If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, and was satisfied with it, and did not want any other."

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." Mrs. ELLA A. GOFF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

The council investigation of the street car business promises to be a most sensational affair.

LINCOLN is not a prohibition town, but a good nonfall of water would be a blessing, or at least class as one.

The Jersey Lily and her Freddie arrived in New York again Sunday. We have not yet noticed even the slightest tipping of the earth toward the east.

The people of New York are happy as clams. For the first time in its history their ball club has won the league pennant. It doesn't take much to make some people happy either.

The street car drivers and conductors of Chicago have struck. Their action is to be commended. Any one who has ever ridden in a Chicago street car will understand why they struck.

The Journal avers that natural gas has been discovered in East Lincoln. In the absence of positive information on the subject, we opine that Robert McReynolds is one of the staff of our morning contemporary.

The street car companies should issue a map, guide or something of other to designate where their respective lines run. An old citizen even is at a loss to direct a stranger who requires the shortest route to a certain point.

The announcement that the new union depot was an assured fact, in last Saturday's COURIER, occasioned considerable excitement in business circles, and many anxious inquiries were poured in upon us. It was a grand scoop on the dailies.

As yet no duels have been fought over the controversy as to whether the evening newspaper gang or the Journal nine was victorious in last week's ball game. The preponderance of testimony, however, is in favor of the former, and so history will record it.

With breadstuffs climbing upward like a grocery bill and other necessities of life in proportion, the outlook for the poor man this winter is very bad. We hear a great deal about the bountiful harvest of 1888, but why are the prices of provisions going up.

The wintry winds are commencing to whistle, the smile on the coal man's face expands into a grin, and yet we hear nothing of Geo. C. Mihn projecting another tour of the provinces. George must be out of the country or we would have heard from him before this.

The production of a dramatization of Amie Rivers "The Quick or the Dead," in New York last week was a dismal failure, and the histrionic genius even of Estelle Clayton could not prevent its falling flat. We are glad to hear of it; such a vile mass of nonsense deserves a speedy death.

OUR poetic friend of the Journal had better keep a firm grip on his laurels as a rhymester. From the seething and writhing noticeable in the Call lately, it is probable that Fairbrother will shortly evolve from his labyrinthian brain one of his justly celebrated bits of fancy woven into verse. In the language of our friend Bushnell, it will be a winner.

It is said that if one speaks into a phonograph and afterwards hears his words poured forth from that instrument that he will not recognize the tones. There is nothing very strange in that. Many men go to their coaches with a mellow, seductive voice that woos the gentle goddess immediately, and wags up with one no rasp that the neighbors all use it to sharpen their wits on. He is indeed a wise man who knows his own voice twenty-four hours after using it.

It is very difficult for a young man of unbalanced mind to decide with which party he will train. According to the republican organ the democratic party is endeavoring to disrupt and bankrupt the nation, while the democratic partisan papers assert that the republican party is a venal and corrupt organization with the object in view of making the American either an aristocrat or a pauper. Each side lies to sustain its position, and the young man who has not inherited the parental prejudice as to party is in a perplexing row of stumps.

ANOTHER Lincoln gentleman has found out that it is dangerous to contradict Hon. Patrick Egan. In a recent letter Mr. Egan mentioned several historical facts relative to commercial relations between Ireland and England, which Prof. Caldwell of the state university, through the columns of the Call, saw fit to contradict. Several open letters have passed between the two, and Mr. Egan has clearly proven the falsity of his adversary's position. Mr. Egan is one of our most highly cultured citizens, and can floor an opponent with the utmost ease in either a scientific, historical or political discussion.

In a recent issue of the Omaha World appears a very peculiar story entitled "The Christian Minister; a Story of the Social Evil," with the signature of that most versatile writer, Mr. Fred Nye. In it is pictured a Christian minister who endeavors to lead a virtuous woman from the iniquitous path she is treading, takes her from her evil associations and tries to find her a home among the Christian people of his congregation. It is the way of the world to shun these women as though they were lepers, and so fared the outcast of this story, who, with a full realization of the depth of her depravity, seeks a suicide's grave. It is a strong story, and needs no scientific appliances to discern a most pointed moral.

