The Hot Springs of Dakota. These springs are rapidly becoming famous on account of the wonderful curative properties of the waters, and the many marvelous cures which have been effected by the thermal baths.

The town and springs are delightfully situated in a picturesque valley in the Black Hills country, abounding in beautiful scenic effects, and at an altitude of 3,400 feet above the sea level; thus insuring a pure atmosphere and exhilarating climate, absolutely free from malaria.

Under the enterprising and progressive management of the Hot Springs company many desirable improvements have been made; among the number the erection of a commodious bath house fitted up with all modern conveniences for the comfort of guests. New hotels have been built and comfortably furnished throughout, conducted in first-class style and at reasonable rates. Those who prefer stopping at a private house will find many desirable boarding places where good accommodations are furnished at moderate prices.

The superior daily service now afforded by the Burlington Route to Hot Springs, with through sleeping car accommodations from Omaha, Lincoln, Aurora and Grand Island makes the trip an easy and enjoyable one; and for the benefit of all who desire to test the efficacy of the waters, round trip tickets at reduced rates, good for ninety days are now on sale at all offices of the Burlington Route.

For pamphlet, descriptive of the springs, and full information as to rates, time, etc., apply to any agent of the company, or to J. FRANCIS, Gen'l Pass'r & Tkt' Agent, Omaha, Neb.

The Dakota Hot Springs. The improvements that have taken place at the Dakota Hot Springs during the past year make it now one of the most popular, attractive and desirable resorts of the country. In addition to the benefits to be derived from the use of the water, the superior climate and beautiful natural surroundings render it an especially attractive resort, while the curative properties of the water makes the Springs a rival of the famous Hot Springs of Arkansas. Ample hotel accommodations are provided at reasonable rates, and the journey to and from can now be quickly and comfortably made via the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley Railroad, the only all rail line to the Hot Springs. Excursion tickets are sold at reduced rates. Full information can be obtained on application to W. M. SHIPMAN, Gen. Agt., Lincoln, Neb., or street, E. T. Moore, Depot Tkt. Agt., Cor. 8th and S streets, or to J. R. Buckingham, Gen. Pass. Agt., Omaha, Neb.

WOMEN'S DRESS TODAY.
TASTE AND BEAUTY POSSIBLE AT LOW PRICE THIS SEASON.

Olive Harper Describes an India Silk Walking Dress and a Garden Party Gown of Satin—The New Fabrics of the Autumn Described.

[Special Correspondence.]
NEW YORK, July 23.—There never has been a season in my recollection when a woman could dress so prettily and tastefully at a low price as now. There are so many beautiful fabrics that are also cheap ones that there is no reason why a woman should not dress well and becomingly. China, pongee, India and other summer silks are very cheap, and they require little trimming after the prevailing styles. Old dresses can be covered with lace, cheap as to price but exceedingly pretty in design, and no matter how cheap the lace it is always pretty and good for one season at least.

I saw a lady yesterday in a dress of goblin blue India silk which I know she wore last season, and it had been remade with a double ruffle of black lace around the bottom and a basque of black Spanish net. The basque ended on the shoulders in a sort of puffed brette and was puffed on the shoulders. The remainder of the costume was of the silk, and very handsome it was too. Around the bottom of the waist there was a puff of the lace like that on the shoulders, a very novel and effective idea. A dainty little bonnet of the blue with three pink roses finished the costume.

A dress which was made for a young married lady to wear at the Southern society reception had a skirt of old rose satin, with a reversed plaiting of the same around the bottom about four inches wide, and this was headed by a flat gold braid about half an inch wide. The Louis XV coat was of the same, with very narrow gold braid around the revers and cuffs. A full jabot of white lace filled in the neck and fell below the cuffs. The whole made an elegant toilet and really cost very little money, as the lady made it herself.

I could not help admiring another simple dress for its grace and adaptability to the wearer and the surroundings. It was a satine, pink with brown flowers in quite large pattern. The skirt is made with a ruffle, a puff and a very novel drapery at the top. The waist resembles it and is trimmed with a novelty cotton brocade in brown and cream. The back has postillions of the novelty. Altogether it could not be prettier. It was for a garden party, and it can be imagined that it would show up against the green of the foliage in high relief. A cream challee with lilac sprays would be lovely in this style. It requires a very flexible material to drape well in this style.

Among the new goods now arriving for fall is a beautiful white corduroy. It is really not exactly white, but pearl or cream, and it will be largely used for jackets for young women and children, and will be trimmed with gold braid and either large pearl buttons or gilt ones, according to the requirements.

Wash silks are more popular than ever, and for fall there is an infinite variety of new shades, colors and patterns. They are all striped or checked and in delicate colors. They wash better than cambria and look better, and there is nothing that feels so nice as silk.

There will be no end of night robes for ladies made of this lovely material. They are not made like the regulation nightgown, however, but more like a morning wrapper and they are so very dainty and pretty that they can be worn in the mornings if so desired, only adding a cord and tassels, or belt of ribbon with long ends. There are silk gingham for young ladies and little girls. They are tough and strong and keep clean a long time, and they do not require much trimming. Some of the new Bengalines and foulards have such flaring and decorative patterns that large women are practically debarred from wearing them, still the perfection of the designs is great enough to make us excuse them.

There is corduroy silk which is superbly rich and handsome. It will be combined with plain silk or satin. Some of the new saras are showing Roman stripes, but the usually brilliant primary colors are softened and better blended than before. Some of them have damask flowers on the alternate stripes, and the plain stripes match the corduroy silk used as trimming. Sometimes these Roman stripes are made up with plain gingham matching the darkest stripes.

Bath is now the favorite material for dinners and receptions, and it is very beautiful. The best liked colors are old rose, mastic, beige and gray, also black. Very lustrous black silks are very fashionable, and will be more so, though black silk of any kind is elegant. The taffets with a multitude of very narrow pinked ruffles will be much seen this fall.

At Manitou.

MANITOU SPRINGS, Colo., June 27.—[Special.]—Manitou is to the people what a sugar barrel is to the flies on a bright summer day—decidedly attractive. There is an absence of flies and an influx of people at Manitou that is refreshing. These June days are of the leafy June that poets prize of—cool mornings, warm enough at noon to remind the out door wanderer that it is summer, and evenings full of moonlight and coolness.

The walks, drives and trails about Manitou are so numerous that old timers of several seasons' experience find some new beauties whenever they go out. The country is paradise for the lively young woman or the brawny young man who delights in exploring expeditions. Manitou is best reached via the Union Pacific.

The following frank statement from J. E. Hare of Trenton, Texas, will be of interest to many of our citizens. "My little boy was very bad off for two months with diarrhoea. We used various medicines, also called in two doctors, but nothing done him any good until we used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave immediate relief and soon cured him. I consider it the best medicine made and can conscientiously recommend it to all who need a diarrhoea or colic medicine. For sale by Chas. C. Reed, Druggist."
