

Catarrh

May affect any portion of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, and the most liable to be neglected. It cannot be cured by local applications. Being a constitutional disease it requires a constitutional remedy like Ringing Noises Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the catarrh, and soon effects a permanent cure. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system, and makes one feel renewed in strength and health. If you suffer from catarrh, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Impure Blood "I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house as I think it is worth its weight in gold."

Cures Catarrh Mrs. G. B. GIBBS, 1025 Eighth St., N. W., Washington, D. C. "I was troubled with that annoying disease, nasal catarrh, and never found relief till I took Hood's Sarsaparilla." J. L. ROYER, Marksburg, Ky. N. B. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla sold by all druggists. #1, 50c for 50. Prepared only by C. L. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses One Dollar

New Jewelry Store.

L. BARR, 2019 O Street. Established 1874.

Desire to call the attention of the public to his new and elegant stock of

DIAMONDS, Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Silverware,

Having more room to accommodate the trade and show a larger line than ever. Before purchasing, give us a call and we will show you the finest line at lowest possible prices.

Watch Repairing and Engraving Neatly done and all work warranted.

WESTERFIELD'S

Palace Bath and Shaving

PARLORS. Ladies and Children's Hair Cutting

A SPECIALTY. COR. 12 & O STS., NEW BURR BLK

PEERLESS

Steam Laundry,

327-331 N. 12th Street.

C. J. PRATT, Prop'r.

Q. L. MARTIN, City Solicitor.

Fine Laundry Work a Specialty

TELEPHONE 199.

GEO. H. POEHLER,

Ice Cream and Oyster Parlors

Bakery and Confectionery. 1132 O Street LINCOLN, NEB.

Families and Parties supplied with all delicacies at short notice. Ice Cream for party or private orders all during winter season. Telephone 457.

R. O'NEILL,

—DEALER IN—

Diamonds, Jewelry,

AND OPTICAL GOODS. Repairing and Engraving a Specialty. 116 No. Tenth Street.

KING STEEAR,

SHOE STORE,

Is the next thing to a Savings Bank. The only difference is we give you

Real Leather Shoes

Instead of Paper Soled Shoes, for the same or less dollars than the others charge for shoes. We sell them on their merits. The cheapest and best place in America for Real Leather Shoes for the same amount of money. Remember the place, 1019 O Street.

KING STEEAR.

WESSEL PRINTING CO.

A Popular Paper of Modern Times.

PUBLISHED SATURDAY

Subscription: One Year by Mail or Carrier $2.00 Six months, $1.00. Three months 50 Cents. On month 20 Cents Invariably in Advance.

Advertisements: Rates furnished on application at the office. Special rates on Time Contracts. Contributions: Short spicy sketches, poems and stories solicited. Personal and Social notes are especially desirable.

Printing: We make a specialty of Fine Printing in all its branches. Society work a specialty.

Address all communications direct to the office. WESSEL PRINTING CO., PUBLISHERS.

New Burr Block, Cor. 12th and O Street. L. WESSEL, JR., Editor. N. HALL, Bus. Mgr

WALTON MASON was the only person in Lincoln who voted for Belva Lockwood. He has received a personal letter of thanks from that distinguished lady.

The two hundred Ann Arbor students celebrated Halloween so vigorously that three of them landed in jail, were doubtless laboring under the impression that it was hallowe'en.

There are eighty divorce cases to be tried at the next term of Lancaster county district court. This is a very strong piece of evidence that marriage is considerable of a failure in this country.

There is a man living in Harrisburg, Pa., who has spent twenty-nine years in bed. The average individual, on awakening these cold mornings, often wishes for a few hours of those twenty-nine years.

Well, the battle is over and the papers and people generally will give us a rest on politics. After the overproduction of politics in the past three or four months, almost any subject, even the weather, will be preferable.

MR. THOMAS L. KIMBALL has been formally confirmed as general manager of the Union Pacific road, a position he has practically filled ever since the death of the late lamented Thomas J. Potter. Mr. Kimball is thoroughly conversant with every department of railroading, and his appointment meets with the approval of everyone.

