

A LESSON FROM NATURE

How to Cure a Cold. A SUBJECT IN WHICH WE ARE ALL MORE OR LESS INTERESTED.

To cure a cold quickly it must be properly treated as soon as the first symptoms appear. Do you know the first symptoms? If not, you will undoubtedly remember having them at numerous times and that you did not consider them at all serious or even worthy of your attention.

I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for eight years and it has given universal satisfaction to my customers. I use no other in my family, and have never called a doctor for any lung trouble.

W. H. RILEY, Stanford, Ill. I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for eight years and it has given universal satisfaction to my customers.

S. B. WALKER, druggist, Calamus, Clinton Co., Iowa. Mr. J. J. Lagrange a leading druggist, of Avoca, Nebraska, says: "I have been engaged in the sale of drugs and medicines for the past twenty-eight years, and during that time have sold many different cough preparations, but I have never sold or handled any cough medicine that gave as perfect satisfaction to all my customers, as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy."

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

THE FEBRUARY MAGAZINES AT HAND.

An Interesting Batch of Literature Just Received by the "Courier."

A volume of very rare interest will be the "Essays, Religious, Social, Political," by David Atwood Wasson, soon to be issued from the press of Lee & Shepard, Boston. The book will include an autobiographic sketch written in vigorous and interesting language, and a biography of Mr. Wasson, by his friend and contemporary, O. B. Frothingham. Mr. Wasson was one of the most profound men of his day, and his essays and poems will find a permanent place in literature.

That peer of the monthlies, Scribner for February is on our table, bright and interesting as ever. One never grows old reading such excellent literature and time flies while scanning its many beautiful engravings and the numerous excellent articles that are found within its covers.

Table Talk's cheerful face looks up at us from among our exchanges with a sort of how-do-you-like-my-February-dress expression which we must reply to. The contents are, as usual, varied and entertaining, opening with a serio-comic poem entitled "In the Drift," then Mrs. Rorer follows with her fifth installment of "How to Live on a Thousand a Year," after this come "How Mrs. Ruskin Utilized the Odds and Ends," Tillie May Forney's "Fashionable Luncheon and Tea Toilettes," an interesting paper on "Cookery and Table Customs of the Ancients," by Joseph Whitton; "Home Decorative Work," by E. S. L. Thompson; "Culinary Maxims," "Ways for Women to Earn Money," Mrs. Rorer's "Housekeeper's Inquiries," "Open Letters," a "St. Valentine's Problem," "The Woman's Exchange Movement," and what is now a regular and important feature of the magazine, a complete list of menus for every day in the year.

Drake's Magazine for February opens with a noteworthy article entitled, "Cold and Hot Cash," describing the workings of the New York Assay Office. The article is fully illustrated. "The Little Fat Postman," by Florence E. Pratt, is a charming English dialect poem and is illustrated. Arthur H. Hall tells how the Aztecs used to play ball. "Val's Valentine" is from the pen of S. Ada Fisher. "A Chapter of Accidents" is an ingenious story by Edward Willet. Zenas Dane, C. N. Hood, and Wm. H. Siviter, are each represented by a laughable sketch. "Skating Here and Elsewhere," by S. E. Archer, is very timely. Drake's Magazine is replete in every department with something to interest everybody. One dollar a year, ten cents a copy. Drake Publishing Co., 11 Frankfort St., New York.

The Art Amateur for February gives two colored plates, a charming little moonlight landscape and the first of a series of fern designs for china decoration. The black and white designs include Easter decorations—lilies and ecclesiastical designs for dossal and banners; a large four-page design for a screen panel the first of a series representing the seasons; designs for a plate (orchids), two salad plates, a fish plate and a Royal Worcester vase, a striking double-page wild rose design for a carved and perforated panel and a pleasing tapestry decoration, after Boucher, "The Fountain of Love." The frontispiece is a specially fine "Head of Crocus." The practical articles relate to still life, flower, water color and tapestry painting, Easter decorations and home adornment. A second useful letter is given addressed to a young lady who asks "if she can learn china painting." Amateur photography, for beginners, especially, receives great attention. Articles of particular interest are the "Hints from Japanese Homes," Mr. Kunz's talk about jade, the review of the Architectural League's Exhibition, "Greta's Boston Letter, and, of course, "My Note Book." Price 35 cents. Montague Marks, Publisher, 23 Union Square, N. Y.

