J. Florence, and over a hundred others, either in stage costume or street attire.

Fortunate are they who are invited to partake of the hospitality of Mrs. W. R. Hargreaves, for it abounds with a gracious cheeriness that ensures rare pleasure. Mrs. Hargreaves gave two evening high five parties this week, and jolly companies were. On Wednesday evening the guests were Messrs. and Mesdames R. H. Oakley, L. C. Burr, John Doolittle, A. E. Hargreaves, Wm. Green, Ed. Green, N. C. Richards, S. H. Burnham, Carl Funke, Lawrence Heiskell, Righter, Baird, Buckstaff, Perry, Dorr and Harley. The favors were unusually elegant and costly and were won by Mr. and Mrs. Buckstaff. On Thursday evening the company comprised Messrs. and Mesdames Ziemer, Wolcott, Swan, Dennis, Leonard, Boehmer, Agden, H. E. Lewis, E. P. Holmes, F. W. Lewis, C. C. Burr and L. W. Heiskell, Dr. Reeves, Mr. Richter and Miss Price. The handsome prizes were captured by Mr. Wolcott and Mrs. Leonard. Mrs. Hargreaves will entertain a large company of ladies at high five Monday afternoon.

Miss Outcalt gave an at home yesterday afternoon, and entertained a large company of ladies in honor of her guest, Miss White of St. Louis. Mirth provoking high five was a feature of the entertainment. The prizes were a silver teaspoon and a tiny after-dinner silver spoon, their relative sizes being delicately suggestive of first and second honors. The invited guests were Mesdames H. L. Ewing, W. H. Thrift, J. B. Buchanan, J. E. Smith and Wm. Pickrell, all of Beatrice; Mrs. Henry Mansfield of Peoria. Mrs. J. E. Baum and Mrs. D. H. Wheeler of Omaha, Miss Price of Chicago, Mesdames H. E. Lewis, Burnham, Leonard, McFarland, W. B. Hargreaves, Buckstaff, Moshier, Foreman, Maxwell, F. H. Oakley, Dorr, Gere, Phillips, Atkinson, Little, Carl Funke, Ogden, Appleget, Tucker, Baird, Jansen, John Zehrank, Hewitt, Townley, A. E. Hargreaves, Swan and Bosseman; Mesdames Anna Funke, Oakley, Nellie Brunson, Furst, Latta, Olive Latta, Harris and Rose.

Mr. Henry Mansfield, jr., and Miss Clara Funke were married last Wednesday at the bride's home, 1021 D street. On account of the recent death in the bride's family the wedding ceremonies were simple and quiet in the extreme, and were witnessed only by a small company of the relatives of the contracting parties. The newly married couple took the afternoon train for a wedding trip east and will visit at the groom's former home, Peoria, Ill., en route home. The bride's family are among the oldest and best known residents of the Capital City. The bride has grown to womanhood in Lincoln, and her womanly graces command the esteem of the whole community to a rare degree. She is concededly a social leader, and a host of friends wish her unalloyed happiness. The love of kinsmen and the esteem of friends were testified in numerous elegant wedding gifts.

The wedding of Mr. Harry Crandall and Miss Alice Huff, M. D., was celebrated quietly last Sunday in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. O. A. Williams at noon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Huff. Mr. and Mrs. Crandall have returned from a short wedding journey, and are at home at the residence of the bride's parents, 1846 Euclid avenue. The groom is interested with his father in the Crandall Pattern and Model works, which give promise of developing into an important manufacturing concern. The bride has been a practicing physician for six years, half that time in Lincoln. She has been successful in her profession, and has won the esteem of a large circle. Mr. and Mrs. Crandall have many friends, who unite in wishing them a happy wedded life.

