IN THE SOCIAL SWIM.

A WEEK'S HAPPENINGS CHRONICLED.

Accounts of Balls, Parties, Weddings, Etc., That Have Entertained Society.

The Last Before Lent.

The Pleasant Hour Club met last night for the last time, until after the Lenten season, at Temple Hall. Quite a large number were in attendance and the evening passed quickly for those there engaged in the merry dance. The amusement was such as only this, Lincoln's leading society circle affords its members and the twelve members arranged on the program were quickly disposed of together with three extra ones. During the intermission, delightful refreshments were served and tempting ices were in constant demand during the entire evening.

Mr. Frank Zehrung acted as Master of Ceremonies, Mr. Beeson being detained at home on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Beeson.

Messrs Gundry Mohrenstecher, Taggart, Hall, Thompson, Wright, Foreman, Heiskell, Maxwell, Edwards, Kerman, Zehrung, Waite, Magoon, Connell, Griffith Henkle, Lemist and Cooper.

The D Street Club.

A most enjoyable evening was spent Wednesday at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lippencott, on which occasion this estimable couple entertained the D street social club. Several guests aside from the regular membership of the club, participated in the entertainment. Progressive euchre was the attraction and proved a most pleasant one. Following is a list of those present: Mr. and Mrs. Buckstaff, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Heiskell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hargreaves, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Burr, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Funke, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Muir, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Burr, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Daves, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Beeson, Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Hayden, Mrs. John Zehrung, Mrs. Bussey, Mr. Frank Zehrung and Mr. D. E. Thompson.

Delightful Card Party.

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Hayden entertained a party of friends at cards, comprising members and their ladies of the Pleasant Hour club. Nine tables were filled and the feature of the evening was manipulating the pasteboards in the game known as progressive high five. The favors were unique and attractive, well worth trying for, and the hospitalities of the evening being in the hands of that clever hostess, Mr. Hayden, nothing was left undone to make it a most enjoyable affair. Refreshments at about eleven, served in the inimitable style of the hostess was a particularly interesting part of the entertainment.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Buckstaff, Mr. and Mrs. Beeson, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. Muir, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Pitcher, Mr. and Mrs. Lippencott, Mrs. Bussey, Misses May and Lillie Potvin, Lemist, Giles, Agee, Latta, Williams, Anna and Clara Funke, Messrs Taggart, Freeman, Badger, Waite, Foreman, Lemist, Zehrung, Richter, Magoon, Thompson, McMurry and others.

Dickens Club En-Costume.

Wednesday evening the fortnightly meeting of the Dickens club was held at the home of Mr. E. E. Gillespie on G street. Although but a regular meeting yet it was one of extraordinary characters. The members appeared en-costume representing the different characters in Dickens works. Many of the young people appeared ridiculously absurd and were the target of much innocent mirth. To say that some of the characters represented were ludicrous to the extreme would be to some degree represent their appearance. The characters assumed were:

David Copperfield, Orin Fifer; Peggerty, Pauline Friend; Betsey Trotwood, Jennie Buncher; Barkis, Hugh La Master; Mr. Micawber, Ed. E. Gillespie; Marchioness, Bessie Mendenhall; Mrs. Grummidge, Myrtle Mann; Miss Squires, Minnie De Pue; Jeannette, Georgia Taylor; Mr. Spewlow, Wm. Phillips; Lizzie Hexam, Ada Guthridge; Tommy Traddles, Geo. Pumpelly; Sophia, Bertha Avery; Dore Arden, Josie Freeman; Mrs. Micawber, Olive Latta; Kate Nisbly, Cora Beach; Samson Brass, H. K. Hoffmann; Nicholas Nickolby, Frank Woods; Dick Leviser, Lloyd Metcane; Frank Cherybell, Chas. Chandler; Eugene Wryburn, Joe Phillips; Sydney Carton, E. P. Brown; Miss Mowcher, Maud Hammond.

The first part of the evening was spent in promenades at which time Dickens himself would have been astonished at the realism of the characters. Among the most striking characters represented and evoking an unlimited amount of fun were Peggerty, Tommy Traddles, Mr. Wilkins Micawber and Mrs. Grummidge. The balance of the evening was given up to dancing.

A Delightful Soiree.

