THREE CURSES.

FOR THE COURIER. A terrible thing is a loosened tongue. That many a heart to the core has stung; A baleful thing is a prying eye, Restless and eager for something to spy; And hateful, too, is a listening ear, On the alert for what it may hear. What the eye may see, or the ear may hear, The tongue will publish afar and near, And he who possesses these fenish things, To the happy home full disaster brings.

Take my advice, and be more discreet; What you see, or hear, or may chance to meet, Keep closely hidden within your breast, That your knowledge of it may not even be guessed.

'Twill save you trouble and anxious care, Your friends and neighbors 'twill kindly spare; 'Twill help you your fellow man to cheer, And aid you in keeping your conscience clear, And the vile report will not then prevail That you are a meddling, meddling tale.

NOTES FROM OMAHA.

A Chatty Letter, Full of Interest. From Our Correspondent. After a peaceful slumber of nearly six month society is again waking. These cold days and still colder nights have a tendency to keep one within the portals of home by the glowing fireside. But staying home, to the young man, grows monotonous, consequently outdoor amusements must be looked for. Dancing clubs are forming in large numbers and it is evident that the boys intend to do their part toward brightening the evenings of the dull winter months. The ladies will undoubtedly reciprocate these intentions by entertaining their friends, and from the present outlook a bright social season is before us.

The talk of the town is still the King tragedy, and public opinion is certainly in favor of the woman although her crime is unpardonable in the face of God. King was without a doubt a bad man, who thinking money could cover his sins, might have continued on his villainous career of robbing women of their honor and virtue, but for the action of this woman. Young men who are straying from the paths of the good take warning from some such desperate woman chastises you or sends a laden messenger of death through your heart.

The Colosseum, which has been the talk of Omaha for some time past, was opened last Saturday evening with races, foot and bicycle, and other sporting events. This structure, which covers an area of 81,000 square feet, being 270 x 300, was designed for conventions of all sorts and is, outside of the Madison Square Garden of New York, the only one in the country. Mr. J. S. Prince, of bicycle fame, is manager.

On Monday evening a social session of the Elks was given in honor of the several visiting theatrical companies. Among those present were the Hanlons', Struck Gas and Murray and Murphy companies. A royal time was had generally, as might be expected, among the profession. Reciting, singing and general merry-making was the order of the meeting.

Theatrical speaking, Omaha is lively and the number of good attractions which appear on the boards of both the Grand and the Boyd speak well for the managers, and the appreciation of the public is shown by the well-filled houses that greet each performance. Messrs Crawford & McReynolds have, by their able management and the high order of attractions booked, succeeded in establishing a first class reputation for the Grand, while Mr. Thomas F. Boyd, the popular manager of the Boyd, has kept his house up to its usual first class standard, presenting at all times only the best. The receipts of both houses show that Omaha is sufficiently large to support two first class places of amusement. Gilmore's band and "The Little Tycoon" at the Grand and "Held by the Enemy" and Hanlon's at Boyd's played to good business.

Mrs. Moulton and daughters, Maggie and Nellie, spent several days of last week in this city. They were at "Held by the Enemy."

Dr. Lawson, Fred Shoes and Elmer Fleming were among the number of Lincolinites who visited us to see the lights and shadows of this great city.

Business men report trade rather slow, but considering the ever-changing weather nothing better can be expected.

I am an admirer of pretty dresses, and undoubtedly some of your lady readers would have patience to listen while I voice a few remarks on this subject. A very pretty morning gown noticed recently was made of a light gray flannel with collar and vest front of cardinal velvet, with bell-shaped sleeves lined with same. The neatly fitting front and flowing back presented a negligible appearance, and on the whole it was a model of beauty, neatness and comfort. Bright cardinals appear to be the rage. A Tan O'Shanter, made of scarlet velvet, with white silk velvet trimmings, is a very pretty head-dress noticed at the theater recently.

