SO FAR AS HEARD FROM, NO ONE HAS as yet questioned whether Cleveland will accept or not.

AMERICA CAN never hope to equal China in point of population so long as there are so many individuals here who cannot rest until they have killed some one.

CONTRACTS for boarding up and white-washing the city will be let next week. Members of the late Lincoln base ball club are permitted to enter as bidders.

THE democrats should hesitate about wearing bandannas as campaign insignia. People afflicted with weakness of vision are liable to mistake them for the bloody shirt.

BETWEEN the sweet girl graduate and the political conventions the devotion of the public is somewhat divided. We wish to be enrolled, however, as wholly on the side of the S. G. S.

THE Ohio man got to the front once more in the St. Louis convention. The Ohio man like the Lincoln individual is not subject to cold days. That is, neither get left very much.

If some of the stories told regarding the amours of certain Lincoln people are true, Juan Boccacio must have lived in the wrong century. He would have a rich field to select poppies from.

THE COURIER calls the attention of its readers to a little bit of enterprise displayed in today's issue, namely, the publishing of an extremely interesting page treating of the late democratic convention.

THE Council Bluffs Reflector has changed hands. Messrs. Carr & Watts being the new proprietors. Mr. Carr was formerly city editor of the Evening News of this city, and is well qualified for his new position.

PASTURAGE for cows on the ground lately used as a base ball park can be obtained by applying to J. A. Keith. The grass is not quite so tall as some people may require, but by next June it is expected enough to supply the city can be obtained.

THE bricklayers, masons and plasterers were locked out this week by the bosses, who object to paying full time for eight hours work Saturday and also want to grade the wages of the men according to their capability. No one denies the obvious fact that a man who accomplishes one-sixth more work than another, earns one-sixth more money and should receive its equivalent, and vice versa. Putting a good workman and an indifferent one on the same level as regards wages puts a bar on improvement, and hurts the good workman relatively more than his employer, inasmuch as there is no stimulus to further advancement in the knowledge of his trade. Let that be as it may, however, the bosses have violated the agreement entered into with the different representatives of the union, have figured their bids on that basis, and in honor should stand by that agreement. If they have agreed to pay a man a certain sum per hour not knowing whether he can do less or more than another, they should stand by it. Public opinion is with the men in this difficulty, which for the good of all we hope may soon be settled.

If there is anything better calculated to make a man weary of life than to read of the crazy actions of delegates to the national convention we would like to hear of it. At the St. Louis gathering, when the nomination of Thurman was assured, a red bandanna was flung in the breeze from the top of a long pole, which was immediately seized by two delegates and borne to the platform, where it was frantically waved, while the members of the convention yelled, flung their hats in the air and behaved generally like madmen. This was at the democratic convention; something of the same order will occur at the republican conclave, and these same men, and many others, too, later on will carry torches in processions, deliver impassioned speeches, and be ready at any time to fight any man who will call their candidate a liar, fraud or any ap. probrious epithet. Many of good common sense generally will do this, and why? Merely because they want to see a man elected president, where occupancy of the chief magistracy's chair will do them no apparent good whatever. The needs of the American people are so many, and so various and so contradicting that it takes a wiser head than any of our statesmen possess to evolve a scheme of government that suits all. Parties are merely organized to accomplish their own selfish ends, to get control of the government and its immense patronage, and to satisfy the cravings of its leaders after the bauble of fame. It is a matter of little moment to most of us who is elected president; a voter might just as well go blindfolded to the polls. Where the advocates good government should make their best endeavors is in the selection of legislative candidates, state and national; not vote for a man who wears the republican or the democratic brand, but the man whom we know is the best fitted for the position to which he aspires. That is the true interpretation of a democracy, but one the realization of which is afar off.

LINCOLN seems to be a point of attack by the ten cent circus. We have one about every other week. The newspaper publisher doesn't look with much favor upon these concerns, as their manager is very seldom enterprising. The showman who understands his business (and gets rich) advertises big, displays an enormous quantity of paper, and makes the public whack up a half dollar to get inside. The ten cent circus proprietors, however, are generally young men who have read the life of P. T. Barnum (written by himself) and finding no other valid excuse for yielding to the temptation to wear a plug hat, which attacks every man at some period of his life, drift into the show business, and sooner or later tramp home on his uppers.

