THE PRODIGAL SON. It was towards the close of a bright summer's day that the Prodigal son arrived at the paternal mansion. He had come by the quickest route, "The Burlington." The sun was declining in the west—the only thing that ever does "decline" west of Chicago, except Base Ball—and its slanting rays threw a golden tint upon the gray hairs of the aged father, who sat on the front porch reading the last INTERIOR DECORATIVE CO'S advertisement. The gate opened, and his spectacles, described a the walk. He was about accordance with the usual region, when he came up, rim which encircled his "don't you know me?" the old man, after scrutin his spectacles, "I would hide hanging in a tan boy!" Then the fond neck and wept—wept he hadn't been washed since him in all the same, gave of clothes, and then walk- terior Decorative Co's play of Paper Hangings, We don't know how this legend of the Prodigal son came down through the age so accurate, and free from side issues, but its here, intact and unnumbered, ready to adorn a back cover, or point a moral. The moral of this story is, if you would prosper in this world, buy Paper Hangings, and Mouldings of THE INTERIOR DECORATIVE CO. 1134 N STREET. C. A. ZIEGLER, President. CARL EDWICK, Manager.

ARE YOU TIRED? You've read about the man who was "too busy to write an ad." haven't you? A number of people have asked us how we found time to write these advertisements; they didn't see how we did. Well, we do. It's not much time that we get, though, some evenings, as the ads. themselves will testify; but we do our best under the circumstances. It always struck us that a man who couldn't take time to write an ad. for his customers wouldn't take the time to take proper care of their wares. Be that as it may, we have goods that justify us in harping on each day in the year. It doesn't make us tired to tell about 'em, and we trust that it won't make you tired reading about 'em. Shoes of the right sort will always bear recommendation. Our shoes are of that sort. 1015 O STREET. S. B. NISBET.

Peculiar To itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine. Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown. Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 does one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla. Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla Sold by all druggists. $1.00 per bottle. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses One Dollar 1204-1206 O STREET