Well, bon soir, till next week. Yours, Ed.

Postmaster Watkins was a Chicago visitor this week. Next Saturday is the first day of the last month of 1888.

Great hose sale at Herpolsheimer & Co's for the coming week. The finest collection of ceramics ever displayed in Lincoln will be seen at Elliott's opening, November 27.

Special sale of Novelty Combination Suits next week at Ashby & Millsbaugh's. Prices reduced nearly one-half.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Stephens were passengers on the east bound Burlington express, Tuesday, bound for Cadiz, O., on a visit.

The worst feature about catarrh is its dangerous tendency to consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh by purifying the blood.

The annual public meeting of the Relief society will be held tomorrow (Sunday) evening at St. Paul M. E. church and the First Presbyterian church.

B. Lomiard, jr., the great financier of Boston, who is heavily interested in Nebraska negotiable paper, was visiting Lincoln this week as the guest of Charles West, on R street.

We regret to learn of the illness of Mr. R. Lawlor, proprietor of the Grand Central dry goods house, at his home on R street, and trust his recovery will be but the matter of a short time.

Miss Angie Newman, who has been attending the national convention of the W. C. T. U. at Washington and the Home Mission society's annual meeting at Boston, is expected home tomorrow.

Are you seriously thinking of getting tangled in love or do you expect to marry soon? If so look at the COURIER's stock of new wedding stationery will be an inducement to you and act as an encouragement in the matter.

Repent, sinner, and be righteous. Give thanks unto thy Maker, Thursday, and again turn over a new leaf. You may amount to something yet, for, as the adage goes, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." No charge for this.

Now is the time when you can buy Christmas presents at your own price. Buy a ring, watch, diamond, or anything suitable at Hallett's auction sale. Ladies will receive prompt attention and their every want supplied by Mrs. Dawson, the wife of the venerable auctioneer.

Edward Larkins, one of Omaha's prominent dry goods merchants and a jolly Elk, came down with the Omaha delegation of Elks Thursday. Mr. Larkins is a genial fellow and can do his share to entertain a lively party. We acknowledge a call at this office and trust his many form will have occasion to pass our threshold again in the near future.

From the Council Bluffs Reflector we clip the following: "Mr. Richard Johnson, the great traveling men's friend at the Capitol hotel, Lincoln, Neb., was in the city on Monday, calling on friends. Dick has friends by the hundreds among the knights of the grip and is one of the jolliest hotel men in the business."

BITS ON BICYCLING.

A Potpourri of Notes About the Sport and Personalities About Wheelmen. Up hill and down, Up another without a frown; Half a dozen, less or more; Great Caesar! my limbs are sore. Up another? Oh, what a plight! Let us walk; so do alight. Slowly go both wheel and trike. No one knows what this trike. To ride down hill and up. Forty miles before you nap.

(In memory of the Valparaiso run.) When is a Victor not a victor? When it runs against a curb. A new and ingenious excuse to rest, is to claim that the rear wheel will not run easily and then stop an hour, take it off and clean it.

If some one would write a novel and have the hero riding a bicycle, with the heroine on a tricycle and the old folks cold as an icicle, it would sell like wildfire.

At last Mr. Birch has put in an appearance and paid in his little two cases as an initiation fee. Mr. B. is a good, big hearted fellow, just like the tree he is named after.

A Columbia may be a gem, a Victor a daisy, but for none of them should a man go crazy. For the Warwick is light, you can ride it by night, for the spring the jar it removes, and the tire it stays with you all of your days, and so the best of them all it proves.

The run to Valparaiso was not, I am sorry to say, a complete success. A few started and still fewer got there. The roads between Lincoln and Raymond were in fine condition, but between the latter place and Valparaiso they were simply mountains.

One evening last week Frank Van Horn had the misfortune to break one of the spring forks of his Victor safety. He tried to ride from the pavement to the sidewalk by running square against the curbstone. The consequence is that Frank will not ride his machine for a couple of weeks.

