Selling Books by Subscription. The method of selling books by subscription has many advantages over any other, and is daily growing in importance and popularity.

The Riverside Publishing Co., St. Louis, Mo., offers profitable employment to all who wish to engage in the business.

Another splendid book, averaging at fifteen hundred sets a month, is Bidpath's Cyclopaedia of Universal History, a book that is bound to be read by tens of thousands of scholars, and by those who lay no claim to scholarship.

The Lincoln Steam Laundry having recently changed hands and undergone many improvements is now better than ever prepared to execute work in the very best manner, promptly and at popular prices.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Beam of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, in the treatment of diarrhoea in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers.

"Want" Ads for the Journal. In order to serve the convenience of its patrons who may wish to use the "want" columns of the Journal the OFFICE will receive such advertisements at the regular rates and transmit them to the Journal.

established The Evening Post. Later on he sold his interest in that sheet and became part owner and managing editor of The Commercial.

During the time of his connection with The Commercial he held a custom house position, and discharged his duty both to the government and to the newspaper in a satisfactory manner.

His location proved a fortunate one. His farm was principally laid out in town lots, and he now owns valuable business property where once sage brush afforded scanty winter forage for hungry cattle.

In 1879-80 he was employed under Mr. Howlett on the staff of The Commercial, and having business at North Yakima took occasion to visit his former chief.

MR. HOWLETT'S RESIDENCE

of Washington. He has been talked of for congress, and some time in the future the Washington reporters may possibly see their former associate occupying a seat in one wing of the Capitol.

W. G. BENTON.

Some Cannibalistic Arguments.

Regarding the inhabitants of the upper Congo, an adherent of the Congo, a Catholic missionary furnishes some curious particulars. The natives are cannibals, and when the good father endeavored to dissuade them from the practice on the ground that "human flesh is detestable" they replied: "Pardon, but what do you know about it? With salt and spices it is, on the contrary, delicious."

North Dakota's Republican Leader. May 15, 1880, Andrew H. Burke, Republican nominee for governor of North Dakota, was born in New York city.

ANDREW H. BURKE

and was identified for some time with newspapers at Evansville, Ind. In 1880 he became a resident of Casselton, Dak., where he has filled the positions of bank cashier and county treasurer. The latter office he now holds.