Our young friend, Bion Cole, of the Grand Island Times, is one of the defendants in a big libel suit brought by S. N. Wolbach, democratic candidate for state senator from Hall county. Mr. Cole was formerly a prominent member of a western society paper at Des Moines, but we did not expect that he would so soon blossom into prominence like he has.

The arrangements for receiving election returns in the city this year were noteworthy of approval. Four years ago the only recreation one enjoyed was holding down a lamp in front of the Journal's bulletin board. The republicans had the opera house, the democrats a store room in Masonic Temple, while bulletin boards at the Journal office and several hotels and saloons kept all informed. The republican state committee could have immortalized itself had it secured a stereopticon and thrown returns as they came in on a big square canvass suspended across O street.

An Albany physician says that smoking is not good for any man so far as his physical condition is concerned; that it does so simply by diverting a man's mind from himself and firm objects that worry him. "Nothing," says he, "requires more attention to it for its enjoyment than a cigar. It is not the taste of the tobacco that one enjoys. It is looking at the smoke, inhaling and smelling it, and knocking off the ashes. All these things direct the mind and so drive dull care away." This is on the same principle of a man drinking whisky, not because he likes the taste of it, but because of its effects.

From an editorial in our last issue a number of the COURIER'S friends have taken the idea that the paper was staunchly democratic, and simply because said article showed a marked preference for Mr. McShane for governor. This is a great mistake, for save Mr. McShane and one or two others, the private sentiments of the COURIER have always been freely expressed for the republican ticket, and as stated the reason we favored McShane was because we favor all things when the young men are interested. Mr. McShane, comparatively speaking, is a young man, and being a paper devoted to the "coming men," it is, of course, our duty to champion their cause. We trust our position is clearly understood.

The history of popular suffrage is constantly confirming and demonstrating the wisdom of the plan that gives the ballot to all the people. There is nothing more clear than that the way to get the majority of men to do right or to try to do right, is to give them free opportunity of choice, and then apply motives. The masses of men are instinctively patriotic, and they line the country and its institutions, and they line advance and progress. The history of the ballot in this country is the history of security and honesty. The ballot is the only education that puts every man to our common school, and demands of each his honest conviction on questions of public import. Our only danger is from overlooking suffrage and uselessly multiplying appeals to the ballot.

Try the delicious dinners at Carder's, served daily. They comprise soup, choicest meats, vegetables, pastry, etc., all for twenty-five cents. Everything is nicely cooked, neatly served, and the price is just right for everybody.

Lincoln Hack and Baggage Line. Telephone No. 201, meat market, 327 O Street, or No. 301 livery house. Order slates at same places and U. P. ticket office, corner Eleventh and O streets. Hack stands, Capital hotel and meat market.

BOHANNON BROS.

FAIR NEW YORK WOMEN.

WHAT THEY ARE WEARING AND GETTING READY TO WEAR.

Information About Pretty Head Gear, New Walking Gowns and a Number of Other Varieties of Feminine Apparel. Olive Harper's Entertaining Letter.

[Special Correspondence.] NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The past few days have been notable as far as "openings" go, and I tried with all my heart to see them all; but I got so towards the last that I could not tell what I had seen, nor what they were called, nor what they looked like. My mind was like a kalei-ping the pile from longer feathers nearly to the end, and clipping the rest into faithful shaves.

Felt hats for young women are handsome and suitable and not so very dear as the other styles, and they can be trimmed in almost any way their taste dictates. The plush caricature of a hat which looks like an old fashioned horn put on upside down is one of those "creations" that always cost a lot of money and are called "perfectly killing" by those who like to look different from anybody else, and there are always enough of that kind in New York to give variety to the scene.

You will often see the girls who like to look different from any others with their brothers' tennis caps on in the street, and sometimes you will see others with jockey caps, or even a riding hat, walking along; and revealing in the notice they attract.

Just now it is to see who can get the longest, bluest bo. I saw one yesterday that was real of the very best of the very longest ostrich feather pile, cream mixed with warm brown. In fact the ends were tipped with brown. The bo was three yards long and certainly fifteen inches in diameter.