ONE of the neatest and most useful books we have seen for some time is "Modern Book Keeping," the new revised edition of which has just appeared. It is from the pens of Messrs. D. R. Lillibridge and F. F. Rouse, two of the best known business college instructors of the country, who at present are proprietors of the Lincoln Business college. The book embraces instruction and practice in the science of accounts, and is adapted to the use of business colleges, public and private schools and private and self-instruction.

PEOPLE who desire to live long and happily should follow "Long John" Wenzel, one of Chicago's oldest citizens, who ascribes his good health and longevity to the fact that he always slept when he was sleepy, ate when he was hungry and drank when he was thirsty. Individuals with abnormal thirst, however, should not always follow the last suggestion. It is not conducive to longevity.

NOTES ON BICYCLING.

Items About the Sport—Local News and What is Being Done in General.

A run to Ashland and return is talked of next Sunday. There will be about six starters. It looks as if $10,000 Kelly will capture the bicycle offered by Jordan & Marsh for the best batting average of the Boston club.

Of the two miles of pavements we now have only five or six blocks are rideable, the balance being covered with mud, which makes worse wheeling than dirt roads.

The one thing lacking about Lincoln is a hill that can't be climbed; they have them all over the east, and they seem to be a source of great enjoyment to the aspiring cyclist.

Until there is an ordinance here compelling contractors to use closed boxes on wagons used for hauling dirt, there is no salvation for you, you wheelman, unless the city council see fit to have the street cleaned every day.

Mr. Burch, of London England, an old wheelman, and active rider is Lincoln's latest acquisition. Mr. Burch rides a rear driving safety, and says that that style of wheel has superseded the old type in his country.

Mr. Clayton Shader made one-half mile on the fair grounds track recently in one minute and thirty seconds which is a three minute gain, and is very good time considering that a strong wind was blowing. With a little training Mr. Shader would make very fast time.

We hear that our friends the Ramblers, of Buffalo, have a mascot in the form of a "Kaiser dorg, mit ein devoted schwaung." He bears a charming existence, under the euphonious appellation, "Geschmidt." The boys wouldn't part with him at any price. We wish you much joy, boys, but you had ought to see our mascot. It weighs 250 pounds.

Mr. Fairchild, the street sprinkler man happened in on us this morning, and as usual we tackled him about the mud that his sprinkler left behind and asked him if there was any way to stop it. He said one thing that caused so much mud was the careless way that dirt wagons were allowed to haul their loads through the streets without edgates on their wagons, allowing the dirt to fall out. He says that in Kansas City, if a dirt wagon was found going through the streets without edgates on, that the owner of the wagon would be before the police judge just about as soon as he could be got there and that it would cost him $5.00 for each offense.

A good story is told about R. H. Childs, of the San Francisco club. He was treating a young lady friend to a tricycle ride to the Cliff house, and was about to start from there on his way back when it became impossible to move the tricycle. Mr. Childs left it at the beach and walked with his companion all the way to the Haight street terminus, it being after the park and ocean trains had stopped for the day. The next day an express wagon was sent for the injured machine, when, lo! it was found that the only thing the matter with it was that the brake had been put on hard and that Mr. Childs had neglected to loosen it when about to start for his return trip. This story would indicate a precarious condition of the Child's mind; a condition which all susceptible young men will appreciate.

Dr. B. F. Bailey and wife left yesterday on a month's visit to his old home in Manchester, N. H. This is the doctor's first visit since his location here about two years ago. Dr. Bailey is one of our best physicians, and has well earned a rest.

The fifth annual reception of the Alumni association of the high school to the graduating class of this year was held last evening at Masonic temple. An informal social, followed by an appetizing banquet, were enjoyable features of the evening.

Miss Maud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Burr, returned home this week to spend the summer vacation. She has been attending school at the celebrated female seminary at Jacksonville, Ill., and will have as her guest a part of the summer, Miss Lillian Wood, of Jacksonville.

