ELECTRICITY ON THE RAIL

Another Achievement in Lighting Recently Introduced by a Railroad.

The past decade has been one of continuous evolution in science and other progressive spheres, and not the least has the railroad commanded attention in this respect.

It is not, however, necessary that you go to bed to enjoy this convenience, for during the day it may also be used while seated in your apartment. At times the chandelier gives insufficient light, then again this little comforter is the more appreciated.

The Milwaukee fast train offers all the inducements given by the other trunk lines. The dining cars, magnificent and large, furnish a menu equal to that set at any of the finest hotels of the country, while the service is of the highest order.

make connections with all trains from the west and southwest. Ed Slason, the Union Pacific agent at this point, reports a heavy demand for tickets via this favorite route.

School children will learn much faster if they are made comfortable and kept in perfect health. Very few escape severe coughs and colds during the winter months.

"I have observed," remarked a mean old bachelor, trying to be funny, "that when one has fortune and adds Miss to it, he has misfortune thereafter."

Doctor Cotta—Pretty bad lip you've got there, my boy; but I think we can fix it. Patient—Tain't th' lip, doc. I play a fife in th' Ninth ward drum corps. I called to see about a cough.—Judge.

Typographical. "Hello," said the quid, as the compe, threw him in, "you're a hard looking case, did you know that?"

"No wonder," grunted the case, "I've been on the rack so long." "You seem to be out of form, too," remarked a thin spire, from its box.

"You're getting saucy," put in a hyphen as it came along. "Thinking of the galley left behind him, I suppose!" at which the other types giggled.

"I'll be dashed!" cried the unlucky quid, "if you'd been looked up as long as I have!" "I was just going to ask you the matter was," interrupted the period. "I thought perhaps you needed qu' in."

"Stop!" said the exasperated quid, "I've comma long way, and I won't be insulted this way." Things began to look squally, when the compositor shook up the case, and made them all behave.—Lawrence American.

His Suggestion. A colonel in the French army who had a great eye for business but not much of an ear for music took occasion one day to compliment his band master on the appearance of his men.

"You must train your men, when they perform, to lift their fingers all at exactly the same time and at regular intervals on their instruments, so—one, two! one, two!"—Argonaut.

Not Twins. Mrs. M—met frequently two charming little girls going to school who looked each very much like the other.

With an indignant shake of her curls she answered: "No! We're both girls."—Texas Siftings.

Thinks He Can Do Without It. "Papa," said Mabel, "were you ever in an ice palace?"

"No," said the old gentleman, "but I've had to get up at 6 o'clock in the morning in January to see what was the matter with the heating apparatus, and I guess I'll try and worry along without an ice palace."—Washington Post.

He Was Wounded Early. Pension Examiner—In what battle were you wounded? Applicant for Pension—I was wounded at Shiloh Church.

Applicant—Yes, I belonged to the choir, and got my head mashed with the organ stool at the beginning of hostilities.—Arcola Record.
