THE COURIER'S NEW QUARTERS.

Have you observed the elegant new quarters of the COURIER, on Twelfth street, in the Burr block. The entire establishment has been removed to the two large rooms, Nos. 122 and 124 Twelfth street north, which have been attractively fitted up and furnished to accommodate our rapidly increasing patronage. The COURIER now has the finest printing house and newspaper office in the state, and is prepared to fully accommodate its liberal patronage, and especially the ladies who call to leave their favors.

The Wessel Printing Company, with increased facilities, is prepared to get out any class of work in Art Printing with neatness and dispatch. Its stock of stationery includes everything in the line of fancy designs in Cards, Wedding Invitations, Ball Programs, etc., to which will be added at once the new and latest designs.

The COURIER will be improved in its many departments, and be more than ever the society and home circle paper of the city. The ladies are especially requested to send in any announcements of social matters, either by postal card, telephone, or personal call at the COURIER office. Our reception room has been especially fitted up for the ladies, who are always welcome.

We desire to add largely to our subscription lists, as the season opens, and earnestly request our friends to send in their subscriptions at once and help swell the lists.

The COURIER has every reason to be thankful to its thousands of patrons for past favors and with its many improvements hopes to merit a largely-increased patronage.

Mrs. N. C. Brock and daughter have returned from a trip to New York and eastern states.

Our young legal friend, Mr. E. P. Holmes, departed Monday on a short business trip to Denver.

Mr. C. M. Rigg, manager of the Beatrice opera house, was a Lincoln visitor on Monday last.

Bishop and Mrs. Newman are guests this week at the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Imhoff.

The Capital C. L. S. C. has been organized and will hold regular meetings at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

A democratic rally was held in the city on Tuesday evening. Morton and McShane were the speakers.

Dr. Victor is enjoying a visit this week from his father-in-law, Colonel John H. Gunn of Olney, Ill.

Hon. W. J. Connell, the republican candidate for congress from this district, was in the city Monday.

Mr. J. H. McMurtry has gone to Colorado Springs, where his wife and daughter are to spend the winter.

Miss Lillian Fortin left Wednesday for Omaha for a several days' visit with friends, returning Thursday.

Mrs. and Mrs. Ben R. Coggswell of Beatrice were in the city Thursday to attend the Bennett-Keefe wedding.

The finest work in the city at Hayden's photographic studio, 1214 O street. See our fine samples of art work.

Mr. S. S. Chase, wife and daughter left on Tuesday last for Pasadena, California, where they will spend the summer.

Mr. Finch, Lincoln circulator of the Omaha Bee, has gone to Shelbyville, Indiana, and will soon return doubled up.

Governor Thayer, who has been in Boston for a week or more, at the sick bed of Mrs. Thayer, returned to Lincoln Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Baughman of East Lincoln have left the city for a trip to Denver, Colorado Springs, Manitou and Idaho Springs.

Mrs. J. E. Kinney has returned from a visit to friends at Madison, Wis., her sister, Miss Maggie Castle returning with her to spend the winter.

Chas. F. Benjamin is in the city in the interests of the Salt Lake City Town Lot company. He will meet any who are interested at the Capital hotel this evening.

Mr. John L. Aron, for several months the efficient treasurer of Funke's opera house, has resigned, and will be succeeded by Mr. Ernest Funke, son of the owner of the house.

Fred Mickelwait, our champion fat man, started Monday on a fifteen days' fast. He claims to have lost twelve pounds already, and that naught but hot lemonade passes his lips.

Mr. D. Voorhees of Keokuk is in the city visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dennis. Mr. V. is a cousin of Mr. D., and not having met for a number of years the visit is certainly very pleasant.

The trustees of the Hebrew congregation are making some improvements on the church property at Twelfth and D streets. The congregation is rapidly increasing in numbers, and expect to erect a handsome synagogue next year.

Messrs. H. A. Nelson and A. Barnes left Thursday for the wilds of Butler county on a chicken hunt. The date of their return is doubtful, as they have sworn to bring back at least one chicken each.

