Home First by All Means.

A fact which Lincoln ladies appreciate is that in these modern times of fashion, all branches of millinery are ably represented in this city, and that their every want in the way of headgear can be fully supplied at home without the need of going abroad. It has oftentimes been amply proven to our ladies that goods they bought from foreign houses have cost more than what they could have been purchased for from home dealers. Chicago, Omaha or other houses in the larger cities have greater expenses to bear, while here at home, for instance, the Famous millinery of M. Ackerman & Co., has but small expenses in comparison. Hats are not half so high and nearly all other expenses are equally so, and then again our merchants are here for the purpose of building up the city, to sell you goods and to stay. Before thinking of buying your winter hat or bonnet, ladies, you should not fail to see what you have at home here. Take a look about the city, call in and see the Famous, in the opera house block. Their line of fashionables will surprise you.

The change made recently made at Odell's whereby breakfast is served on the European plan instead of the former way of serving a regular breakfast, is meeting with decided success, and Mr. Odell reports great increase in patronage. Order what you want and pay for what you eat is the new run of things.

The grand lodge of Odd Fellows held their annual meeting at Omaha Thursday, and was attended by a large representation from the Lincoln fraternity. Among the officers elected were: D. A. Kline, Lincoln, grand secretary, and Sam McClay, grand treasurer. Over 1000 people attended the grand ball at Goodrich hall in the evening.

Mrs. E. C. McShane of Omaha, sister-in-law of the candidate for governor, is in the city visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Potvin and attending the catholic fair and bazaar. Mrs. McShane arrived Monday and leaves today for home to be on hand Monday and take an active part in the catholic fair which opens next Monday in Omaha and runs through the week.

Mrs. Ada M. Bittenbender was on Monday at Washington, D. C., admitted to practice in the supreme court of the United States. Being only the third lady lawyer ever admitted to so high a tribunal, the honor is certainly a worthy one and speaks much for the lady's commendable legal ability. The COURIER joins friends in extending hearty congratulations.

On Saturday, Nov. 24th, at 133 South Ninth street, there will be a grand gift drawing for an American "Champion" bicycle. The drawing will be in charge of Chas. E. Seifert and the holding of the lucky number receives the bicycle. The "Champion" is a beauty, fitted out with alarm, lamp, bag and tools and this drawing will be an unusual opportunity for some lucky person to get an elegant bicycle.

The CAPITAL CITY COURIER will come out in its Saturday issue with a new head that is a beauty. It is the finest specimen of the kind the Call has noted and will be best appreciated when seen. The COURIER will be a specially attractive edition Saturday.—Evening Call.

Well, here it is. We consider it the finest newspaper heading in the west. What do you think of it?

There remains but a trifle over two weeks until the next president is elected, and there is one fact you should remember, and that is that whether Delva Lockwood, Cleveland or Harrison are elected, you will still be able to get the best dress goods at the same low price at the general merchandise store of L. Meyer & Co., on North Tenth street. They buy direct from the manufacturer, keep the freshest goods in the city, and are a most reliable house to deal with.

The Prescott-McLean company closed their engagement at the Fawell Saturday evening, presenting "Ingomar." Miss Prescott was an ideal Parthenia, and her delineation of the character of the simple Grecian maiden received the appreciation it deserved. As Ingomar McLean is not at his best, and those who saw his Virginia the previous evening were disappointed in his characterization of the barbarian chief. At times he was inclined to rant, but in the latter part his presentation was more pleasing.

The attention of our lady readers is called to the display advertisement on fourth page of this issue of Messrs. Heyman & Deiches, the popular cloak, suit and fur house of Omaha. Many Lincoln ladies have purchased their winter cloaks and furs of this house, and they always find their prices far below the average and their styles the latest and very latest. Being direct importers and carrying the largest stock of these goods in the largest and handsomest store in the west, their advantage over the ordinary dealer is apparent. Read their advertisement.

A letter received from Madame Weber gives the pleasant intelligence that she is doing nicely and is well pleased with her new home in Chicago. The madame sang at the annual harvest home sociable of the woman's home missionary society of the First Presbyterian church at Evanston (a suburb of Chicago) on Friday, and speaks of the affair as having been a complete success. Mr. E. H. Eddy, who is attending the Chicago medical college, was also a participant in the concert. Mrs. Weber is located in one of the finest residences portions of Chicago, at 2210 Michigan Avenue, where she will be pleased to see her Lincoln friends when in that city.