One of the most pleasant church affairs given in Lincoln this winter, was the one given Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Spencer on East O street. The affair was given under the auspices of St. Andrews brotherhood of Holy Trinity and as an entertainment of thorough enjoyable qualities, it was a decided success. But not only in a social sense was it a success, but in a financial sense as well, for quite a sum was realized that will go toward the noble work undertaken by the brotherhood.

The Wit and Wisdom of the Crayon.

The Hayden Art Club provided a veritable treat for the art lovers of Lincoln, in the lecture delivered last Tuesday evening at the university chapel by Mr. W. M. R. French of the Chicago Art Institute.

The relation of art to literature formed the chief topic of the lecture, which was happily illustrated by crayon drawings executed with marvellous rapidity and correctness. Mr. French drops stilted style of the usual lecturer and adopts a pleasant conversational tone with his hearers, which is very informal and tertaining, relieving the solid parts of his talk with bright anecdotes and witty sayings.

It is to be deplored that the audience was so small, as the talk was very instructive and amusing and those who were so fortunate as to have heard him, unite in saying that a pleasant two hours entertainment is very seldom had.

As a prelude to the lecture Prof. Menzendorf and Miss Cochran executed a beautiful violin and piano duet, "La Eschaterese" which was thoroughly in accord with the rest of the entertainment.

Miss Amy Fays Piano Conversation.

Miss Amy Fay of Chicago a former pupil of Liszt, gave a piano conversation at the Congregational church, Wednesday evening to a small but highly appreciative audience composed of Lincoln's musical talent and music lovers. The program consisted of selections from the works of the masters and each composer formed the subject of a short talk by Miss Fay before performing their compositions, which was delivered in an amusing and entertaining manner. Miss Fay is a brilliant pianist and is a worthy pupil of the great Liszt, with whom she studied for six years, during which time she wrote and published "Music studies in Germany" which is extensively read in this country. Her Beethoven's Sonata pastorale in D Major and Hopkins "Cicely" waltz were especially well received. Prof. Menzendorf and Miss Cochran executed a duet in their usual perfect style and Miss Lattimer sang a beautiful solo, Mrs. Raymond accompanying. Miss Fay will be heartily welcomed if she ever favors Lincoln with another visit.

The Bicycle Club.

The annual meeting of "The Lincoln Wheel club" was held last evening at the COURIER office. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year. President, H. L. Case; Vice-President, G. C. Pullman; Secretary and Treasurer, M. E. Wheeler; Captain, M. F. Van Horn; Lieutenant, Arthur Young; Bugler James Pollock.

The Union Club.

The Union club announces another of its delightful social gatherings to take place at the new club house Monday evening. Hereafter the apartments will be open to invited guests on the first Wednesday evening of each month. The club now being settled in their new home, one which they have cause to feel proud of, is unselfish in having such a charming resort and consequently as stated above extends invitations to its friends to enjoy their hospitality.

Seven O'clock Tea.

Mrs. J. F. Barnard entertained a pleasant company of about ten couples Thursday evening at her cozy home, sixteenth and H Streets. A toothsome collation at seven o'clock in form of an evening tea was enjoyed by all and as usual Mrs. Barnard distinguished herself as a royal hostess.

Married at Wilber.

Tuesday, February 26th, Mr. A. J. Palmer and Miss Nellie Fluke, both of this city, were united in marriage at Wilber, Neb.

This will no doubt be a surprise to a great number of our readers who have known Miss Fluke for a long time, she having lived in Lincoln nearly all her life and numbers her friends by the score. Mr. Palmer has also made a large number of acquaintances since he first went into the drug business with Mr. Lane on P Street, immediately upon his arrival in Lincoln. He has sold out his interests there however and become a partner in the firm of Roberts & Co., undertakers. The young couple have gone to housekeeping in a cozy home, 321 South 30th Street, where they will be pleased to see their friends.

The COURIER extends its best wishes for their future success and happiness.

Honoring the New Pastor.

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ewing will give a reception at their home, 417 South fourth-street, in honor of the new pastor of Trinity church and his estimable lady, Rev. Hewett and wife. The host and hostess extend a hearty welcome to all members and friends of the church and will endeavor to make their visit a pleasant one.

Birthday Party.

Juvenile society enjoyed a most happy occasion Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Holmes. It was the ninth anniversary of their bright young son, George, and to celebrate the event a number of friends were invited, and over fifty acceptances answered the summons. The party was from four till eight, during which time Miss Wolloughby furnished music for dancing, refreshments, cards and other games. Numerous pretty and some valuable presents were received and the occasion proved a most enjoyable one from beginning to end.

