Philadelphia Patience. New Yorker—Well, I'm amazed. I've just heard that the Philadelphia street car companies charged 6 and 7 cents a ride for years and years and the people never kicked.

Impetuous but Enthusiastic Collector—Let me see, what is the price of that picture? Art Dealer—Eighteen hundred francs, madam.

Impetuous but Enthusiastic Collector—Eighteen hundred francs! Why, this is the third time I have asked the price of that painting within three days, and it is a hundred francs more each time I ask!

As Herr Hans Yager was standing inside his front gate yesterday evening enjoying his pipe his next door friendly neighbor said: "Rather a fine evening this, Herr Yager."

"I see by the papers that large numbers of Germans are still coming to this country."

"Well, what other cause can you assign?" "Well, I tell you how dot gones. You see, in dot gountry you nefer see some luncnes der dables dereon in saloons. Dot's vut der matter mit Bismarck vas. Dot's vut him vas so down der Amerigey hogs on."

"I reckon you are about right."

"You bet mein schweed life I got right."

Faith and Works. Two little sisters were about to start for Sunday school, and, looking at the clock, discovered that it was almost time for the session to begin.

Following a Scriptural Injunction. Amelia—Oh! you dear thing; how good of you to come!

Belinda—You darling! (They osculate.)

Uncle Bill—Can't you girls get along without kissing each other? But then I suppose you are only following the scriptural injunction.

Amelia and Belinda—What do you mean? Uncle Bill—Doing unto each other as you would have men do unto you.—Chicago America.

Not Asked to Sing. At a little social gathering, after several persons have sung, Wiggins (who prides himself on his voice)—I wonder why they don't ask me to sing!

Simon—You've sung here before, haven't you? "Yes, once. Why?" "Oh, nothing."—Chicago Herald.

He Won the Bet. Here is a story of Hans Von Bulow. An old acquaintance whom Von Bulow wanted to drop met him after a long absence, saying, "How do you do? I bet, though, that you don't remember my name."

A Brave Man. "Who is that inane looking dude over there?" "Inane! How can you say so! Why, he's the bravest man in New York. He actually had the courage the other day to leave the restaurant without tipping the waiter."

Satisfied. Young Lady Customer—Why, this box of writing paper is perfumed with a violet odor. How queer. What do you do that for? Clerk—So that your correspondence can be kept inviolate, miss.

Gubernatorial Headquarters. "Can I stay here to-night?" inquired the traveler at the hotel in Charleston, W. Va. "Sorry to disappoint you, sir," replied the clerk, briskly, "but our house is full and running over. All the governors of the state are stopping here."—Chicago News.

The Truth About It. "Don't be in such an awful hurry," said old Uncle Tobias to his nephews and nieces. "You lose a great deal by being in such an awful hurry. Lightning might do a great deal more if it wasn't always in such an awful hurry."—London Tid Bits.

Guided to Desperation. Philadelphia Judge—Why did you, a hitherto respectable and pacific citizen, kill your wife? Prisoner—Well, you see, judge, it's awfully dull at home on Sundays, and I wanted a little excitement.—Today.

Can Stand It Now. A London dude has been poisoned through sucking the head of his cane. This news will go a long way towards recommending us to the spectacle of a long eared, knock kneed exquisite absentmindedly chewing the knob of his stick.—Melbourne Punch.

Young Love on Its Way Home. Overhead glittered the stars of a cloudless sky in June, and the full moon beamed enchantingly on a landscape wrapped in repose.

"Bolivar!" exclaimed the maiden, as something by the roadside that seemed to reflect the pale radiance of the moonbeams caught her eye.

The young man stopped and looked at it. "It is nothing but a snail, Buena Vista," he said. "The beauty of the night has tempted it forth. It is a wonder," he continued, dreamily, "that all animate nature is not out for a moonlight stroll. The night is too lovely to be spent indoors, even in the restful slumber that first nature exacts after a day of toil."

The enjoyment of the wondrous loveliness of the evening seemed too deep for words, however, and in silence the young couple proceeded slowly on their way, communing only in that voiceless yet eloquent language that expresses itself in a glance of the eye, a pressure of the hand, or the softly breathed sigh that is felt rather than heard.

"No, Buena Vista, it is the same snail!"—Chicago Tribune.