It is rumored that a baseball game was played Thursday between representatives of the Journal and a nine from the evening newspaper staffs, but careful inquiry at the latter offices fails to substantiate it.

Mr. Reddish, late with the News Co., and Mr. Dinmore, late with Nissley & Co., have purchased the K. C. chop house, 1028 P street, and will hereafter run same in first class style. We wish them the success they deserve.

Our young friends, M. I. Aitkin and Frank Mauritzius have formed a partnership in the real estate, loan and insurance business, with office in Richards block. Both are hustlers from the word "go" and will make an excellent team.

HYMENEAL.

Cupid Joins the Hands and Hearts of Two Lincoln Young People.

BENNETT-KEEFE.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, at the First Baptist church, Mr. Edward E. Bennett and Miss Marcia L. Keefe were united in marriage, Rev. O. A. Williams officiating. The ceremony was unusually beautiful and impressive, and was witnessed by a host of invited friends and relatives of the contracting parties. Mr. Ed Keefe and Miss Grace Weir attended as best man and bridesmaid. The bride was attired in white crepe, headed ornaments, natural flowers, the bridesmaid being similarly attired. The groom and best man were dressed in the conventional black.

After the ceremony a reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keefe, 1203 G street, where the congratulations and well-wishes of invited friends were freely given. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett are prominent and well known in the city, and the COURIER wishes them every blessing in their married life. They will be at home to friends after October 20th, at their new residence, 539 South Eleventh street.

HANDS LATHROP.

Mr. C. M. Hands, the manager of Max Meyer & Bro's Lincoln department, was married last week at Plattsmouth to Miss May Lathrop, at the residence of her parents, Rev. H. B. Burgess officiating, performing the beautiful marriage services of the Episcopal church. The bride is a lady esteemed by all who know her, having been a resident of Plattsmouth for several years, and a teacher in the public schools for two years.

Mr. Hands has been with Max Meyer & Bro. of Omaha for several years, and is a gentleman of reputation and high standing in his business. Mr. and Mrs. Hands will make Lincoln their home in the future.

Pastor's Reception.

A very pleasant event was the reception tendered Wednesday evening to Dr. Marine by the ladies and gentlemen of St. Paul's congregation. The recent conference resigned the reverend gentleman to this church and the gathering was an evidence of the esteem in which his people hold him. The object, however, was two-fold. Since the church was first opened seats in St. Pauls have been free, but at a recent meeting it was decided to give the plan of renting a trial, and Wednesday evening was the date set. Mr. J. L. Doty officiated as auctioneer, and he disposed of the seats at good prices. The church was very prettily decorated with curtains, flowers and pictures, the ladies also serving a light lunch.

J. Z. Briscoe is no longer in the merchantile field having sold his interest in the shoe store to his partner, Will Webster. He will devote his time hereafter to his landed interests and his office in the Christian university.

Mr. H. W. Hubbard of the Journal was called to Seward Tuesday by a telegram announcing a severe accident occurred to his brother, F. H. The young man had his foot caught in a threshing machine, necessitating amputation.

Come around to the new COURIER office and see the finest printing and newspaper office in the state. We are now located on the Twelfth street side of the new Burr block and occupy two full storerooms, connected by arched openings.

Lincoln secured another new manufactory this week, the Flato Hay Press Manufacturing company. The new corporation claim to be able to manufacture and sell presses for about half what they have been selling for, and will thus prove a success from the first start.

The new grand stairway on the Twelfth street side of the Funke opera house is rapidly nearing completion. With the new stone sidewalk laid on Twelfth and O streets, the Funke block will be improved in appearance and the opera house provided with a provision of exit in case of fire.

It is rather difficult these days to get out to the Wesleyan University, but the street cars will likely be running by next week. At the university things are booming. New houses are springing up on every hand, new students are entering daily, and the prospects of a successful year are very bright.