The last number of West Shore Magazine contains engravings of the public buildings of Oregon, including the capitol, penitentiary, insane asylum, etc., and other views in Salem, the capital city, accompanied by a large supplemental sheet with portraits of members of the legislature now in session. A description of Salem and that portion of the great Willamette valley in which it is situated is a valuable feature of the number. The very readable and instructive article on the "Genealogy of Oregon," should be carefully perused by everyone who would like to become informed on the subject of the creation of a great state of the American union on the far western border of the nation so long before the intermediate country was redeemed from the wilderness. The West Shore is filled monthly with valuable information about the entire northwest. 25 cents a copy, by mail, to any address. L. Samuel, Publisher, Portland, Oregon.

Bureau of Information. Two Dayton Boys Held a Winning Ticket. Two of the luckiest young men in the city of Dayton, O., are Edmond C. and George C. Albert, who held the one-twentieth of ticket No. 56,621, which drew the first capital prize of $300,000 in the drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery made in New Orleans on the 13th of November. They have always been honest and hard working. Their father, Casper Albert, a respectable barber, died several years ago and they have had and uphill work assisting their widowed mother to support the family.—Dayton (Ohio) Democrat, Dec. 6th.

Brown's cafe is now open day and night, so that lunches can be had at this popular resort at any time.

Articles of Incorporation. Made and adopted this 15th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, by and between Isaac M. Raymond, Lewis Gregory, Andrew S. Sawyer, Silas H. Burnham and M. L. Easterday, incorporators, as follows, to wit:

Article 1. The name of this corporation shall be the American Exchange Bank. Article 2. The principal place of transacting the business of the corporation shall be in the city of Lincoln, Lancaster county, Nebraska. Article 3. The general nature of the business to be transacted by this corporation shall be the loaning upon approved securities of the money, either belonging to the said corporation or entrusted to it for such purposes as agents or brokers, the receiving of monies on deposit, the buying and selling of exchange, and generally such other business as is usually done by like associations.

Article 4. The amount of capital stock shall be one hundred thousand ($100,000) dollars, which shall be paid in at the time and upon the conditions following, to wit: Fifty (50) per cent of said capital stock, amounting to Fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars, shall be paid in at the commencement of business; and certificates of stock issued for same, and the balance of fifty per cent of said capital stock shall be paid when at such times as shall be ordered by the directors of said corporation. Anyone failing to pay his assessment within thirty (30) days after the notice, shall forfeit all future right to do so. Said stock shall be issued in shares of one hundred dollars each, and the names of the stockholders shall be entered on the books of the corporation and holders are entitled to one vote for each share held at all meetings of said corporation or stockholders, which may be cast either in person or by written proxy.

Article 5. The time of commencement of this corporation shall be the 1st day of December, 1888, and its termination shall be December 1st, A. D. 1913.

Article 6. The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time subject itself shall be not more than two-thirds of its capital stock except for the purpose of paying interest thereon.

Article 7. At any regularly called meeting of the stockholders, the capital stock of the association may be increased to two hundred thousand ($200,000) dollars.

Article 8. Whenever an increase of stock shall be determined upon, in accordance with article 7, it shall be the duty of the directors to cause all stockholders to be notified thereof in writing. Each stockholder shall be entitled to subscribe for the new stock in proportion to the number of shares he already owns, but if any stockholder fails to subscribe and pay for his share within the time specified, his right to the new stock shall be waived, and the board of directors shall determine what disposition shall be made of the same.

Article 9. The officers by whom the affairs of this corporation are to be conducted shall be a president, a vice-president, a cashier, an assistant cashier, and five or more directors.

Article 10. The president shall hold his office for the year for which he is elected, and until his successor is elected. The officers shall be elected and perform such duties as may be prescribed in the by-laws adopted by said corporation.

Article 11. These incorporators shall be the directors till the first annual meeting of the stockholders. These articles may be amended at any meeting of the stockholders by a two-thirds vote.

In witness whereof, the said Isaac M. Raymond, Lewis Gregory, Andrew S. Sawyer, Silas H. Burnham, and M. L. Easterday, to me known to be the identical persons whose names are subscribed to the foregoing instrument as incorporators, and they severally acknowledge the execution of said instrument to be their voluntary act and deed.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal the day and year last above written.

J. M. BETTS, Notary Public. 1-26-88
