A New Dry Goods Store

For a week past arrangements have been going on for the opening of a new dry goods house, which event will transpire on Mon-day next, when Messrs. Ryder & Hinkley will make their bow to the Lincoln public at 1329 O street, the premises recently vacated by Briscoe, the shoe man. These gentlemen do not come to Nebraska's capital city to learn the business, nor to see what Lincoln has in store for them, for they both have had years of experience and are fully acquainted with every detail of the dry goods industry. They are not entire strangers in Lincoln and therefore know that there is a good opening here in their line, feeling confi-dent of success from the start, which the Jap Fans

COURIER hopes they will merit, as both gen-tlemen are enterprising and energetic, two ssential qualifications for success in these odern times, As an opening attraction, Ryder & Hink ley will place on sale Monday morning 6,000 bolts of ribbon, in all shades, colors and qualities, including the reigning novelties of the senson. These goods will be sold at actual bargain prices, viz: All 50 cent rib bons for 25 cents, all 25 cent ribbons for 121-2 cents-in short, every kind and quality will be dealt out at just one-half regular prices. The new firm invites all the ladies to call and see their stock, being confident that a call will insure future business relations. Huffman & Richter are again prepared to do pleating for ladies.

There are so many gas stoves on the market nowadays that it is hard to tell who has the best one. If you are thinking of buying one go to Hooker & Orr, 940 South Eleventh street, and let them show you their gas stove. It is the finest made and stan is unexcelled.

It is the finest made and stan is unexcelled. Mrs. Markell's new line of spring millinery embraces all the newest novelties, as well as the prettiest and most stylish shapes for both old and young. Ladies interested should not fail to call at Mrs. Markell's new place, 1225 O street, and see the elegant variety and note the low prices. The Gas Stove has commenced to replace the hot kitchen stove for cooking purposes. The Gilt Edge gas stove which is the latest in-vention has just been introduced by Messrs. F. A. Korsmeyer & Co., and a careful ex-amination of its merits will convince any one that it is cheaper and much superior in every way to the old style stove.

The photographs of prominent actors and actresses shown and for sale at the COURDER counting rooms are the finest productions of the art. The work is that of Falk, the celethe art. Marquette, Carrie Dennis, Furst and Price. When you use engraved cards or invita-tions, you have the finest work of the kind that can be produced. Even her royal high-ness, Queen Victoria, uses just such engraved cards as are sold at the Counizs office, but instead of Lincolnites paying $3.50 to $5.00 per hundred for them, which is the price in London, New York and Chicago, they pay but $2.50 per hundred. And this price does not change the quality of material or work-manship, for in the large cities you pay for style, while in Lincoln in order to create a de-mand we must get down close to cost prices.