SEVERAL prominent Omaha merchants are endeavoring to inaugurate the cash system in that city, and we think it a very good plan to adopt by Lincoln business men so far as practicable. We have repeatedly urged upon merchants and consumers the benefits each would derive if the cash system was universally adopted. The man who makes it a practice to have his purchases charged makes the cost of his goods from 10 to 25 per cent. dearer than they would be were he to join with his fellows and pay cash. It would pay the consumer in another way. He would learn the real purchasing value of a dollar, and would not be so apt to buy goods he does not need, simply because he will only have to settle it at some indefinite time in the future. Cash by all means.

The city papers have been devoting some space lately to belaboring the Western Union telegraph office in this city for general mismanagement and disregard of the interests of its patrons. Everything that has been said is doubtless true, and we believe the hat has not yet been told. For years the Western Union occupied a 4th office in the city, and when it moved to larger quarters our people anticipated a change for the better in its service, but it has steadily grown worse until it is a thing not to be borne longer in silence. We do not know where the blame lies, whether it is incompetency on the part of the manager or insufficiency of force to do the work, but it is a thing that calls for immediate rectification. Lincoln wants something more than a country telegraph service, and if the Western Union has any regards for its interests here it will do something to remedy the abuse. If the company would employ one or two polite messengers it might also be classed as an improvement.

We are willing to bear personal testimony to the efficiency and value of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which we have been advertising some years in our paper, having used it for blood impurities with great success. It is a preparation of standard merit, made of perfectly pure ingredients, and thoroughly effective in cleansing and purifying the system. For eruptions, boils, etc., it can be relied upon every time. Our own experience with it has been most gratifying, and we are glad to give it this endorsement.—Athol (Mass.) Transcript.

All She Wanted.

Mrs. Godolphin—Now, what would be your terms, Mr. Jones, for giving me a course of—say a dozen lessons in painting? Jones—Well, frankly, Mrs. Godolphin, I'm afraid it's too late in life for you to begin to start a career of art—that is, if you wish to take it up seriously. Mrs. G.—Oh, but I don't! I only want to learn enough to be able to teach.—London Punch.

A Private Rehearsal.

Take the dog between your teeth, Nelly, and climb up!—Life.

A Hog Atmosphere.

Terry Keenan was one of the old engineers of the Alton. He was a genial Irishman and a good engineer, and rendered admirable service to the road during the time of Asa Moore. At one time, while running through Virden, the train, which did not stop at that point regularly, met a drove of hogs which were being driven across the track to the stock pens. Having no orders from the train dispatchers to meet a drove of hogs at Virden, he put on all the steam that he could and dashed through the middle of them at the rate of about forty miles an hour. When he got back to Bloomington, Superintendent Moore sent for him to come to his office. When he entered Mr. Moore's office he did so in a very meek and repentant manner, expecting to be discharged. Superintendent Moore looked at him curiously for a moment or two and then inquired: "Terry, how many hogs do you think you killed at Virden last night?" Terry, in his Irish brogue, said: "Mishter Moore, I don't know; the air was full of hogs for fifteen minutes." Terry was not discharged.—Globe-Democrat.

Easily Found.

Citizen—That's a fine horse you've got there, deacon. Deacon—Yes, he is a good one, but it takes a strong man to handle him. "My wife has been asking me to buy a horse for her own use. Where do you s'pose I can find a safe, trusty animal?" "I'll sell you mine, Jones, for $300."—Texas Sittings.

A Sudden Change.

A policeman was standing on the steps of the First National bank when a match boy humbly approached and asked: "Pleas, sir, may I go inside your bank?" "My bank?" "Yes, sir." "I don't own this bank." "You don't?" "Of course not." "Nor any other bank?" "No." "Then you go to Halifax, and if you lay a hand on me my father will have you bounced!" exclaimed the boy as he braced up and walked in.—Detroit Free Press.

He Stuttered.

Though it was his misfortune and not his fault that he stuttered, it was amusing to hear him in a love passage. "Do you really care so very much for me, darling?" she softly queried. "Dud-dud-dud-dud-dud-dud-cue-cue-care for water, sus-sus-sweet! Indeed, I dud-dud-dud-dud-dud-dud! You are the one pup-pup-precious pup-pup-pearl among pup-pup-pearls, pup-pup-Polly! You are que-que-queen of my heart, dud-dud-dud-dud! The pup-pup-power that bub-bub-bounds me like a reed at thy fuf-fuf-feet." And she apparently believed him.—Banner of Light.