Mr. H. L. Horne and wife are expected next week to pay a visit to their friends, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Burnham. Mr. Horne is a prominent capitalist of Norway, Me., being extensively engaged in the tanning industry. We hope he will be able to interest himself here.

Dr. Jordan, president of the Occidental Packing company of West Lincoln, died at his home in Chicago last Friday. He had been ailing for some months and his death was not unexpected. It is not yet known what changes the death of Dr. Jordan will cause, as no action has yet been taken by the board of directors.

Nearly one hundred Masons and a large number of friends and relatives left Lincoln on a special train Monday for Plattsmouth to attend the funeral of Dr. R. R. Livingston, one of Nebraska's oldest and most prominent citizens. Grand Army men, Knights of Pythias and Masons from all over the state were present, and assisted in the last sad rites to their deceased comrade and brother. The train returned in the evening.

Bliss, the popular Omaha milliner, had his first fall opening on Tuesday and Wednesday last. Bliss has the reputation of having everything in the line of fine millinery that the market affords. Mrs. Bliss has just returned from the markets of Europe, and the latest Parisian novelties are shown, affording opportunities for selections of fall millinery not to be found elsewhere. The ladies of Lincoln will find everything as represented at Bliss' and would do well to call upon him when in Omaha.

The opening of the new store of the Chicago Shoe company, at 120 South Twelfth is an important addition to Lincoln business interests. The store is in charge of Mr. M. Zander, who for a long time was the successful manager of the Chicago Bargain Shoe Co's store at 1818 Douglas street, Omaha. Mr. Zander is a gentleman of standing in business circles, and knows how to please the trade by honest dealing and values in his business. Those who do business with the Chicago Shoe company will be satisfied in every particular.

One of Lincoln's prominent publishers is soon to take unto himself a wife, and the happy person is none other than the COURIER's popular friend, Jac. Garver of the Lincoln Newspaper Union. This announcement will probably be a surprise not only to the gentleman's many friends throughout the state but more so to himself, for the little secret has been kept very quiet, and had the intelligence not been furnished the writer by an old and intimate friend of one of the happy couple, this item would not have been later, and so it is for this reason that friend Garver has paid so many visits to Omaha. The object of his love was there prominent, but alas, now the central figure of attraction in his life resides at Springfield, Ohio, having moved there with relatives recently; and we are told that before many moons illumine the world, Mr. and Mrs. John Garver will be numbered among the residents of Lincoln.

AN EPIC IN FIVE FITS.

FRANCE.

The editor in genial mood, sat in his office chair; he ran his jeweled fingers through his mass of tawny hair, he took his golden pen and wrote some grand and fiery sermons, of wars abroad, of politics, and of his country's needs; he also wrote a touching poem about a lover bold, who went across the raging sea to search for gleaming gold; and how a maiden waited long down on the ocean shore, to welcome him when he returned—who would return no more.

CLOUDS.

The office hirling came to him; an ugly youth was he, with freckles scattered on his face most wonderful to see; he jerked the pen, he stuffed the seal into the stove and did the other chores. But now his freckled cheeks were blanched, his voice was hoarse with fear; he said: "Old Smith, who weighs a ton, is waiting for you here; his face is stern, his lips are set, I fear he's come for you—Oh, master, shall I let him pass inside your sanctum door?"

COURAGE.

Then spake the editor with pride, to that lone youth spake he: "Oh, Absalom, the coward's fear a stranger is to me; why should I tremble, though he comes to wallow in my gore? I'll take him by his swanlike neck and with him sweep the floor; as Macbeth said, what man may daunt, that also will I daunt, and should old Smith but make a crack, I'll smash him with a chair; go, then, to where he pants and waits, and show him in to me, and though he's once or doubly armed, no terror will he see."

DANGER.

