and at times it was with a little inconvenience that the dancers glided through the several numbers. The master of ceremonies, Mr. Zehrung, ever proficient in his duty, found himself puzzled while forming setts for the lanciers to procure places for everyone, and his duties in general were more onerous than customary. Notwith-standing everyone had a delightful time and will certainly long remember this particular Washington's birthday was celebrated by a union meeting of the three Chautuaqua societies at Y. M. C. A rooms Wednesday evening. The parlors were completely filled with participants and spectators, who duly enjoyed the rich literary feast spread before them. Each one taking part in the exercises was appropriately costumed. Miss Kate E. Folsom appeared as Minnehaha, Mr. T. C. Stevens as Columbus, Miss Affice Cronley as Priscilla, Mrs. I. L. Lyman as Aunt Jane, Mr. J. L. Doty as William Penn, Mrs. J. A. Rollins as Dame Van Winkle, and Mr. W. J. Bryan as Patrick Henry. The large num-ber of participants precludes individual mention, but all acquitted themselves most creditably.

Enjoyable Reception. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gardiner, who have just returned from a bridal tour, were tendered a very pleasant reception by Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Baker at their home, C street, between Eleventh and Twelfth. The usual amusements for whiling away a very pleas ant evening were indulged in, refreshments served, and everybody enjoyed themselves. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Waite, Misses Taylor, VanBuskirk, Gardiner, Henkle, Damrow, Puyer, Donnelly, Damrow. and Messes, Small, Kingsbury, Henkle, He of felfinger, Graves, Yates, Putnam and Me

A very pleasant dancing party was held at the residence of Mr. Sidell, on South Thirteenth street between K and J, Thursday evening. There were some thirty couple present and all enjoyed themselves bugely.

G. A. R. Encampment,

The eleventh annual encampment of the Nebraska department will be held in this city next week. On Tuesday evening a welcome entertainment will be given at Bohanan's hall, consisting of music, readings, speeches, and the like. Wednesday and Thursday business sessions will be held, a reception and camp fire evening being held Wednesnesday evening. Delegates from all over the State will be present and a very interesting time had.

Dairy Maids.

The entertainment for the benefit of the Womens' Christian Association promises to be a most novel and thoroughly enjoyable entertainment, being something never before given in Lincoln, and it is sincerely hoped that a large audience will greet their first performance, which takes place to-night. It is an excellent cause, and this alone ought to insure due appreciation.

Mr. Henry Newman, who has been visiting at home for the past two months, expects to return to New York Monday. Henry has bright business prospects in view, so we trust he may be successful in his line of labor. Mr. C. R. Richter, of the firm of Huffman & Richter, returned to the city of -(mud) last Sunday after a delightful trip through Georgia, Florida, etc. He reports the roses still in bloom and regrets that the cold climate of Nebraska will not admit of such things.

Miss Clara Dickey, who has this winter been the guest of her sister Mrs. Heiskell, leaves soon for her home in Greenville, O. Miss Dickey has been a most popular young lady in Lincoln society. We are sorry to hear of her departure and hope that she may soon visit us again.

The new plans for the court house, are now agitating the minds of the county commissioners, and it is to be hoped that Lincolnites will be loyal to themselves—by giving "home art" the preference—Lincoln has plenty of fine talent in the architectural line and unless we appreciate it ourselves, who will?

The May musical festival, rehearsals for which have already commenced, promises to be an event in the musical history of the city. It will be held in the Congregational church. Judas Maccabeus," the oratorio selected, although not so well known as others, is a very pleasing one and interpreted as it will by competent artists, should be most successful.

They tell a good one on Col. Thomas Sewell, and I think its good enough to repeat One day last week the Colonel while down town stepped into a leading grocery house and ordered with other veg etables some parsnips sent to his residence. On reaching home the domestic took the parsnips and prepared them by scraping, thinking they were horseradish, putting vinegar on them and bottling the same. At dinner next day the Colonel thought the horseradish was excellent but "tasted a little funny" and upon ask ing the servent where she got the radish, said Olits those roots you sent up yesterday ,and I ground them up, sir," and now Col. Sewell does not claim to be a judge of horseradish.

BILL NYE TAKES A TRIP.

He Visits the Home of Jay Gould-Niagara Falls Graphically Described. ON BOARD THE BOUNDING TRAIN,

LONGITUDE 600 MILES WEST OF A GIVEN POINT. VISITED Walton, N. Y., last week, a beautiful town in the flank of the Catskills, at the head of the Delaware. It was there in that quiet and picturesque valley that the great philanthropist and ameliator, Jay Gould, first attracted attention.