Marshal division, Uniformed Rank of Knights of Pythias, closed a series of enjoyable hops Thursday evening with a fine May party at Bohannan's hall. The room was handsomely decorated, and a large company was in attendance. Refreshments were served during the intermission. A pretty feature of the evening was a May pole dance under direction of Mr. S. A. Warner by the following girls: Lena Warner, Lulu Krone, Laura Dethlefs, Vergie Pace, Minnie Naden, Bertha Poston, Belle Kramer, Lily Kramer, Blanche Brown, Fannie Wright, Grace Sparks, Nannie Hood, Maud Mills, Emma Veith, Mary Veith, Grace Newton, Kittie Warner, Mammie Joers, Maudie Grant, Sadie Grimes, Jennie Rohm, Grace Rohm, Ethel Faucher and Myrtle Bohannan.

Mrs. J. W. Maxwell gave a very pleasant at home Thursday afternoon, assisted by Miss Oakley. The cozy home was fragrant with roses and lilacs, and roses were presented to the guests on their arrival. Elastic dartle, a variation of the game of high five, filled up a very enjoyable afternoon. The royal prize was won by Mrs. Holyoke and the consolation fell to Mrs. Dorr. The guests were Mesdames Leonard, McFarland, Beeson, Buckstaff, Sheldon, Eddy, Foster, Holyoke, Perry, Harley, Criley, Ogden, Swan, Putnam, W. B. Hargreaves, S. G. Dorr and R. H. Oakley; Mesdames White of St. Louis, Saunders, Marquette, Suddith, Price, Latta, McBride, Brown, Outcalt, Hawkins and Furst.

Geo. W. Semmons has the sympathy of the whole community in his failure. He was a bright, energetic business man and a pleasant fellow personally. He succumbed to a combination of circumstances, chief among which were a big stock of winter goods and very little winter weather. He put a vim into the trade and introduced methods that have had a marked effect on the business of the city.

Rev. and Mrs. Hewitt gave a lovely reception Thursday evening and entertained about twenty-five of Mr. Hewitt's parishioners. Among the company were Messrs. and Mesdames Hammond, Harley, Kier, Buckstaff, Manning, W. C. Miller, Chas. Lippincott, E. P. Ewing and A. J. Marshall, Mrs. Thomas Sewell and Mr. Walsh.

Frank Luyster, for a long time head salesman for Perkins Bros., has accepted a responsible position with Briscoe the shoe man. Mr. Luyster is one of the best known and most successful salesmen in the city, and is deservedly popular with the trade. Briscoe will move into the Exposition next week.

Deluged with Offers of Marriage.

Miss Lillian Almonte Lathrop, the young woman to whose presence of mind and heroism seven children of Buffalo, N. Y., owe their lives, has found that there is a bitter as well as a sweet taste in the cup of fame. She is now a resident of Chicago, and the recent story of her bravery has brought her numerous unwelcome offers, both matrimonial and professional. She does not care to marry yet, and the proposals made her to resume a stage career hardly meet her requirements as an actress. She said the other day, regarding the report that a testimonial purse of $500 awaited her at Buffalo, that the story was without foundation.

A Horse Frightened to Death.

"An elephant," says a modern humorist, "is a square animal, with a leg at each corner and a tail at each end." A horse belonging to an English tradesman, seeing one of these "square animals" for the first time recently, jumped into the air and fell dead. His owner promptly brought suit for damages against the proprietor of the menagerie and obtained a verdict. The case may prove valuable as a precedent when some other equine expires at viewing the monstrous pachyderm with the double tail.

After the Blythe Millions.

The millions left behind by Thomas H. Blythe, the California capitalist who died some time ago at San Francisco, still remain in legal custody pending a decision as to who is the rightful heir. The deceased plutocrat had a most sensational career. He was a poor English boy of doubtful parentage. He drifted to the Pacific coast during the "flush times" of the last generation and made a large amount of money. After that he contracted unlaful domestic alliances in London and at San Francisco. He died suddenly in the rooms of a female, who declared herself his wife under the common law. He will leave all his estate to a female child by an English woman. After his death a swarm of people appeared, who based their claims to share in the great fortune on the grounds of relationship. One of the latest to assert an interest in the property is Carlton H. Blyth, of London, who is quite sure the dead man was his cousin. The case, already very much mixed, is now likely to be still further complicated.

CARLTON H. BLYTH.