He Drew Off.

"You aren't going up on — street any more, I hear!" remarked one of a couple of young men who sat together in the theatre the other night.

"No; I have drawn off."

"Didn't you like the girl?"

"Oh, yes."

"Old man object?"

"Oh, no. He was too good."

"How?"

"Borrowed over $200 of me at one time and another and never repaid a dollar of it. I'd rather go with a girl whose father keeps a watch dog and a shot gun."—Detroit Free Press.

No Occasion for Thanks.

On one occasion when Tom Ochiltree returned home from congress there was very little travel upon the railroad, and he was the only person of consequence on the train. When it stopped at his town there was an unusual crowd around the depot, and, naturally enough, he thought it had assembled to welcome him. So he stepped out on the platform and began:

"Gentlemen, I thank you for this hearty demonstration."

"Demonstration! thunder," said one of the crowd. "John Ellis has just committed suicide in the depot."—Washington Critic.

A New Kind of Pie.

"Dutchy," said a customer who was discussing a light lunch in a lager beer saloon, "ain't this baker's pie?"

"No, sir," was Dutchy's emphatic reply. "So help me gracious, mine front, dot pie was all self made."—New York Sun.

Harnessed It.

"Shall I cut this loin of mutton saddle-way?" said a host to his guest.

"No," replied the latter, "cut it bridleyway, by all means, for then I may chance to get a bit in my mouth."—Fall River Advance.

Considered His Education Neglected.

A visitor, after passing around the cigars, turned to 4-year-old Sammy and asked: "Do you smoke, Sammy?" "No," replied the little one with a drawl. "I don't even chew."—New York World.

Whist.

Sixteen young ladies in Lowell have formed a whist club and meet weekly for practice. It is said that the neighbors can hear them play whist three blocks away.—Somerville Journal.

STRENGTHENING THE FIRM.

Mr. D. E. Cummings Announces Co-partnership With a Mr. Morris.

Just eighteen years ago Mr. Thomas Sewell the original owner of the business now conducted by Messrs Cummings & Morris, started in the store room that is at present occupied by the Globe Clothing house. In latter years, about 1884, Mr. John Betts entered Mr. Sewell's employ and when with him two years, together with a relative of the owner, purchased the business, the title of the new institution being Betts & Sewell, which soon after moved into quarters just completed at 1029 O street. Here trade continued to favor the young men with a large patronage, but finding other business more profitable and better suited to their taste, in 1888 disposed of the stock, fixtures and goodwill to Mr. D. E. Cummings who soon thereafter took into the firm Mr. L. M. Hupert, under the title Hupert & Cummings but recently repurchased his partners interest. The business continued to prosper under his management and thinking a change in location would prove advantageous both to the firm and its patrons, a move was made to the present excellent quarters, where Mr. Cummings has just associated himself with a Mr. Morris of Sycamore, Ill.

In introducing the new member of the firm to the public we take pleasure in bespeaking for him a most prosperous career. Mr. Morris is a thorough business man, enterprising and intelligent in his ideas of management, and having had a score of years experience in the grocery line, is certainly capable of successfully conducting the firm's extensive interests, and as additional capital is to be invested and the business increased, there is no reason, why Messrs Cummings & Morris should not do a business equal to the largest in the city.

The new store 130 south Twelfth street is in an excellent location, where ladies will prefer to attend in person to their wants. The large room is light and airy commodiously arranged and facilitates a more speedy and satisfactory transaction of business.

The stock now carried varies considerably from that of former years, in that it is larger and comprises a line of the very finest goods that can be bought anywhere, including the best of everything in imported cane, glass and jar goods. The firm's present expenses are lower than ever, rent, etc., being less than one-half of what O street rentals were. All purchases will be made for spot cash from first hands, thus obtaining lowest figures and best discounts, all of which will enable them to offer goods at lowest prices.

Particular attention is paid to orders by telephone or messenger, children sent for goods receiving same treatment and prices as given adults. A perfect delivery system is employed and all favors are placed at your door promptly and carefully. Telephone 30.

The COURIER knowing the capability of this new firm and having faith in their untiring efforts, predicts for them a continual increase in trade and hereby extends congratulations and best wishes for bountiful success.
