SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. Al Fairbrother of the Call was regarded all along as an incorrigible bachelor, but he has taken the state by surprise. He left the city estensibly to visit in Dakota, and did write a letter from Pierre that the real estate sharks did not pay for. Then he quietly slipped off to far-away North Carolina and got married. Mr. Fairbrother is a writer of force who has attracted the attention of the teste by his work on the Omaha Res. and in state by his work on the Omaha Bee and in his own newspaper ventures. Consequently there is a very general interest in his wedding. We have an impression that the young lady lived in Nebraska about two years ago, but for other particulars the COURIER can do no better than to copy the announcement of Tuesday's Call, apparently written by Mr. Bushnell. It is as follows: "A telegram to the family man of the Call this afternoon the family man of the Call this afternoon brings the good tidings of great joy that Mr. Fairbrother, managing editor of this paper, was married this morning to Miss Mamie L. Hatchett of Henderson, North Carolina, at her home in that city. The wedding was a very quiet one and was held in the Episcopai church of that place, of which church the bride is a member, Rev. J. E. Ingle performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Fairbrother will visit for a few days in Washington and Chicago and will reach this city about the 15th, where they have a pleasant home prepared where they have a pleasant home prepared and waiting for them in South Lincoln at the corner of Maple and Sixteenth streets. The bride is one of the most gifted and accomplished young women of the south, whose name and work is not limited to the state that has been her home. For the past year readers of the Call have had at different times the pleasure of reading articles from her busy pen. A highly educated and accomplished young lady, she has won the hearts of many through her writings that have appeared in the New York World and many eastern papers and periodicals. In a recent article the Arkansas Life said of her: 'Miss Hatchett is young. winsome and enthusiastic, and her influence is a blessing to the south, and especially to the state of her adoption.' For the past year she has ably conducted at her home at Henderson the paper published at the Masonic Orphans' home of North Carolina, and in a recent issue a prominent paper said of her:
'The brainest, most gifted, and most brilliant woman in North Carolina is to be married the 5th of November.' The Call, that moves the 5th of November.' The Call, that moves along its uninterrupted, winning way, felicitates itself upon the happy consummation of the hopes of its managing editor. The family man sees in this the effect of his good exam ple, and the rest of the firm looks startled as he beholds his own loneliness. That the good people of Lincoln will find in Mrs. Fairbrother a lady who will grace every social circle there can be no doubt, and Lincoln will share with the Call in the proper congratulations,"

In a recent article in the Youth's Companion on "How to Cure a Cold" the writer advised a hot lemonade to be taken at bedtime. It is a dangerous treatment, especially during the severe cold weather of the winter months, as it opens the pores of the skin and leaves the system in such a condition that another and a much more severe cold is almost certain to be contracted. Many years constant use and the experience of thousands of persons of all ages, has fully demonstrated that there is nothing better for a severe cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It acts in perfect harmony with nature, relieves the lungs, liquifies the tough tenacious mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and restores the system to a strong and healthy condition. A Set of Dickens' Works Free. Being anxious to make a showing of 1500 new subscribers added during 1889, the Cou-RIKE has decided to make an unprecedented offer in order to accomplish that end. Commencing October 15 we will give to every new mbscriber paying $2.50, a set of 12—TWELVE VOLUMES—12 of Charles Dickens' works, and send the Courier from now until January 1, 1891. Addresses may be changed at any time with out extra charge, in case of removal.

The books are neatly bound in paper covers and a paragon of excellence generally. Now is the time to subscribe. The Counter for nearly fifteen months and a set of Dickens works for only $2.50. Just think of it! The COUNTR from now until Jan. 1, '91, would cost $2.50, and thus by ordering now you get young library free.
Old subscribers may also take advantage of this by paying up arrears, if such be the case, and the amount as above specified.

Address all communications relative to the Wessel Printing Co.,

Lincoln, Neb. S .- If you would like the set of Dickens and don't care for more papers than you are now taking, the above offer also holds good for papers to be sent out of town.

Colonists' Sleepers.

The Union Pacific Railway, also known as The Overland Route, has lately added to its service a number of new cars, (which, by the way, were built by the world-famous Pullman company) entitled Colonist Sleepers, and which for comfort and convenience are but little behind the handsome Pullman Palace car. The cars are designed for the use and comfort of the Colonist, who with his family intend moving west to grow up with th

The only difference between these cars and the regular first-class Pullman is that the Colonist sleeper is not upholstered. There are fourteen sections in each car, and sepa-rate toilet rooms for ladies and gentlemen. At night, by means of sliding headboards and heavy damask curtains, as much privacy is secured as if in the regular first-class sleeper. Plenty of fresh, clean towels and a good supply of water are also to be found. A uni formed porter accompanies each car to look after the comfort and attend to the wants of the passengers, and no smoking is allowed. It certainly seems that for cheap and commodious sleeping accommodations, while travel-ing, these cars cannot be excelled.

REV. ADA C. BOWLES

An American Woman Who Has Dared to Preach.

(Special Correspond CHICAGO, Nov. 7 .- The Rev. Ada C. Bowles comes from the sturdy stock of New England, which gave to the republic its educational system. She was born in Gloucester, Mass., in 1836. She grew up with a passionate fondness for the sea and is, as she has always been, equally at home either in or on the water. She is an expert swimmer, and her undaunted courage and rare presence of mind have enabled her upon different occasions to rescue persons from drowning. Nature gave her a sound mind in a ound body, and her early life among the rocks of Cape Ann gave her the well balanced physical development which resulted in a perfectly healthy womanbood. Acquiring rapidly and with ease all that was taught in the public schools of Gloucester, she was yet wholly unsatisfied with her attainments and pushed forward with different studies by herself. At the age of 15 she began to teach in the public schools. She continued in this vocation until she was 22, employing, meanwhile, such leisure as she could command in study and in writing for the press. She then married a popular clergyman, Rev. B. F. Bowles, pastor of the Universalist church, at Melrose, Mass.

Although by this marriage she became the stepmother of three children and later the mother of three more, she still found time for a variety of church work. including teaching an adult Bible class. Her success with this class led her to deeper theological study, under the direction of her husband. Mr. Bowles is a man who recognizes in his wife a talented human being, possessed of ability if not identical, at least equal with his own. He desired that his wife should having given her a thorough course in theology, he encouraged her to preach the gospel, which she had long felt called large cities of the United States. At present Mrs. Bowles is the non resident pastor of the Universalist church at East Gloucester, Mass., while her husband has charge of the Universalist church at Abingdon, in the same state. One of her family asserts that her sense of humor and unfailing good spirits are a constant source of brightness in the household. Indeed, so well ordered is her home that among her friends and coworkers she is known as the "model housekeeper." One of her most popular lectures is "Strong Minded Housekeeping," which is an em-podiment of her own experience. Mrs. Bowles is possessed of remarkable mechanical dexterity and handles a ham mer and saw as cleverly as a rolling pin. She is small of stature, with a strong magnetic face and soft curling iron gray hair. She is lithe and full of nervous energy, and in speaking is not only enthusiastic and eloquent, but is clear and logical, with an intense sincerity which appeals to the convictions.
