 Parents should be careful that their children do not contract colds during the fall or early winter months. Such colds weaken the lungs and air passages, making the child much more likely to contract other colds during the winter. It is this succession of colds that causes catarrh or bronchitis or paves the way for consumption. Should a cold be contracted lose no time, but cure it as quickly as possible. A fifty-cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure any cold in a few days and leave the respiratory organs strong and healthy. For sale by A. L. Shadler, druggist.
 Bargains in Fine Stoves.
 At this season of the year nearly everybody is interested in what is the best stove and where is the best place to buy it. In another column in this issue will be found an advertisement of the Hart Hardware Co., wholesalers of stoves. They have a few of the celebrated Sterling base burner stoves left which they will sell, retail, at wholesale prices. Here's a chance to get a stove without paying a retailer's profit.

AMUSEMENTS.

Under the spur of Manager McReynolds and his prize horse the people of Lincoln turned out three nights to "Lost in New York." The play is a melo-drama—mostly mellow. It is not as lurid as some. Nor as hysterical. But it'll do. It consists of five acts and one tank:
 Act I—My God! I'm blind!
 Act II—My God!! I'm trapped!!
 Act III—My God!!! I'm not mad!!!
 Act IV—My God!!!! Must I beg????
 Act V—Thank God!!!!!! We're all right!!!!!!
 And the tank never says a word.

TONIGHT'S PERFORMANCE.
 The play at Funke's tonight is "Three Wives to One Husband," a new comedy, which is claimed to be the latest success in this line, in New York and London, at both of which places it has had long runs—in the former 300 nights and in New York 100 nights. The piece is made up of incidents centering on three bachelor relatives and a like number of lady friends, all of whom in some manner become engaged to one of the bachelors. Charming music and rich pure comedy go to make up an enjoyable entertainment. Milt G. Barlow, late of Barlow, Wilson, Primrose & West's minstrels, is the leading comedian of the company.

JANE COOMBS.
 At Funke's opera house next Monday evening Miss Jane Coombs will present "Bleak House." The Cincinnati Enquirer says of her: As Lady Dedlock and Hortense in Chas. Dickens' "Bleak House," she achieved success in two entirely dissimilar characters. She is an ideal Lady Dedlock. Charles Dickens' heroine was one of the most beautiful and accomplished women in his day, full of dash and courage in trying situations in which she was placed. Cold as an icicle at one moment and warm with passionate love for her child at another. Miss Coombs thrilled her audience in her powerful scene with Talkinghorne in the third act, where she defies him to do his worst, and won a magnificent recall for brilliant rendition of the scene. As Hortense, the crafty, cruel and relentless French woman, she displayed an intensity, a thirst for revenge, a subtle cunning entirely in keeping with this wonderful creation of Dickens. The supporting company was excellent.

AT FUNKE'S.
 "The Stowaway" will be given at Funke's opera house next Tuesday evening. This is a melo-drama of absorbing interest that has been constantly played in England for the past five years. It is said to have achieved a greater triumph in London than did the "Lights o' London," "Silver King," "The World" and other plays of its class. It is replete with stirring situations, startling climaxes and is pervaded with a vivid spirit of comedy. It was one of the greatest successes ever known at Niblo's theater, New York, where it won flattering commendation from the critics and played to the largest receipts taken at this theater in years. The newspapers of New York praised the production in glowing language. It is conceded that "The Stowaway" is one of the strongest melo-dramas ever written. That its cast is one of the best ever seen in a similar play. That its scenic effects—particularly the yacht in mid-ocean—are unequalled for beauty and realism, and finally, that the elements of popularity that it contains would serve as foundation for a dozen average plays. One of the striking features in "The Stowaway" is the introduction of two genuine burglars in an act of safe-breaking. A real safe will be blown open at each performance.

"KEEP IT DARK."
 Of the various comedies presented at Funke's last season, few equaled that of "Keep It Dark." Many of our theater-goers will recall this funny piece as being the one presented by W. T. Bryant and a strong company of comedians, and his pet expression "You so weak" still rings in the ears of those who almost convulsed themselves with laughter at the brisk dialogue and funny situations of the play. This popular attraction will be seen again at Funke's Wednesday evening with a stronger company than ever. Mr. Bryant, who is the original Mr. Vasline, is still on board assisted by such clever people as J. J. Quinn, Lizzie Richmond and others. The musical numbers include all of the popular airs, and the dancing will be even finer than heretofore. Seats go on sale Tuesday morning and as there is likely to be a full house it would be well to secure seats early.

"THE DEAR IRISH BOY."
 One of the popular new plays of the day is a comedy drama in five acts by Don McCarthy, entitled "Dear Irish Boy," which appears at Funke's next Friday and Saturday evenings. In the cast the author takes the leading role of "Teddy O'Neil" and is ably supported by Gustave Reynolds and other talent well known in Omaha the past week and the See of Tuesday gave it the following notice: "The play is in five acts and shows a great deal of skill on the part of the author, who himself acted the role of 'Teddy O'Neil,' and was ably supported by his co-star, Mr. Gustave Reynolds, as Mike McClutchey. The special scenery, notably among it the ruins of Castle Dars by moonlight, is very effective. The company is a very clever one, and will no doubt draw good houses for the remainder of its engagement."

EDEN MUSEE.
 "Musee parties" are one of the fads of Lincoln society, and scarcely a day passes that a company of young people from swaddom doesn't visit the Eden Musee. The past week has shown some excellent attractions, chief among them being Giovanni and his troupe of cocomos, which the ladies all say "are just too lovely for anything." They waltz, march, fire guns, ring bells, climb ladders, open doors and tell the time of day by looking at a watch taken from the number of minutes after the hour upon a bell. Then they strike the hour. It is a remarkable performance. The Madagascar people, the two survivors of those brought from Africa by Barnum, are curious looking with pink eyes and flaxen white hair. Next week will bring one of the most marvelous freaks of nature yet seen here. It will be Charles E. Hilliard, who seems to be all joints. He can at will dislocate hips, neck, knees, elbows, ankles and shoulders. As an illustration; one position results in the body and head facing one way, while the lower limbs are faced in an entirely opposite direction; the head faces west, the trunk east, and legs from the hips to the knees face east, and from the knees to ankles face west, while the feet face east. Manager Lawler is arranging a special exhibition for two o'clock Monday afternoon for the benefit of physicians and newspaper men. Among the other attractions will be Ben Butler, a trick pony; Garcia, the Mexican troubador; Young Shields, rope walker; Martin, Reno and Mack, the French clowns; Eddie Troy, the one-legged song and dance man; Ed and Belle Stanford, sketch artists.

For Weddings.
 Parties making preliminary arrangements for weddings will do well to call at the office of The Wessel Printing Company. We have a beautiful line of Wedding Invitations, Wedding Announcements, Reception Cards, Wedding Cake Boxes, etc. It will be well to give us a call—we can always be of assistance to you.