He has a number of relatives there who note with pleasure the fact that Mr. Gould is not frittering away his means during his In the office of Mr. Nish, of Walton, there is a map of the county made by Jay Gould while in the surveying business, and several years before he became monarch of all he In Franklin there is an old wheelbarrow which Mr. Gould used on his early surveying trips. In this he carried his surveying in-struments, his nightshirt and manicure set. Connected with the wheel there is an arrangement by which at night the young surveyor could tell at a glance, with the aid of a piece of red chalk and a barn door, just how far he had traveled during the day. This instrument was no doubt the father of the pedometer and the cyclorama, just as the boy is frequently father to the man. It was also no doubt the avant courier of the Dutch clock, now used on freight cabooses, which not only shows how far the car has traveled.

but also the rate of speed for each mile, the average rainfall and whether the conductor has eaten onions during the day. This instrument has worked quite a change in railroading since my time. Years ago I can remember when I used to ride in a caboose and enjoy myself, and before good fortune had made me the target of the alert and swift flying whisk broom of the palace car. it was my chief joy to catch a freight over the hill from Cheyenne, on the Mountain division. We were not due anywhere until the following day, and so at the top of the mountain we would cut off the caboose and let the train go on. We would then go into the glorious hills and gather sage hens and or gathering maidenhair ferns in the bosky della. Bosky dells were more plenty there at that time than they are now. It was a delightful sensation to know that we could loll about in the glorious weather, secure a small string of stark, varnished trout with chapped backs, hanging aimlessly by one gill to a gory willow stringer and then beat our train home by two hours by letting off the brakes and riding twenty mile cotton tails. In the summer we would put in the afternoon catching trout in Dale creek in fifteen minutes. I saw Niagara falls on Thursday for the first time. The sight is one long to be re-membered. I did not go to the falls, but viewed them from the car window in all their might, majesty, power and dominion

Niagara falls plutiges from a huge elevation by reason of its inability to remain on the sharp edge of a precipice several feet higher than the point to which the falls are now falling. This causes a noise to make its appearance, and a thick mist, composed of minute particles of wetness, rises to its full height and comes down again afterward. Words are inadequate to show here, even with the aid of a large, powerful new press, The evening was delightful, the music excellent, and it was long past midnight before the happy dancers repaired to their homes. Excellent refreshments were served at the proper time.

with the aid of a large, powerful new press, the grandear, what you may call the vertigo, of Niagara. Everybody from all over the world goes to see and listen to the remarks of this great fall. How convenient and pleasant it is to be a cataract like that and have people come in great crowds to see and hear you! How much better that is than to be a lecturer, for instance, and have to follow people to their homes in order to attract their

Many people in the United States and Canada, who were once as pure as the beau-tiful snow, have fallen, but they did not uttract the attention that Niagara does.

The officer said that I had nothing in n. luggage that was liable to duty, but stated that I would need heavier underwear in Canada than the samples I had with me. Toronto is a stirring city of 150,000 people, who are justly proud of her great prosperity.

I only regretted that I could not stay there a long time. I met a man in Cleveland, O., whose name was Macdonald. He was at the Weddell house, and talked freely with me about our country, asking me a great many questions about myself, and where I lived and how I was prospering. While we were talking at one time he saw something in the paper which interested him and called him away. After he had gone I noticed the paragraph he had been reading, and saw that it spoke of a man named Macdonald who had recently arrived in town from New York, and who was introducing a new line of green goods. I have often wondered what there is about my general appearance which seems to draw about me a cluster of green goods men wherever I go. Is it the odor of new mown liny, or the frank, open way in which I seem to measure the height of the loftiest buildings with my eye as I penetrate the busy haunts of men and throng the crowded marts of trade? Or do strangers suspect me of being a man of meanst

In Cleveland I was rather indisposed, owing to the fact that I had been sitting up until 2 or 3 o'clock a, m, for several nights in order to miss sarry trains. I went to a physician, who said I was suffering from nome new and attractive disease, which he could cope with he a day or vari. I told him to cope. He procurbed a large 42-calibre capsule, which he want sustained medical properties. It might have contained theatrical properties and still had room left for a baby grand piano. I do not know why the capsule should be so popular. I would rather swallow a porcelain egg or a live turtle. Doctors claim that it is to prevent the bad taste of the medicines, but I have never yet participated in any medicine which was more disagreeable than the gluey shell of an adult capsule, which looks like an overgrown bott and tastes like a rancid nightmare.

I doubt the good taste of any one who will turn up his nose at castor oil or quinine and yet meekly swallow a crysalis with varnish on the outside

Everywhere I go I find people who seem pleased with the manner in which I have succeeded in resembling the graphic pictures made to represent me in the newspapers. I can truly say that I am not a vain man, but it is certainly pleasing and gratifying to be greeted by a glance of recognition and a yell of genuine delight from total strangers. Many have seemed to suppose that the massive and undraped head shown in these pictures was the result of artistic license or indolence and a general desire to evade the task of making hair. For such people the thrill of joy they feel when they discover that they have not been deceived is marked and gon-uine.—Bill Nye in New York World.