The wraps and cloaks are now so long and ample that scarcely a bit of the dress shows. In the illustration are shown three of the most striking ones of the season. One is of thick matelasse silk and purple. Little plush ball, edged the front and green, wing shaped, pieces. The double capes are trimmed with plush. Another is of thick, soft wool in shades of fawn and brown. The sleeve pieces are more like slings than sleeves. The front has a border and high collar, as well as rolling collar of curled Astrakan. In the back at the waist line is a rich brocade with handsome pendant jet ornaments.

The third is of prime colored embossed velvet, with a rich pale blue cashmere front, the whole trimmed with wide bands of golden lynx fur. With this goes a tiny muff which looks as much like a shopping bag as it can be made to look. It is of the cloak material.

I saw some other cloaks which were very handsome. One was of black matelasse silk with a black fur collar and bands, and a very beautiful jet ornament in the back. Another was of Thibet wool with quite thick fleece, in light gray and stone color, diamond pattern. This had no fur trimming, but had a fluffy fringe of Angora goat hair silky and gray. Another was a redingote of light drab bayadere wool with faint brown pattern all over. This had a full trimming of bands of golden lynx which harmonized with the colors in the wool.

Some very pretty and stylish new outdoor costumes next struck my eye—I say eye because the other one was fixed upon a tea gown—and they are presented for the edification of any lady who likes to look pretty and elegant at once.

Walking gowns for fall and winter. That one which has the vest front and braiding is of dark green vogue, and the braiding is of black chenille and simple braid. This is, however, now often simulated in stamped goods, on purpose for such trimming; and many different materials have such printed patterns as trimming which go with the dress pattern. The vest is of wood colored surah. The hat is of lined felt, with wide ribbon bows.

The plaid suit is of fine twilled serge in dark blue, and plaid Scotch wool in Gobel blue, dark blue and gray. The hat is of dark blue felt, with a tuft of shaggy ostrich plumes.

The other suit is of small check plaid cheviot in green and terra cotta, with a bayadere striped skirt in the same colors, laid in very deep box plaits. A walking jacket, with bayadere striped vest and felt hat, complete a very pretty costume for a young lady.

The tea gown of which I spoke was lovely and of pink brocaded silk with a faint of Brussels gauze heavy and held with a pink ribbon tied in deep bows. The front of the gown is Fedora shape and the sleeves hang to the bottom of the skirt. There is a tain in the back in which the breadths of the brocade open and let fall a fan shape of the Brussels gauze.

You see I do not forget that life is all a hurry, and that some of us must weep and wear sadder symbols of mourning, and there is fashion in mourning as well as in wedding gowns. More costumes are made with sweeping trains than before for many seasons, and all carriage and home mourning gowns are made in that way. Widows' caps are now made pointed, and the point reaches to the parting of the hair on the forehead. Collars are not so long, and few wear them over the face. No collar or crepe line of white is permitted as a relief. It must be all somber black.

I notice among the newest goods some black luster, or old fashioned silk alpaca, which is very fine and beautiful.

The high novelties in silks are those with woven patterns, or embroideries, or Persian stripes which take half the width. These are, when made, cut in two and the plain goods pleated over the patterns in panels. Some of these have a brocaded stripe on a heavy Lyons satin in black or colors. There are also some place silks of delicate colors, with indistinct patterns, which are very beautiful. Also satins and silks with brocades of gold flowers.

THE WIDOWS.

The high novelties in silks are those with woven patterns, or embroideries, or Persian stripes which take half the width. These are, when made, cut in two and the plain goods pleated over the patterns in panels. Some of these have a brocaded stripe on a heavy Lyons satin in black or colors. There are also some place silks of delicate colors, with indistinct patterns, which are very beautiful. Also satins and silks with brocades of gold flowers.

OLIVE HARPER.

NEW AND HANDSOME WRAPS.

There were many bonnets, turbans and toques of Persian goods, as they call it, which means a sort of material like the old horse shawls, with here and there a gold thread showing. These bonnets, though so plain, are marked very high, and I suppose that is chic, too.