Then trembling went the freckled youth, as he'd instructed been; he led the Bad Man to the door, and quaking, showed him in; the door was closed behind him then, and Absalom stood near, but all the sounds of raging war securely he might hear; there was a silence, long, profound, and then his master's voice, rang out in loud, defiant tones that made his heart rejoice; it sounded through the oaken door and echoed down the hall; it ceased, the silence came again, and then a heavy fall.

DISASTER.

With winged feet young Absalom flew to his master's side; all still and pale that master lay, as though he just had died; but soon he opened wide his eyes that fell the boy upon; they swept the room to see Old Smith, but Smith, the wretch, was gone. "What did he do?" cried Absalom, "that you have swooned away! You show no marks to show that you have had a bloody fray; oh, master, did he draw his gun, your form with lead to fill?" "No, no, my boy, he drew no gun; far worse—he drew a bill!"—Nebraska State Journal.

Know Him by Sight.

"I'm from Tucson," said the stranger, as he sauntered up to a dreamy, long haired man at the end of the bar, "and I've been looking at the sights."

"I've been in Tucson myself," replied the dreamy man as they clinked glasses. "Glad to see a man from there."

"That so? Know Mausfield?"

"No."

"Know Zabrinski?"

"No."

"Don't know Lem Hopkins?"

"Can't say I do. I wasn't there a great while," and the dreamy man pensively drained his glass. "but do you know Hector Servidant?"

"No."

"Know Mart Chuzzlewit?"

"No."

"Don't know old Don Quicote?"

"No; less he was the Mexican that kept the saloon."

"Now! that won't him. You don't seem very well acquainted. Did you know Dante, Bill Nye or Dan Deronda?"

"No, I don't think so."

"Look a here, young feller, you don't seem to know any prominent citizens. I don't believe you're from Tucson. I'll give you one more show. I never saw a man from Tucson that didn't know one man, or if you don't know him—take beer, my friend, take beer. Do you know Clive Newcome?"

"Yes," stammered the stranger from Tucson, as he slid towards the door; "that is, I know him by sight," and he fled through the door.—San Francisco Examiner.

Strictly on Business.

Citizen (poking his head out of a back window)—See here, Uncle Rastus, what are you doing around my honclop at this hour of the night?

Uncle Rastus (brumply)—I was gwine to eat yo', Mistah Smif, if yo' don't want ter git dat honclop whitewashed. It needs it bad, 'deed it do.—Scribner's Magazine.

An Ingenious Deaf Man.

A Somerville man who is afflicted with deafness in one ear found his affliction a positive advantage during a recent visit to New York. Having a room in a hotel on Broadway he could not sleep because of the noise at night. One night it occurred to him to lie with the deaf ear up. The morning after he was late to breakfast.—Somerville Journal.

Evilions.

"Ma," said Bobby, "is pa dangerously sick?"
"No, Bobby, only a little sick, that's all."
"Well, Willie Waffles was braggin' round school today that his pa was dangerously sick. 'Don't you think, ma, that my pa will get dangerously sick, too?'"—The Epoch.

A Careless Greener.

Greener—Well, sonny, what can I do for you?
Sonny—My mudder sent me back wid the butter and wine. She said she ordered new butter an' old wine, an' she thinks you've got the wintages mixed up.—New York Sun.

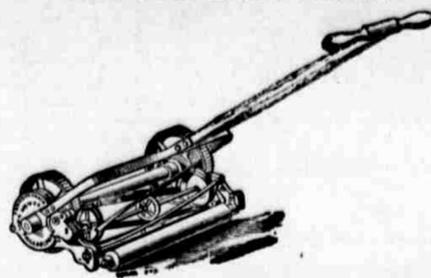

An Apology Necessary.

Gentleman (at an evening entertainment)—Pardon me, sir, but am I not addressing the Duke of Wynn Wylyss?
Gentleman addressed (drawing himself up with haughty air)—Sir, I am the head waiter.—Harper's Bazar.

Almost Always So.

"Any one fatally injured by a mad horse seldom recovers," remarks a French paper. It's most always so, for, with the case of a man who has been drowned.—Detroit Free Press.