The meetings of the Art club and L. W. C. were held on the same night for the last two months, and in consequence our president has not presided at our gatherings. The vice president solemnly protests against any such proceedings. Mr. L. has an older and much wiser head and his counsel is necessary for the welfare of the wheel club.

To those who expected to see the record of their daring rides in this column last week, the writer must apologize. To those who are interested in this sport and recreation, he does most humbly ask pardon. For some unaccountable reason those notes did not appear, but in the sweet future the writer promises to turn over a new wheel and keep the boys posted every week.

A young man had a bicycle stolen last week. It was on the club's meeting night. There were six or seven wheels in front of the COURIER office and a noise disappeared. If the young man had been a member of the club, and his "bike" with the rest had been in front of the meeting room, a thousand chances to one that his wheel would not have been taken. Moral: Join the club.

Case contemplates painting a picture of a solitary wheelman, climbing, slowly climbing, a steep hill. In the background he will show two young men going down hill on foot carrying a tandem, while about nine miles in the rear will appear another lone wheelman, carrying his safety. The painting promises to be very realistic, in fact, so much so that four young men, at least, will imagine themselves in the exact position portrayed.

Special sale of Satin 25c per yard next week. ASHBY & MILLSBAUGH.

Dr. Wilson, of the veterinary firm of Wilson & Cosford, returned Thursday from a trip of nearly two months to Canada and the east. The doctor reports having had a most delightful visit in Michigan, the dominion and several other places.

We have been informed by friends of the deceased, that owing to the death of the inventor of the language, the Volapuk society will not be revived for the present. The members of the society became proficient in the new tongue in a short time and will give their attention this winter to something more difficult.

HEALTH HINTS. SOME SUGGESTIONS REGARDING THE TREATMENT OF COUGHS, AND COLDS, WORTH REMEMBERING.

A cough is usually the symptom of some disease, the character of the cough denotes the nature of the disease. A cough should never be suppressed but the disease cured, then the cough will stop of itself. The most common disease that causes coughing, is a cold. When a person takes cold, many of the air cells of the lungs become obstructed with mucus, the coughing is an effort of nature to relieve the lungs and that is the first and most important thing to be done in treating a cold. The lungs should be relieved and the secretions opened. Which is the best accomplished by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is the only preparation in use that will cause the expulsion of mucus from the air cells of the lungs. It also renders the mucus less tenacious and easier to expectorate and opens the secretions aiding nature in relieving the lungs and freeing the system of all morbid matter effectually curing the cold. It acts in perfect harmony with nature and is the only preparation in common use that does. Nature's way is to open the secretions, render the mucus less tenacious and easier to expectorate and relieve the lungs and that is precisely the effect of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. You ask: "How do we know that is nature's way?" Because if your system is strong enough to stand it nature, will in time relieve it of the cold without the aid of any medicine and that is just the way it goes about it, but many an "iron constitution" has been severely racked by leaving nature alone unaided to do the work. No one can afford to neglect a cold, as catarrh and chronic bronchitis are caused by neglected colds. When a person has a cold the mucus membrane lining the air passages of the head, throat and lungs is inflamed, the inflammation however is "acute" and can be cured, if not cured but kept up by the cold or by a succession of colds which is a very common occurrence, the inflammation becomes chronic, and if in the head is known as catarrh; if in the wind pipe and branches of it extending to all parts of the lungs, it is called chronic bronchitis. Neither catarrh nor chronic bronchitis can be permanently cured, as when apparently cured, a cold will bring them on again and every succeeding cold will aggravate them. These are facts which no observing person can deny. It is of the utmost importance that every cold be cured as quickly as possible after the first symptoms appear and it has been abundantly proven that there is no medicine that will cure a cold in less time than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, besides it leaves the system in as healthy a condition as it was before the cold was contracted.
