Dr. L. H. Robbins committed suicide Tuesday morning, by cutting his throat with one of his surgical instruments.

One night three weeks ago he heard a noise down stairs in his house and started to investigate.

He carried a revolver which was cocked ready for use. He made a misstep on the stairs and the revolver went off, the ball striking one of his feet.

The doctor suffered intense pain from the wound, which is supposed to have driven him temporarily insane. He leaves two young children.

Summer is now here in earnest and most people are providing themselves with seasonable wearing apparel.

Dressy people carry this out even to their footwear, which gives comfort and pleasure.

Brice's shoe-man is handling an unusually large line of shoes suitable for summer wear.

Of course he has any quantity of the ordinary grades, but if you want an exceptionally fine shoe you should look at the Seal and Kangaroo oxfords and the patent leathers.

These are displayed in a variety of styles to suit different tastes, and they are made on lasts to fit all sizes of feet.

Gentlemen particularly should examine Brice's splendid stock if they want a neat, noble and comfortable shoe for summer.

Remember the place, at the new Exposition.

During the past season not less than forty farce comedies have been submitted to the management of the Chicago opera house.

Many of these possess considerable merit in situation and dialogue. Two of the authors were willing to pay the cost of production and stand the losses, if any, in order to have a public hearing.

The leading question now is: "Are you provided with a bottle of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhea remedy, as a safe-guard against an attack of bowel complaint during the summer months?"

No family can afford to risk being without this invaluable medicine during the hot weather. It is almost certain to be needed, and is a friend indeed when required, as it never fails and is pleasant and safe to take.

25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. L. Shader.

C. H. Hoyt's latest play will be called "A Trip to Chinatown." Mr. Hoyt is now at his summer home, Charlestown, N. H.
