"TIME!"
 The best illustrated humorous newspaper. The effect of the illustrations is heightened by the use of four colors. Also printed on coated paper.
 Time is staunchly Republican
 It vigorously advocates the maintenance of a protective tariff, and it speaks in no uncertain voice for Republican principles, and for doctrines of the party as set forth in the Republican platform of 1888.
 Such a paper, speaking directly to the eye of the voter through its simple and powerful cartoons, as well as to the mind through its editorials, will be of positive value to you during the present campaign.
 This being a campaign of education, in which it is necessary to teach the voter the plain facts of the situation by every means within reach, a paper such as TIME should be found weekly in the reading room of every Republican club in the country.
 Single copies, ten cents each; subscription, 3 mos., $1.25; 6 mos., $2.50; one year $5.00; sample copy by request. Ask your newsdealer for TIME.

WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

STYLES NEW AND PLEASING IN THE WORLD OF FASHION.

Fashions in Boys' School and Seaside Suits That Originated in Paris, but Which Find Favor Among the New York Lads.

In the cut here presented are illustrated two very pleasing suits for boys. One is the French boys school suit, and consists of a jacket and knickerbockers in flannel.

SCHOOL SUIT.
 The waistcoat is of spotted pique or figured linen, secured around the waist with a leather belt; the turn-down collar and cuffs are of the same material, cut on the cross. The cap matches the jacket and knickerbockers.

SEASIDE SUIT.
 The remaining figure shows a suit especially designed for the seaside. The sailor blouse and knickerbockers are of blue serge, trimmed with facings and cuffs in red twill. A red and blue striped Jersey is worn under the blouse to match the stockings and the panels of the knickerbockers. The hat is decorated with an anchor.

Fashions in Fans.

The newest gauze fans are painted with large birds, butterflies and beetles, their outline being cut out to form the upper edge of the fan. The message bird of glorious plumage is applied to a clear white gauze one, and three swallows to black, gray and white gauze fans—for swallows are peculiarly fashionable. The two large beetles are painted in bright red and gold coloring. The lace used comes from Nottingham, Lyons and Calais, and some of the Duchess lace covering the entire mounts, or forming merely a bordering, makes really handsome fans. The painting is done in Paris, and hundreds of white and black ribs are to be seen with flowers, rustic scenes, birds and butterflies, all most delicately painted in body color. Quite a new introduction on some of these gauze fans is a ribbon edge, half an inch wide, sewn on strongly.

One attractive novelty are the ribs, carried outside the gauze to the edge of the leaf, and each one painted with a design which harmonizes with the ground work of the fan. An excellent specimen is a beige gauze fan, the ribs painted with apple blossom, the leaf with leaves.

Oval topped fans are still much used, and one excellent example had a large gold and brown butterfly painted at the top, the outline of which served for the upper edge. This fan was deep in the center, and diminished at the sides.

For summer use in the country there are some pretty printed paper fans with wooden sticks, the designs mostly of a rustic nature, many after Watteau's inspiration. For most of the best fans of the Louis XV and XVI period owe their beauty to the master hands that painted them, and many are now treasured in cabinets merely for their painting, irrespective of the jeweled and inlaid sticks, which are in themselves of value.

Lawn Tennis Gowns.

Lawn tennis is in full swing, and the flannel and silk Garibaldi bodices, reign supreme, with any sort of a light skirt. These bodices are becoming to most figures. For young girls they are as much worn for home and small dinners as tea gowns are by older women. Now that "smocking" is popular, many girls make and "smock" their own bodices, and most elaborate some of the work is, bringing down such encomiums that the worker is amply repaid for the time and labor bestowed. A tennis gown recently ordered is worthy of description. The material was of bright poppy red sun's veiling made with long drapery, lifted in front to show a white voile petticoat, cut up the left side, with the edge nearest the front turned outward, showing a band of white open work embroidery. Three bows of white ribbon were placed at distances on the work. Two strips of embroidery ran up between the ribbons to form the requisite width. The bodice was made like a covert coat, with loose fronts, the cuffs being of open work embroidery. The high collar was turned over with the same and fastened at the throat with two large mother of pearl buttons, connected by a little silken cord with two tasseled ends, the sleeves being open and tied together with the same. The hat was a red sailor, with broad brim lined with white straw, and trimmed with poppies, "blowaways" and ox eyed daisies.

A Fancy Apron.

In the illustration is shown one of the many pretty and fanciful aprons which young ladies delight to wear at home, at bazaars, and on other occasions where this adjunct to dress is desirable. This apron may be made of any pretty material. The one shown in the cut is of embroidered lawn, edged with guipure lace and trimmed with bows of shaded ribbon. The honeycombed bib is edged with lace and finished by a sailor collar similarly trimmed. The general effect of the garment is seen to be agreeable.

A BAZAR APRON.

Useful Points.

Young veal may be told by the bone in the cutlet. If it is very small the veal is not good.
 A wineglass of strong Loxax water in a pint of raw starch will make collars and cuffs stiff and glossy.
 Pigeons are good when the breasts are plump and round looking. The flesh of an old one is dark, and the breast is not so plump. Squabs are plump, soft skinned, with almost pink flesh.
 Poultry should have a smooth, clean looking skin, both on the body and feet. If young the lower part of the breast bone will be cartilage. Try this carefully, as some dealers are so unfortunate as to break the ends of the breasts, which to an untrained marketer give them the feeling of cartilage.

BARNUM'S WORLD'S FAIR.

A New Organization of Bigger and Better Shows Than Ever.

Although P. T. Barnum has been tried, five successive times, as by fire, he has not proved wanting in the Phoenix-like ability to rise in greater and more novel brilliancy from the exhibitives ashes of vanished shows, as will be amply proven in Lincoln September 6th. His equal partner, J. A. Bailey and himself have demonstrated a most marvelous and prompt energy in organizing a new travelling world's fair of fifteen great united shows, upon a basis far exceeding in magnitude, novelty, diversity and interest any of their mighty and memorable efforts in that direction. The salient divisions are double menageries, three circuses, museum, world's horse fair, artificial lake, elevated stage, Moorish caravan, doves, dens, arenas and aquariums of trained wild beasts; the magnificent new Paris-Olympia hippodrome, and the free street pageants of the most gorgeous and enormous character; which include a host of rarely novel features, such as restored Jumbo and his set up skeleton; the amazing royal Japanese performers; heroic Capt. Paul Boyton in his novel aquatic performances; Moorish camp, battle and hunting scenes and equestrian and athletic display by wild warriors; dancing girls, harem beauties and ebon slaves of the Sahara; wild beast, thoroughbred and many other kinds of exciting and novel shows, and a thousand other rarely attractive shows and performances. The entire exhibition will be here, just as advertised, and everybody will be here to enjoy the booming holiday it has established.
