

WHAT SHALL WE WEAR?

NEW YORK AND PARIS FASHIONS THAT FIND GENERAL FAVOR.

Novel Designs in French Lingerie, Which is Much Worn by American Women.

Lingerie nowadays seems to have almost reached perfection, and represents a no small item in the cost of a trousseau.

One of the most charming points about all the underwear is the exquisite workmanship coupled with simplicity of design.

FIG. 1—THE PLASTRON NIGHT GOWN.

row embroidery and fine Torchon insertion sewn together; cream ribbons draw the frilling together, which has the great advantage of pulling out quite flatly when washed; the collar has fairylike tucks, and is edged with lace.

The nightgown illustrated in the cut may be made of lawn, cambrie or French percale.

Chemises are made for the most part simply gathered round the shoulders, with fine Torchon or Valenciennes lace frills, and in all instances narrow pink, blue or cream ribbons are run in and tied low in front.

FIG. 2—LOW NECKED CORSET COVER.

The low-necked corset cover, or petticoat bodice as the French women term it, here illustrated, will be found especially becoming to slender figures.

Miniature Cases and Lockets.

Solid silver frames for cabinet photographs have not yet ceased to charm by their novelty, and now come sterling silver miniature cases and lockets in unique designs.

Movable Chair Cushions.

ALI. 'AROUND THE HOUSE.

Bright, Tasteful Furnishings and Curtains for a Spare Room.

A very effective pillow case can be made with strips of fine linen joined with embroidery insertion an inch to an inch and a half wide, the breadth of the linen strips to vary according to taste.

For half window curtains there is nothing more attractive than a soft muslin with a fringe of the same passed on the rod, made rather full and allowed to hang straight down, pushing them back or drawing them together, as desired.

Two pretty ways of arranging short muslin curtains are as follows: Divide the muslin (plain or figured) into three pieces, and edge the center one with a small fringe down each side, the others with a fringe only on the inside.

Removing Stains of Various Kinds.

To remove fresh fruit stains from table linen, cover quickly with powdered starch, or pour boiling water from the tea kettle upon them.

On fabrics that will not be injured by such soap will take out paint stains much better than benzine, chloroform and similar cleaners.

A weak solution of oxalic acid will remove bad mildew stains and iron rust from white goods; ordinarily, milk will come out if wet with sour milk and laid in the sun.

Grass stains are obstinate, but soft soap and baking soda will generally overcome them.

Wheel grease on wash dresses can be removed with soft soap and water.

Chemises are made for the most part simply gathered round the shoulders, with fine Torchon or Valenciennes lace frills, and in all instances narrow pink, blue or cream ribbons are run in and tied low in front.

A lump of alum added to the vinegar in which pickles are scalded renders them crisp and tender, and if covered with cabbage or grape leaves, a fresh, green color will be imparted.

Hard or inferior pears can often be made very acceptable by baking them. Wash the pears, removing the blossom; fill a shallow earthen pudding dish, pouring over them a little cold water—half a teacupful of water to a quart dish.

Claret Cup.

Catherine Owen's recipe for claret cup is as follows: Claret cup with soda water is excellent made from California wine. Pour a bottle of claret into a pitcher, add a sliced orange, leaving out the first and last slice, and a strip of cucumber peel as long as your finger; sweeten with syrup; add, if liked, a wine glass of Santa Cruz rum; set this in crushed ice, and just before drinking strain and add the contents of a siphon of soda water, stir and serve at once.

Silver and Gold Cakes.

For silver cake use one-half cup of butter, one cup of sugar, two cups of flour, one-half cup of milk and the whites of three eggs; flavor with almond. Repeat this for gold cake, using the yolks of the eggs and flour with vanilla.

Movable Chair Cushions.

On very many styles of furniture, especially reed, rattan and polished wood, movable cushions are used, and these are also in favor for an easy chair of almost any kind.

CUSHION FOR THE BACK OF A CHAIR.

The band in the center is terra cotta satin, embroidered with olive, terra cotta and bronze colored split filosele, and joined to the two caps of terra cotta plush, the seams being covered with rep ribbon of the same color.

Useful Suggestions.

Skin milk used in places of water to clean oilcloth gives it brightness and luster.

Cherry wood can be dyed to imitate old mahogany by dipping it in a coloring fluid made by soaking logwood chips in vinegar for twenty-four hours or longer.

It is said that a small bag of sulphur kept in a drawer or closet that is infested with red ants will quickly disperse them. This is easily tested.

A small, soft brush should be used for cleaning celery and potatoes. It is no trouble to keep one especially for this purpose, and it will save hands and time.

Do not place raw meat directly on ice, for the juices are apt to be withdrawn; nor should it be left in the wrapping paper, but put on an uncovered earthen dish or platter, and then set on ice.

ON LIFE'S THRESHOLD.

A Letter Senator Everts Received from His Granddaughter.

Chauncey Dewey says: "Everts once sent a Chaucey to his Windsor farm in Vermont. A week afterwards he received the following letter from his little grandchild:

"DEAR GRANDPA—The little donkey is very gentle, but he makes a little noise at night. He is very lonesome. I guess he misses you. I hope you will come up soon, then he won't be so lonesome. MINKIE.—Ed Perkins' Letter."

An Accommodating Guest.

Their little minds (the children's, home from vacation) are full with the story of their summer pastime, and they are eager to relate their experiences, sometimes with a little too much attention to detail.

Told of a Young Logician.

From the mouth of our young hopeful of five summers, who was with us in San Francisco a short time since, and was out in Market street when the governor's funeral was passing.

Deserved It.

"My dear boy," said a mother to her son, as he handed round his plate for more turkey, "this is the fourth time you have been helped."

Little Molly's Sarcasm.

DEAR FATHER—We are all well and happy. The baby has grown ever so much, and has a grand deal more sense than he used to have.