Thoughts Wise and Otherwise.

It is pleasing to reflect that there is one place where all people are equally beautiful, and that, of course, is—in the dark. When you consider how much every baby exercises its vocal organs it is a perfect marvel that any person should ever grow up with weak lungs.

How It Happened and All About It.

It was Tuesday, September 11, 1888, at 7 o'clock, the 230th grand monthly drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery occurred under the sole management, as usual, of General G. T. Beauregard of Louisiana and Jubal A. Early of Virginia. The prizes ranged from $100 to $300,000, and were distributed everywhere. Do you want to know to whom and where? No. 97,425 drew the first capital prize of $300,000. It was sold in fractions; one-fourth sold to Jacob Shipway, New York city, the rest going to Costa Rica, C. A. The second capital prize of $100,000 went to No. 21,025, sold in fractional parts at $1 each sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans; one-twentieth went to Bank of Maysville, Maysville, Ky.; one to J. O. Roman, St. James Parish, La.; one to Ohio Valley National bank of Cincinnati, Ohio; one to a depositor through State National bank of New Orleans; one to B. L. Bennett, care So. Bank of Georgia, Savannah, Ga.; one to a depositor through Wells, Fargo & Co., San Francisco, Cal.; one to Anglo-Californian bank, San Francisco, Cal.; two to John H. Howard, Columbus, Ohio through Commercial National bank of Columbus. The Third Capital prize was drawn by No. 44,545, also sold in fractional parts of twentieths at $1 each, sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans; one went to Chas. T. Silk, Galeville, Wis., through Bank of Galeville; one to First National bank of Sulphur Spgs., Texas; one to a depositor through Louisiana National bank, New Orleans; one to Israel Seligman, New York; one to First National bank of Temple, Texas; the other parts elsewhere. The Fourth Capital prize of $25,000 went to No. 1587, also sold in fractional twentieths; one to John Weingart, Jr., 86 Derbigny street, New Orleans; one to R. C. Porter, Central Music Hall, Chicago, Ill.; one to Martin Welch, through Atlanta bank of Atlanta, Ga.; one to James Roberts, Hillsdale, Mich., through First State Bank of Hillsdale; one to D. Geiger, So. Chicago, Ill. Any information desired can be had on an application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. The whole affair will go over on Tuesday, Nov. 13th, 1888. Take note of the date.

To Our Lawyer Friends.

During the past week THE COURIER office has turned out some elegant specimens in law briefs, one numbering nearly a hundred pages. We would like our friends of the old fraternity to remember that in this class of work we excel all others and that our prices are as low as the lowest. Calls by telephone, No. 253, promptly answered and all work left at our office in Burr block done neat, quick and cheap.

A Good Medicine Which every Family Should be Provided With.

There is no medicine so often needed in every household as a good reliable liniment such as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it for some ailment. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved, and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when the Pain Balm is kept on hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious. A troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two. Swellings and glandular swellings may be suppressed before matter has begun to form in them. Boils are often the result of an injury and may be prevented by timely treatment. A lame back may be cured and several days of valuable time saved. A pain in the side or chest relieved without paying a doctor bill. When so much pain and suffering may be saved by the timely outlay of fifty cents, it is certainly surprising that any family would do without such a remedy. The fact is, few of those who have used Chamberlain's Pain Balm are willing to be without it.

A Kansas City traveling man says Chamberlain's Pain Balm enables him to earn $1,200 per year. It cured him of neuralgia with which he had been an almost constant sufferer.

A. H. Elliott of South Cedar, Kansas, says: "My father who lives near me was thrown from a buggy, and nearly killed. Chamberlain's Pain Balm saved his life."

Mr. Wm. Westlake, a prominent farmer and stock-raiser near Avoca, Neb., was so badly injured by being thrown from a sulky, that he could not raise his hand to his head, by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, he entirely recovered the use of his arm in two weeks time, which enabled him to exhibit his stud of horses at the fair and they took the first premium.

L. O. Burlingham of New Boston, Ill., sprained his back so badly that he could not cut off a stick of wood. Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured him in one day.