The Provocation Was Great. "The officers say you attacked and pounded the complaining witness shamefully," said the court, in a tone of severe reproof.

"I acknowledge I used him pretty rough, your honor," confessed the prisoner. "He stopped me on the street and asked me if my name wasn't Chahokia. I answered him civilly that it wasn't, and then he said he had taken me for a St. Louis alderman he once met. I couldn't stand that, your honor. I went for him."

"Prisoner," exclaimed the impulsive Kansas city magistrate, reaching down and wringing his hand warmly, "you are discharged."—Chicago Tribune.

Tommy's Politeness. Tommy (at dinner table)—Mamma, when a little boy does anything impolite he always ought to beg pardon, oughtn't he? Mamma—Yes, my son.

Tommy (to guest)—Mr. Gobblum, I beg your pardon for thinking you eat just like a hired man.—Chicago Tribune.

He Caved. A train over the Bay City road, bound for Detroit, picked up an old man at a flag station, and when the conductor took up his fare he asked: "How far could a person without money travel on this train?"

"About half a mile." "And then you'd put 'em off?" "Yes." "Would you put a woman off?" "I'd have to."

"Thanks, that settles it. My old woman didn't want me to go to town, and she said she'd follow me to the end of the earth. She'll try it, but she hasn't got a cent to travel on, and when the conductor drops her along about here I can imagine the look!"

"Oh, in that case I should let her ride," interrupted the official.

"You would?" "Yes." "Then, if you'll kinder slack up when you cross at Skinner's, I'll kinder drop off and hoof it back. I reckon she's got the bulge on me and I might as well cave."—Detroit Free Press.

Rather Quiet in His Movements. The Diner Out has some vivacious young lady friends who recently arranged a surprise for a young man who is staying with the family this winter. He went to the theatre and they knew it would be quite late when he came home. They set at work, in miscellaneous girls' way, to disguise his room.

"Kate—What do you suppose he'll do, girl? I hope we'll know when he comes in. Bridget (looking on with an admiring grin)—Faith, miss, ay, you're right. He's so still! I often hear him comin' in an' he never makes a sound!—Lewiston Journal.

The Farmer and the Bee. A Farmer who picked up a Bee for inspection was stung in return, and in his rage he exclaimed: "Bass Ingrate! but haven't I provided you with a warm Hive and Plenty to Eat! Is this the way you return my Kindness?"

"Sorry to have hurt your Feelings," replied the insect, "but just remember that a Bee without a Stinger makes no Honey."

MORAL. A Friend who would not resent an insult or an injustice would not be worthy of the name.—Detroit Free Press.

Why She Married the Tenor. "So the belle of the choir has married the tenor?" "Yes." "I thought she favored the bass?" "Yes, but she got some high down notions into her head and threw over the bass for the tenor."

"For what reason?" "Because the tenor was more high toned."—Boston Courier.

Mr. Spurgeon, the English Baptist divine, recently sent a telegram to the parishioners of a church in the north of England. The words of this message are: "Take, therefore, no thought for the morrow," etc. By some blunder, however, the telegram as delivered read: "See Matt. v. 34," the words of which are: "But I say unto you swear not at all, a message which amazed the great preacher's flock."

Notice. to Caroline E. Sinnickson, non-resident defendant. You will take notice that on the 6th day of January, 1889, Charles P. Larson, plaintiff, filed his petition in the district court of Lancaster county, Nebraska, against you, the object and prayer of which is to foreclose a mortgage lien, filed by the plaintiff, upon the premises in block fifty-nine (59) in the city of Lincoln, Lancaster county, Nebraska, and the carriage factory building, erected and attached thereon, situated on the west side of the mortgage lien of Caroline E. Sinnickson declared to be junior and inferior to the lien of said plaintiff, that said premises may be sold and the proceeds thereof be applied to the payment of plaintiff's lien.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an execution issued by the Clerk of the District Court of the Second Judicial District of Nebraska, within and for Lancaster County, in the case of Hass and Zelt, Heirs, against Adams and James Mathews defendant, I will, at 2 o'clock p. m., on the 20th day of March, at 1889, at the front entrance to the District Court rooms in the city of Lincoln, Lancaster County, Nebraska, offer for sale at public auction the following described real estate to-wit:

Lot ten in Block two hundred and thirty-two, in the city of Lincoln, original plat. Given under my hand this 14th day of February, A. D. 1889. S. M. MELICK, Sheriff.

