HE CURED CYRUS.

The Old Man Wasn't Up on Athletics, but He Got There. "This 'ere athletics and gymnastics is all wrong," said the old man, as he laid down his paper and began to shake a three penny peanut.

And he said: "Father, raise yer dukes a little higher, and look out fur me!" "With that he tapped me on the storeroom with one hand and cuffed my ear with the other, and I sailed in. He gave me one on the tooth box as I closed in, but arter that the gate money was mine. I throwed him into the manger, over the fannin' mill, and behind the granary, and I was gone to run him through the cornsheller, when he holered 'Enough!' and begged me to let up on him.

The Back of Bowron's Head. George Bowron, as everybody knows, is the leader of the Columbia orchestra. In the course of last summer Mr. Bowron received a draft for money and took it to a bank and handed it through a little brass window to the cashier.

Usters in the Stomach. Conversation actually overheard on a street car. "How is your friend, Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Mulcahy?"

Valuable Oil. Dealer—Well, how did that keroseene suit you that I sold you the other day? "First rate. It saved me a good deal of money."

A Sanguine Patient. "What, doctor! You charge me a dollar a visit!" "But, my dear man, those are very low charges for Philadelphia."

Enamored Exertion. First Chappie—Why, Algernon, dear boy, what is the matter? You look weak and pale. You should consult a physician.

Rather Ambiguous. Patient—I'm not afraid to die, doctor, but I do dread being buried alive. Doctor—Oh, my!—Don't let that worry you. I'll see that you ain't.—Boston Courier.

One on Wilder.

Marshall P. Wilder tells rather a good story on himself, which I think has not appeared in print. He was walking down Br. 'dway the other day when a little girl, coming in the opposite direction, caught sight of him.

Scene—A dance at the Portman rooms (late Mme. Tussaud's). Ingenious Masquerade to Ancient Chaperons.—As I say—awfully draughty here, don't cherknow. Won't you go and sit in the 'Chamber of Horrors'—they've got a stove, and you'll feel so much more at home there, don't cherknow!—Punch.

THE LIME KILN CLUB.

Brother Gardner's Illustrations Are Not Received in a Friendly Spirit. "Do subject of our discussion die evenin'!" said Brother Gardner, as the meeting opened in due form.

"We expect to go right along from life walkin' on our ears an' feelin' as peart as a calf, an' when sickness seizes us we 'pear to be astonished dat sich things kin be."

"As human beings we an' unreasonable. We goes alshin' around like a steam bulging 'speckin' cherybilly will 'dize de rood an' giv us a free track. We don't count on c'm biles, headache, rheumatiz, sore throat an' lame backs, an' we reckon on dodgin' draughts, freshets, bilzards an' yaller fever."

The Hottest Spot on Earth. One of the hottest regions of the earth is along the Persian Gulf, where little or no rain falls. At Bahrin the arid shore has no fresh water, yet a comparatively numerous population contrives to live there, thanks to copious springs which burst forth from the bottom of the sea.

An Allment from Erie. A man stood on the postoffice steps the other day looking across the street, and a newsboy stood in front of the man gazing at him very fixedly.

A Matter of Course. Poseyboy—I tell you, Miss Skittish is the sanntest an' prettiest girl in this city! There are no flies on her.

Another Man. In a hospital in one of the large cities of central France the physician-in-chief, in the course of his round of inspection, approached a nurse, and after feeling the patient's pulse remarked: "Him—he is doing very nicely; his pulse is much better."

ROAN MOUNTAIN.

Descent Into a Mica Mine in East Tennessee—A Beautiful View. A correspondent, writing from the top of Roan mountain, Tenn., says: Here is a place said to be over two miles above the sea level, and there is only one thing that is sufficiently convincing of the fact, and that is you can see with a telescope a little village sixty miles away.

As is pretty well known, the country of East Tennessee is not thickly settled, and consequently the place is not in a very good state of cultivation. The thick wooded forests of the mountains produce the finest timber in the world, but they are so inaccessible to railroads and water courses that the land can be bought for $5 an acre.

Every Animal Its Own Doctor. Animals get rid of their parasites by using dust, mud, clay, etc. Those suffering from fever drink water, and sometimes plunge into it. When a dog has lost its appetite it eats that species of grass known as dog's grass, which acts as an emetic and a purgative.

Worldly Success. The "Man About Town" recently attended a banquet of the alumni of his old college and by chance occupied a seat next the valetictorian of his class.

What They Meant. When children are impressed by the personal misfortunes of others, they doubtless feel a comparative sympathy that do most people. A little girl once asked why a friend, who had been ill with smallpox, "had marks on her face."

Value of Ozone. Ozone is a form or phase of oxygen, supposed now by men of science to be developed by plant life, especially in the act of blossoming. The prevalence of epidemics is believed to coincide with the absence of ozone, or its decrease to a minimum.

Brick Pavements. Ordinary soft brick for paving material is well understood to be as poor a substance for the purpose as can be selected. Our brick sidewalks are damp, uneven and easily broken up, but vitrified brick is being used for even street pavements with great success.

How He Became Famous.

The Walker, Iowa, News says: "Our old friend, Robert Baird of Muscatine, Iowa, has been secretary of the State senate, and an active politician for years, but was never generally known until he had the colic and used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and got into one of their advertisements. "Now he is famous." Here is what Mr. Baird said: "While in Des Moines I was taken with a severe attack of bowel complaint. For two days I suffered intensely, trying several drug stores, and paying them for relief, but in vain. I finally bought a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and two doses of it brought me out all right. I consider it a grand remedy." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by O. L. Shrader, druggist.

Brown has secured the refreshment privilege at Cassman's park, and the public will be intelligently served by an experienced caterer.

If the true merits of Dr. Cady's Condition Powders, were fully known by horse owners, they would prefer them to all other remedies for putting their horses in a fine, healthy condition. They cure constipation, loss of appetite, disordered kidneys, impure blood, and all diseases requiring a good tonic, stimulant and alterative. Sold by A. L. Shaler, Druggist.