Black velvet, dark green, and red enter largely into all winter millinery, and particularly fashion is partial to a kind of coppery red. I noticed one Tosca bonnet with a shirred velvet brim in this color, which set out beyond the face over ten inches. An enormous bow of ribbon of the same shade was fastened upon the crown. This costs $75. There is much fine sewing in the shirring, something unusual in millinery, which depends more on pins and taste than solid work.

There were several handsome turbans made of pheasant's, chicken's, duck's and turkey's breast feathers. Indeed, it would appear that fashion had depopulated the barn yard. The feather turbans are really very beautiful as the iridescent feathers are used, and they overlap each other so as to look very natural. Any one, with patience, can make a feather hat or bonnet, provided they have the fowls to furnish the feathers.

The shape should be cut out of net, and the edges should be sewn over wire all around, and then a layer of cotton batting should be tacked strongly to that, and this again covered with net, and then the feathers should be glued on overlapping each other all the way, always working so as to leave the quill points exposed last, and cover them with the next feather. The result will be very satisfactory. The crowns of the toques or turbans can be of any material—velvet, felt, dress material to match costume, or silk, or moose feathers. A tasteful lady can make beautiful bonnets so. The tuft trimming is made by stripping the pile from longer feathers nearly to the end, and clipping the rest into faithful shaves.

Felt hats for young women are handsome and suitable and not so very dear as the other styles, and they can be trimmed in almost any way their taste dictates. The plush caricature of a hat which looks like an old fashioned horn put on upside down is one of those "creations" that always cost a lot of money and are called "perfectly killing" by those who like to look different from anybody else, and there are always enough of that kind in New York to give variety to the scene.

You will often see the girls who like to look different from any others with their brothers' tennis caps on in the street, and sometimes you will see others with jockey caps, or even a riding hat, walking along; and revealing in the notice they attract.

Just now it is to see who can get the longest, bluest bo. I saw one yesterday that was real of the very best of the very longest ostrich feather pile, cream mixed with warm brown. In fact the ends were tipped with brown. The bo was three yards long and certainly fifteen inches in diameter.

The wraps and cloaks are now so long and ample that scarcely a bit of the dress shows. In the illustration are shown three of the most striking ones of the season. One is of thick matelasse silk and purple. Little plush ball, edged the front and green, wing shaped, pieces. The double capes are trimmed with plush. Another is of thick, soft wool in shades of fawn and brown. The sleeve pieces are more like slings than sleeves. The front has a border and high collar, as well as rolling collar of curled Astrakan. In the back at the waist line is a rich brocade with handsome pendant jet ornaments.

The third is of prime colored embossed velvet, with a rich pale blue cashmere front, the whole trimmed with wide bands of golden lynx fur. With this goes a tiny muff which looks as much like a shopping bag as it can be made to look. It is of the cloak material.

I saw some other cloaks which were very handsome. One was of black matelasse silk with a black fur collar and bands, and a very beautiful jet ornament in the back. Another was of Thibet wool with quite thick fleece, in light gray and stone color, diamond pattern. This had no fur trimming, but had a fluffy fringe of Angora goat hair silky and gray. Another was a redingote of light drab bayadere wool with faint brown pattern all over. This had a full trimming of bands of golden lynx which harmonized with the colors in the wool.

Some very pretty and stylish new outdoor costumes next struck my eye—I say eye because the other one was fixed upon a tea gown—and they are presented for the edification of any lady who likes to look pretty and elegant at once.

Walking gowns for fall and winter. That one which has the vest front and braiding is of dark green vogue, and the braiding is of black chenille and simple braid. This is, however, now often simulated in stamped goods, on purpose for such trimming; and many different materials have such printed patterns as trimming which go with the dress pattern. The vest is of wood colored surah. The hat is of lined felt, with wide ribbon bows.

The plaid suit is of fine twilled serge in dark blue, and plaid Scotch wool in Gobel blue, dark blue and gray. The hat is of dark blue felt, with a tuft of shaggy ostrich plumes.

The other suit is of small check plaid cheviot in green and terra cotta, with a bayadere striped skirt in the same colors, laid in very deep box plaits. A walking jacket, with bayadere striped vest and felt hat, complete a very pretty costume for a young lady.