Sale Under Chattel Mortgage. To whom it may concern, You are hereby notified that on Saturday the 6th day of April 1889, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 1 o'clock p. m., at the building known as the Clay Manufacturing Company's woolen mills situated just north of the city of Lincoln in Lancaster County, Nebraska, I will sell at public auction to the highest and best bidder in cash the following described property: 22 sewing machines; 2 button hole machines; 3 crocheting machines; 3 knitting machines; 1 winding machine; 1 double rib machine; 1 wool working machine; 1 eye let machine; 1 creasing machine; 2 self acting spinning machines; 2 sets of carding; 1 bydraulic extractor; 1 fulling mill; 2 iron water tanks; 2 wool pickers; 1 wool duster; 1 safe; 2 desks; 1 horse; 1 wagon and harness, together with all bobbins, spoils, grinders, dye and scouring tanks and machines, shafting, belts, pulleys, pipes, valves and water pipes, chairs and furniture of every description, also all dye stuffs, all raw material, all material and goods in process of manufacture, all manufactured goods on hand, all wool, ribbon, buttons, thread, all blacksmith tools, steam pumps, lathe, hoist machines, ropes, etc., and all articles of personal property of every description whatsoever owned by the said, The Clay Manufacturing Company. All of said property above described being situated kept and used by the said Clay Manufacturing Company in connection with its woolen mill located in or near what is known as Yolande Place subdivision of the north half of the north west quarter of section thirteen (13), town ten (10), range six (6), east of the 6th P. M. in Lancaster County, Nebraska.

Such sale will be made under and according to the terms of a chattel mortgage given by the Clay Manufacturing Company to J. H. Hudson, on the 15th day of March, 1889, bearing date of that day and filed for record in the office of the county clerk of Lancaster County, Nebraska, on the 14th day of March, 1889. That said mortgage conveyed the property above described; the said mortgage was given to secure the sum of $9,500 with interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum from date until paid. That default has been made in the payment of said sum as in said mortgage provided and there is due to me and unpaid thereon this 14th day of March, 1889, the sum of $9,507.00 and costs of foreclosure and 5 per cent attorneys fees as in said mortgage provided.

J. A. HUDELSON, Mortgagee. By Talbot & Bryan, his Atty's. 5-16-89.

New Train Service on the Northwestern. By the new arrangement Lincoln patrons of this route have the only parlor cars in service in the west at their free disposal between Lincoln and Missouri Valley, Iowa, the junction point of the Elkhorn line with the Northwestern R. R. property. These cars are the same as used by this company between Chicago and Milwaukee and are the acme of railroad luxury and perfection in their appointments which consists of smoking, toilet and card compartments in addition to the main saloon, to say nothing of the porter in charge, all of which are furnished with beautifully upholstered and comfortable great arm chairs and couches except the parlor whose furnishing is in genuine ebony.

Leaving Lincoln on the afternoon train in one of these cars the passenger arrives at Missouri Valley at 4.45 p. m. A wait of fifteen minutes now occurs to allow passengers for Chicago and the east to select seats in the finest coaches in the railroad service or secure the accommodations reserved in the sleeper allotted to Lincoln patrons. Starting again at 5 p. m., the passenger finds him or herself in an elegant car, a part of the Northwestern Limited, a solid vestibuled train of coaches, sleeping and dining cars. Right here we will remark that the passenger is now in the finest train, running over the best track, and guided by the best service in the country. After a delightful run the train runs into Chicago on time at 8:25 a. m., in time to make the morning connections north, east and south. Don't take our word for this but try this line the next time you go east.

T. W. Burr, merchant, Delma, Tex., has used, sold and heard what people have said of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "It cures all kinds of rheumatism, sprains, soreness of the muscles, aches and pains. Sold by A. L. Shader, Druggist."

If the true merits of Dr. Cady's Condition Powders, were fully known by horse owners, they would prefer them to all other remedies for pain in their horses in a fine, healthy condition. They are constipation, loss of appetite, disordered kidneys, impure blood and all diseases requiring a good tonic, stimulant and alterative. Sold by A. L. Shader, Drug gist.
