SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Imhoff gave a progressive euchre party Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Morton of Nebraska City. Mr. Simmons of Philadelphia and Mr. Russell of Minneapolis. There were five tables and it was one of the most elegant affairs of the kind ever given in Lincoln. The prizes were particularly rich and costly. There were two, one for the gentlemen and one for the ladies. The former, won by Mr. George Foreman, was a beautiful etching, handsomely framed and ready to hang. The other was an exquisite Royal Worcester vase and was captured by Miss Alger. Messrs. Harry Hall and J. J. Imhoff organized a small picnic party that visited Cushman last evening. George Gadd was the host of a surprise party Thursday evening, at his home, Eighteenth and H streets. The following young people made a jolly evening of it: Art Foundstone, Alden Merrifield, Chas. Elliott, Maude Oakley, Grace Oakley, Florence Winger, Libbie Secrest, Frank Woodward, Will Frewitt, Florence Marley, Lucy Griffiths, Dell Simmonds, Dot Stire, Mr. Smith, Grace Burr, Art Munson, Alvin Townsend, Bessie Munson, Kate Snelling, Lou Johnson, Ora Barnes, Ed Patrick, Ray Leese, How Curtice, Stella Curtice, Lottie Theirs, Ed Cousaul. Miss Maggie Hallett entertained a small company informally Monday evening. The young people had a pleasant time with cards, dancing, etc. Miss Gadabout says that the engagement of another M street belle is likely to be announced soon, but the only additional satisfaction the gossip will give is the statement that it will be a brunette instead of a blonde this time. The Misses Oakley entertained a small company Wednesday evening. The "Dude's Pasture," as the tennis ground at H and Sixteenth streets is called, is as popular as ever. The young men have been exceedingly generous in their invitations to the ladies to use the courts, but some of the fellows who can only play after seven p. m. are grumbling just a little at being crowded out during their only available hour. An unknown correspondent favors the COURIER with an account of the "Characteristics" of some of the Pleasant Hour Junior belles. Newspapers fight shy of anonymous communications, suspecting them of having a sting concealed in their depths. This one seems to be harmless enough, but the young man who has contracted to be responsible for all the mistakes of the COURIER will not risk the publication of the names. Following are the "characteristics," and the intelligent reader may supply the names for himself: "Miss L. is a brunette noted for her sweet voice, bewitching eyes and pleasing manner. Miss H. is a charming brunette, with a beautiful complexion, perfect form, dimples which cannot be surpassed, her manner dignified. Miss H., pretty brunette with jolly manners. Miss O., blonde with fine carriage and dignified air, pleasing manner. Miss O., a pretty blonde with sweet manners. Miss G., brunette with charming eyes and jolly manners. Miss F., noted for stately carriage and beautiful eyes. Miss F. for her jolly manner and pretty appearance, Miss F. for her very attractive ways and pleasing manner. Miss L. for beautiful complexion, jolly manners and winning ways. Miss L. for her charming and pleasing manner, beautiful eyes. Miss A. is a pretty blonde, lively manner, chatty talker. Miss B. is noted for her wit and jolly manner. Miss L. for beautiful eyes, charming manner, attractiveness. Miss L., a pretty blonde with very sweet manners. These young ladies, together with a number of others, are beautiful dancers. Several Lincoln people will witness the Iowa regatta at Spirit Lake next Wednesday and Thursday. A night's ride takes one to the lake and lands him at Hotel Orleans for breakfast. All particulars about the route can be learned at the Elkhorn office. Lincoln lodge No. 378, I. O. B. B., has installed the following officers: Monitor, L. Kazany; president, Charles Maher; vice president, Willie Meyer; recording secretary, Isaac Friend; financial secretary, L. Liberman; treasurer, Charles Parks; warden, S. Seligsohn. If you want to give your friends at a distance a good impression of Lincoln send them the COURIER. The Omaha Bee of yesterday had the following: "David Stanton, a member of the book firm of Osterholm & Stanton of Lincoln, was united in marriage at the parlor of the Paxton hotel at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with Miss Jennie G. Odell of Lincoln. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Marquette. Mr. and Mrs. Stanton returned to their future home at Lincoln last night. The Sunday school class of Rev. Bradt of the East Lincoln Presbyterian church had to abandon a picnic planned for Tuesday on account of the rain. In the evening about thirty members gathered at the home of Mrs. Hutchinson, twenty-second and T streets, and had a pleasant social. The picnic will be had later. The Hot Springs, Dakota, are becoming a popular health resort for Nebraskans. During the past two months $1,000 worth of tickets have been sold at Lincoln alone. That doesn't count passes. It is reported that the Elkhorn is surveying a line to the springs and a branch of the road is only a question of time. Several Lincolnites are planting a little surplus capital in lots up there. Several items about the "Juniors" were received too late last week for use. Items for the COURIER should be sent to reach the office not later than Friday. Frank Zehring is expected home today and his partner, Mr. Dunn, will start for his European trip. Mrs. Zehring remains at Matou. George Foreman of the Elkhorn is spending ten days at his old home, Madison, Wis. Miss Ethel Marsland is the first Lincoln girl to appear in the streets riding a bicycle—a two-wheeled affair, not a tricycle, mind you. It is one of the new machines designed especially for ladies, and Miss Marsland rides it very well. It requires considerable courage to be the first lady in the new field, and Miss Marsland has attracted much attention. The new wheel is admirably adapted for its purpose, and in Washington there are several hundred lady byers. Col. Harry Hotchkiss is the author of a little book containing a manual of guard duty. It has been published by the state for distribution among the national guards. It has sixty-four pages and can be carried in the pocket. S. M. Ashby left Wednesday to visit wife and daughter at Eureka Springs, Ark. Ed Bomgardner has gone on a six-week trip to the wheat districts of Minnesota and Dakota to get an idea of the coming crop. He will visit the famous Dairyville farm among others. Miss Grace Harding of Nebraska City is expected today and will spend a week with Miss Laura Easterday. Mrs. J. E. Riggs and son left Thursday for a summer sojourn at Oconomowoc. Miss Carrie E. Coffin has gone to Spirit Lake, and M. I. Aitken expects to run up tonight to be on hand at the regatta. The Courdally at Wells' millinery office will go up Tuesday and referee the Iowa regatta. T. F. H. Schwake of the German National bank and E. R. Wells of Nisley's store have gone to Spirit Lake for an outing. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ziemer were accompanied on their trip "around the circle" by J. F. Lansing and family, T. D. Tyler, mother and sister and Mrs. Ziemer of Cleveland. They will return next week. Ed J. Roe, as popular and well known a commercial traveler as there is in Nebraska, is at the Capital hotel with a line of hats and caps for the fall trade. W. Morton Smith of the Republican bureau expects to run up to Spirit Lake for the Iowa regatta next week. Prof. Conway McMillan has returned from Minnetonka and will spend the remainder of the vacation in Lincoln. Among the departures of the week have been Mrs. John D. Knight for Fondra, N. Y., Mrs. A. D. French for New York, G. S. Freeman for Fort Dodge, Kan., Miss Jennie Thompson for New York, Mrs. Amanda and Miss Mollie Kite for Chanute, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brown and Mrs. M. A. Rulifson for New York, Miss Christine Joekel for Beatrice. Mrs. Charles J. Daubach is entertaining her sister, Miss Tot Melvin of Chicago. George Knight, the Elkhorn conductor, is entertaining his sister, Miss Dora Knight and Miss Maud Arnold of Chicago. Manager Andrus of Cushman Park has been warmly complimented by the Methodists for his efforts during the camp meeting. The Y. M. C. A. directors have opened bids for the proposed new building. They range from $35,000 to $63,000. Mrs. J. W. Randall, wife of Paving Inspector Randall, who was very low with acute congestive chills, is slowly recovering. C. H. Hoge of the Sunday Call, the most popular paper in Ft. Scott, Kansas, is in the city for his health and will remain two weeks. Auditor Benton returned from Manitow Sunday in time to put in a full week at his desk. H. A. Myer is in Ashland superintending a fine job for O'Neill the plumber. Al Fairbrother of the Call is at Tecumseh trying to shake the grip of rheumatism and nervousness. Mrs. M. D. Welch, whose visit to Hot Springs, Dakota, was delayed by the robbery of her husband's safe, left for that place Wednesday. E. H. Andrus has resumed the management of the Cushman park restaurant, and Brown again gives his whole attention to his down-town business. H. P. H., and her daughters, Misses Belle and Anna, have started on a European trip. They will spend the first two months in England. Miss Litta Crow has gone to St. Augustine, Ill. John M. Bell has returned from Omaha to visit with her mother at 530 South Eleventh street, and her friends will be pleased to know that she is to remain a month. C. M. Carter, deputy land commissioner, has been with his family attending the Long Pine Chautauqua. There are many occasions when a person has to look up a present for a female friend who is about to get married; then there are presentation and anniversary occasions for which valuable and useful articles have to be selected. Of course the man to see is Hallett, the Eleventh street jeweler, who has a big stock of appropriate articles in gold and silver from which to make selections. But what the COURIER wants to impress on your mind is this: That if you want to buy a ring, a watch or some silverware for yourself or own family the man to see is Hallett.