Mr. J. A. Snyder, who represents the big Chicago cigar firm, Banghart Bros., in this state, proposes to make his home in Lincoln hereafter. Mr. Snyder is one of the best commercial tourists of the west, a whole souled, genial fellow, and will prove a valuable acquisition to Lincoln.

Remember that vigilance is the price of life as well as of liberty. Only those who take good care of their health enjoy a ripe old age. Those who wish to, should keep their liver and bowels regular by an occasional dose of St. Patrick's Pills, the best made. Sold by W. J. Turner.

Mr. Alexis Halter is rapidly disposing of his lots in his subdivision of Riverside addition. They are among the choicest lots in North Lincoln, lying between Emerson and Aurora streets and Thirteenth and Fourteenth. Already one-half the number have been sold, but there are a number of choice lots remaining which can be obtained of any leading real estate agent.

Gen. Colby's famous Arabian stallion, formerly the property of Gen. Grant, arrived in the city Thursday and was quartered at Frank Graham's barn. He is a very pretty dapple gray, beautifully formed, and the many people who took a look at him wished themselves in Colby's place. The name of the horse in Arabian is Zekefoun, or in English "Linden Tree." He was taken to Beatrice in the afternoon.

Base Ball Notes.

Omaha struck a snag at Milwaukee this week.

The grand stand and fences of the late ball grounds are for sale.

The struggle in the National league is growing very interesting.

Des Moines still leads in the Western association with Omaha and Kansas City close up.

Tooley and Mussey will probably sign with Bloomington. Advance money was received here yesterday.

Put it down on the tablet of your memory that the late Lincoln ball club won two games during its brief career.

Staley, the excellent young pitcher of the St. Louis Whites, will be sold to the Kansas City club if Denver does not purchase the Whites.

The Bostonians of Kansas City, Kas., have taken the place of Lincoln in the Western league, and will play hereafter as the Newton, Kas., club.

The question whether to purchase or not to purchase the Whites is at last settled. We will have no base ball club this year, and probably not the next. Von der Ahe's offer was $7,000, $2,000 of which would be paid back if Staley were returned in the fall. The new syndicate made an offer of $6,000 for the club and franchise, with no reservation regarding Staley. Von der Ahe telegraphed last evening that $7,000 was his price. This closed the dickering on the part of Lincoln, although before the day is over Von der Ahe may come to our terms. If he does not his club will be disbanded and players sold, as it is extremely unlikely that any one else will give him his price for the franchise.

The Iron Duke to his Soldiers

"Do your duty," were the words of Lord Wellington to his soldiers just before the battle of Waterloo and history tells us how well they obeyed! The same advice might properly be given to every living man at this time.

There are many men who would do their whole duty in time of war or great need, but who sadly neglect it in times of peace, they would gladly risk their lives for their country, but when there is no such great occasion, neglect their plain simple duties to their God, their families and themselves. It is not for want of honor nor because they do not love their families, but from pure neglect; as an instance, statistics compiled by the national authorities show that more deaths result from bowel complaints than any other one cause, except consumption, yet not more than one family in six are provided with medicines that will relieve or cure the disease. It is the duty of every man to look after these small matters and protect their families, and they are certainly at least, guilty of criminal carelessness if they neglect to do so. No one can plead poverty in this instance, as the best remedy there is for the purpose only costs but 25 cents. The article we refer to is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a certain cure for cramps, colic, cholera morbus, dysentery, diarrhoea, bloody flux, cholera infantum, and bowel complaint in all its forms. No family can afford to be without it during the summer months as great suffering and even life may be saved by it before a physician could be summoned or medicine procured. Do not delay, but procure it at once, before it is forgotten.

How is it with you?

Do you relish your food? Is your digestion good? Are your bowels regular? Do you have a tired or languid feeling? Is your tongue coated? Does your back ache? Is your skin sallow? If your system is in a bad condition take St. Patrick's Pills, they will aid your digestion, improve your appetite, regulate your bowels, correct your bilious disorder and make you feel like a new person.

TETTER AND SALT-RHEUM.

The itching and smarting of these diseases causes almost perpetual misery, but that can be relieved almost instantly by applying Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment, and its continued application has cured a great many bad cases. Try a 25 cent box and you will be surprised as well as delighted with its effect.