The tea gown of which I spoke was lovely and of pink brocaded silk with a faint of Brussels gauze heavy and held with a pink ribbon tied in deep bows. The front of the gown is Fedora shape and the sleeves hang to the bottom of the skirt. There is a tain in the back in which the breadths of the brocade open and let fall a fan shape of the Brussels gauze.

You see I do not forget that life is all a hurry, and that some of us must weep and wear sadder symbols of mourning, and there is fashion in mourning as well as in wedding gowns. More costumes are made with sweeping trains than before for many seasons, and all carriage and home mourning gowns are made in that way. Widows' caps are now made pointed, and the point reaches to the parting of the hair on the forehead. Collars are not so long, and few wear them over the face. No collar or crepe line of white is permitted as a relief. It must be all somber black.

I notice among the newest goods some black luster, or old fashioned silk alpaca, which is very fine and beautiful.

The high novelties in silks are those with woven patterns, or embroideries, or Persian stripes which take half the width. These are, when made, cut in two and the plain goods pleated over the patterns in panels. Some of these have a brocaded stripe on a heavy Lyons satin in black or colors. There are also some place silks of delicate colors, with indistinct patterns, which are very beautiful. Also satins and silks with brocades of gold flowers.

THE WIDOWS.

The high novelties in silks are those with woven patterns, or embroideries, or Persian stripes which take half the width. These are, when made, cut in two and the plain goods pleated over the patterns in panels. Some of these have a brocaded stripe on a heavy Lyons satin in black or colors. There are also some place silks of delicate colors, with indistinct patterns, which are very beautiful. Also satins and silks with brocades of gold flowers.

OLIVE HARPER.

HEALTH HINTS.

SOME SUGGESTIONS REGARDING THE TREATMENT OF COUGHS, AND COLDS, WORTH REMEMBERING.

A cough is usually the symptom of some disease, the character of the cough denotes the nature of the disease. A cough should never be suppressed but the disease cured, then the cough will stop of itself. The most common disease that causes coughing, is a cold. When a person takes cold, many of the air cells of the lungs become obstructed with mucus. This coughing is an effort of nature to relieve the lungs and that is the first and most important thing to be done in treating a cold. The lungs should be relieved and the secretions opened. Which is the best accomplished by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is the only preparation in use that will cause the expansion of mucus from the air cells of the lungs. It also renders the mucus less tenacious and easier to expectorate and opens the secretions, aiding in relieving the lungs and freeing the system of all morbid matter actually curing the cold. It acts in perfect harmony with nature and is the only preparation in common use that does not cause the system to open the secretions, render the mucus less tenacious and easier to expectorate and relieve the lungs and that is precisely the effect of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. You ask "How do we know that is nature's way?" Because if your system is strong enough to stand it nature, will in time relieve it of the cold without the aid of any medicine and that is just the way it goes about it, but many an "iron constitution" has been severely racked by leaving nature alone and unaided to do the work. No one can afford to neglect a cold, as catarrh and chronic bronchitis are caused by neglected colds. When a person has a cold the mucus membrane lining the air passages of the head, throat and lungs is inflamed, the inflammation however is "acute" and can be cured, if not cured but kept up by the cold or by a succession of colds which is a very common occurrence, the inflammation becomes chronic, and if in the head, is known as catarrh; if in the wind pipe and branches of it, extending to all parts of the lungs, it is called chronic bronchitis. Neither catarrh nor chronic bronchitis can be permanently cured, as when apparently cured, a cold will bring them on again and every succeeding cold will aggravate them. These are facts which no observing person can deny. It is of the utmost importance that every cold be cured as quickly as possible after the first symptoms appear and it has been abundantly proven that there is no medicine that will cure a cold in less time than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, besides it leaves the system in as healthy a condition as it was before the cold was contracted.

Calling Cards. The COURIER has just received a large invoice of calling cards in the latest shapes and sizes. Our lady friends especially are invited to call and examine. We furnish them either printed or engraved in any style of the art.

Crystal Steam Laundry,

Office, Burr Blk. Laundry, 24th and O.

Finest Work in the City.

COLLARS AND CUFFS

A SPECIALTY. All work called for and delivered, and satisfaction guaranteed. Leave orders at office or by telephone 478.

Leaders in Photography.

Kelley's NEW ART Studios.

We make a specialty of the celebrated BROMIDE

Life sized pictures and furnish the finest work at lowest prices.

Best Cabinets $3.00

Elegant line of Picture Frames in stock and made to order. Call and see us.

H. W. KELLEY & CO.

1026 O Street, LINCOLN, NEB.

HEYMAN & DEICHES,

138-139 Farnam St., New Daxton Block, OMAHA, - NEB.

THE LARGEST CLOAK,

SUIT and FUR HOUSE. IN THE WEST

We are now introducing many new novel ties in Fall and Winter Wear, and would respectfully invite our Lincoln friends to call and see the new line just opened.

ARE DIRECT IMPORTERS

And as such can offer later styles at lower prices than any house west of Chicago—a fact well take pleasure in proving to Lincolinites.

CALL AND SEE US WHEN IN OMAHA.

We can show you a fine line of Cloaks, Dresses and Furs that surpass anything you have ever seen in the entire west. It will pay you to take a trip to Omaha to see us, if you want anything nice in our line.

Mail Orders Receive Prompt Attention.

N. M. RUDDY,

Practical Optician.

A specialty made of expert Eye Glass Fitting. Glasses that rest the eye, 3000 kinds.

217 South 15th Street, OMAHA, NEB.

Get Your Laundry Work

—DONE AT—

The Excelsior Steam Laundry,

207 S. 11th St., rear entrance. Tel. 291.

All orders promptly called for and delivered. We pride ourselves on promptness and superiority of work.

MILLER & DAY, Proprietors.

HARGREAVES BROS.,

743 to 745 O Street. Wholesale Grocers,

Fruit, Produce and Commission Merchants

E. MOORE,

1034 O Street Dealer and Jobber in

Wall Paper.

Lace Curtains, Shades, and Interior Decorations.

HEALTH HINTS.

SOME SUGGESTIONS REGARDING THE TREATMENT OF COUGHS, AND COLDS, WORTH REMEMBERING.

A cough is usually the symptom of some disease, the character of the cough denotes the nature of the disease. A cough should never be suppressed but the disease cured, then the cough will stop of itself. The most common disease that causes coughing, is a cold. When a person takes cold, many of the air cells of the lungs become obstructed with mucus. This coughing is an effort of nature to relieve the lungs and that is the first and most important thing to be done in treating a cold. The lungs should be relieved and the secretions opened. Which is the best accomplished by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is the only preparation in use that will cause the expansion of mucus from the air cells of the lungs. It also renders the mucus less tenacious and easier to expectorate and opens the secretions, aiding in relieving the lungs and freeing the system of all morbid matter actually curing the cold. It acts in perfect harmony with nature and is the only preparation in common use that does not cause the system to open the secretions, render the mucus less tenacious and easier to expectorate and relieve the lungs and that is precisely the effect of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. You ask "How do we know that is nature's way?" Because if your system is strong enough to stand it nature, will in time relieve it of the cold without the aid of any medicine and that is just the way it goes about it, but many an "iron constitution" has been severely racked by leaving nature alone and unaided to do the work. No one can afford to neglect a cold, as catarrh and chronic bronchitis are caused by neglected colds. When a person has a cold the mucus membrane lining the air passages of the head, throat and lungs is inflamed, the inflammation however is "acute" and can be cured, if not cured but kept up by the cold or by a succession of colds which is a very common occurrence, the inflammation becomes chronic, and if in the head, is known as catarrh; if in the wind pipe and branches of it, extending to all parts of the lungs, it is called chronic bronchitis. Neither catarrh nor chronic bronchitis can be permanently cured, as when apparently cured, a cold will bring them on again and every succeeding cold will aggravate them. These are facts which no observing person can deny. It is of the utmost importance that every cold be cured as quickly as possible after the first symptoms appear and it has been abundantly proven that there is no medicine that will cure a cold in less time than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, besides it leaves the system in as healthy a condition as it was before the cold was contracted.

Calling Cards. The COURIER